MISSILE DROPS ON VILLAGE

Boomeranging Rocket Reported Near Haiphong

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. planes flying in perfect weather hit North Vietnam with 170 missions yesterday, the fourth heaviest attack of the war. In doing so, the U.S. Air Force set a record of its own by hurling 97 mission against the North.

GIANT MISSION

From Saigon came a report that Communist troops attacked the Da Nang airfield with mortars and rockets early Saturday (Vietnam time), touching off fires that could be seen for miles.

The airbase was the takeoff site for some of the American plans which carried out yesterday's massive air mission.

A spokesman said the Communist raid apparently was in retaliation for the punishing air strikes.

One plane was shot down in South Vietnam.

WATCHES FIRE

Lt. C. R. Jones, 31, of Tarboro, N.C., who witnessed the SAM incident, the second in two weeks, said "I'd say it went off right downtown."

U.S military authorities in Saigon reported today the United States has now lost 1,465 planes in North and South Vietnam and that 672 were lost due to accidents or other "non-hostile" action. They reported 343 helicopters shot down by the Communists, 6 of them over North Vietnam.

Pilots from the 7th Fleet carrier Intrepid reported the missile zoomed up toward them, then flipped back and engulfed the village.

On the North-South Vietnam border Communist gunfire shot down an Air Force A1 Skyraider.

It was the 193rd U.S. plane lost in South Vietnam. Including American plane losses over North Vietnam, it was the 799th U.S. plane downed by hostile fire in the war.

Three Dead In Rioting

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Thousands of Negroes rebelled against the white power structure of New Jersey's largest city today in an orgy of bombing and looting that brought National Guardsmen and state police to the aid of overwhelmed local police.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes, describing the riot as "open rebellion — just like wartime," sent 2,000 guardsmen and 300 state troopers into the city of 400,000 just six miles across the Hudson River from New York and said he would send more if necessary. He ordered them to fire back if fired upon.

Two Negroes were shot to death a third died of a fractured skull. At least 340 were injured, including 12 persons who suffered gunshot wounds and 27 policemen and firemen. More than 500 persons were arrested.

The shooting victims were identified by a spokesman for Newark Hospital as Jesse Jones and Tedock Bell. The unidentified man who died of a skull fracture suffered the fatal injury in an automobile accident at the height of the riot, the spokesman said.

The alleged beating of an arrested Negro cab driver by police was reported to be the incident which triggered the rioting. It reached a climax about 2 a.m. (EDT) this morning.

Guardsmen, state police and the 1,400-man city police force began an intensive patrol of the city at dawn, forming mixed patrol groups that fanned out through an area fantastically littered with debris and glass. Many people stayed home from work in the terrorized city, waiting for news that it was safe to venture into the business area.

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

Damage from the fires and looting was expected to run into millions of dollars.

Shortly after dawn today, state troopers and national guardsmen fanned out. Most of the rioters had fled from the debris-littered streets but sporadic looting was still reported.

Hughes said he planned to make sure the violence did not break out again tonight.

"This was not a race riot, it was criminal activity," Hughes said.

He ordered a complete ban on all liquor sales in the city and said he would make a decision before nightfall on whether to order a citywide curfew.

OTHER STORES CLOSED

Sporting goods stores were also closed by edict to cut off the supply of firearms.

One police official said the liquor ban may not have much effect.

"They stole so much booze from looted stores that they will have a stockpile that will last them all weekend," the policeman said.

Similar, though less serious violence hit Hartford, Conn., and a "minor" incident was reported in Erie, Pa.

Marin Observers Criticize Mental Hospital Conditions

A Marin committee reported yesterday that its members observed makeshift arrangements, overcrowding and unrealistic patient loads at three state mental hospitals serving Marin.

The committee, named Marinites Interested in the Mentally Ill, noted that its observations were made last month before the state mental hospital budget cuts became effective.

Committee members toured Mendocino, Sonoma and Napa hospitals and plan to make monthly inspections now that the budget cuts are in effect.

OUTINGS CANCELED

They said that dismissal of "institutional" staff can be as detrimental to patient care as loss of "treatment" staff. At Mendocino, outings to the beach, an effective therapy for patients, will no longer be possible since dismissal of an automobile maintenance man, they reported.

They also charged there is "bootlegging" of staff from one department to another. At Mendocino the loss of janitors has forced shifting some trained technicians from patient care to "pushing brooms."

CUT IN STAFF

At Napa hospital, the paperwork has increased 500 per cent with the advent of new programs such as Medicare and Medi-Cal, yet there was a cut in office staff, the committee noted.

"A psychologist whose secretary was dismissed told the Marinites she now does her own stenographic work at her regular pay scale of $6.75 an hour," the report said.

Closing of some older buildings at Napa earmarked for destruction forced doubling up in other buildings, committee members reported. A psychologist whose caseload increased from 130 to 230 overnight reportedly commented: "I'm no longer a psychologist. I am a caretaker."

Committee members questioned the economic value of discontinuing the intensive care program for geriatrics patients at Napa.

MORE COSTS

Since 1965 this program has been able to bring about release from hospital of 57 per cent of those treated, and present staff ratios don't permit continuing this program, the committee reported.

Continued hospitalization of patients not only cost the state money, but prevents a patient's early return to a self-supporting role, they reported.

Committee members also noted that a registered nurse

Ross Must Cut Town Spending

By FRANK FARRARA

Ross Mayor Frederick S. Allen sadly announced last night there will have to be a sharp cutback in planned town improvements because taxpayers failed to approve a hike in the tax rate last month.

He explained that former Councilman William P. McAndrew had been working up a tentative budget on the assumption that the tax rate increase would be approved.

The measure to increase the maximum general obligation tax rate from $1 to $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation was defeated by 20 votes, 318 to 298.

After announcing the official count, Mayor Allen said, "We'll try again next year."

Allen said that a water main project, a street overlay program, a street lighting improvement program at intersections and a proposal to hire school crossing guards would have to be eliminated.

Allen called for a council meeting at 8 p.m. July 27 to discuss a tentative budget.

Councilman Roy Farrington Jones said that town police officers compiled 176 hours of overtime as a result of the recent Marin Art and Garden Fair, at a cost of $721.

He said the town should ask Marin County supervisors, who are fair commissioners, to reimburse the town for this expense.

Allen said, "I see no reason why anyone putting on a fair in our area shouldn't help pay for it."

Despite the town's financial crisis — which is based on lack of revenues other than property taxes — the councilmen heard a proposal that Ross absorb residential properties now either entirely or partly in San Anselmo and San Rafael.

It came in a report from Town Engineer Philip B. Lygren on proposed boundary adjustments between the town and the cities of San Anselmo and San Rafael.

The proposed adjustments

Lowered Tax Rate Is Goal

A proposal to use bonds or county retirement funds to relieve the taxpayers' burden of juvenile hall construction was unveiled yesterday by County Administrator Alan Bruce and Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

The result would be a saving of about 11 cents on the tax rate this year and next, Mitchell said.

Under the plan, stemming from concern of the board of supervisors over a tax rate increase in fiscal 1968, the county proposes to place on the November ballot a $560,000 general obligation bond issue to pay for construction of a girls' and boys' wing and recreation area at Juvenile Hall in Lucas Valley.

Payment could be amortized over a 20-year period, Mitchell said. What effect payoff would have on the tax rate over that time is unknown.

If the bond issue fails, according to an agreement reached

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Pope Paul VI will visit Turkey soon, and informed source said today.

Israel Claims Shelling, Cairo Reports Assault

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel charged Egyptian artillery and mortars shelled her positions along the Suez Canal cease-fire line today for the second day in a row.

Later Cairo said it had repulsed an Israel attempt to launch assault boats in the 200-foot-wide waterway. Each also accused the other of the new cease-fire violations.

A military spokesman said one Israeli soldier was injured in the barrages, all in the Ismailia area.

Israel also charged Egyptian artillerymen fired across the canal yesterday.

Norwegian Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N. Truce Supervision Organization (UNTSO), completed talks in Cairo with Egyptian officials and returned to Jerusalem for further discussions today with the Israelis.

Following Bull's Cairo talks, the newspaper Al Akhbar said an advance team of six Swedish officers attached to UNTSO would take up positions along the cease-fire line tomorrow.

The semi-official newspaper said a total of 30 U.N. observers will be posted along the line.

The U.N. Security Council authorized the observers Sunday night following a serious outbreak of fighting last Saturday. Both sides agreed to accept the observers.

Surveyor 4 Launching Is 'Flawless'

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Rocketing on a near-perfect course through space, America's Surveyor 4 winged moonward today to hunt for iron on rugged lunar terrain with a magnet, shovel and revolving camera eye in a study of how the moon's craters are formed.

"Everything looks real good," project officials reported after tracking the mooncraft for several hours. "The spacecraft is great—just great."

Flight controllers said Surveyor 4 was headed toward a spot on the moon only 120 miles southwest of its target zone—"well within the capability of a mid-course motor" aboard the craft to adjust it on a perfect path later in the mission.

Surveyor 4 sensors successfully locked onto the sun. The sun and star Canopus, to be acquired later in the flight, are to orient the craft during its 63-hour, 224,730-mile voyage to the moon.

Johnson Stresses That Brass Agrees On Troops Buildup

Westmoreland To Get His Men, Unusual Press Parley Reveals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has acted quickly and with dramatic flair to try to squash any notion his administration is divided on the need for more troops in Vietnam.

But Gen. William C. Westmoreland reportedly was irked by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statements that more effective use must be made of troops already in Vietnam.

As yet there is no word on how many more men will be dispatched to the Southwest Asian fighting but Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said at a White House news conference yesterday: "I am being provided the forces, as I have recommended."

In a bid to emphasize administration solidarity, Johnson summoned reporters to his private living quarters on the second floor of the White House for the first news conference he has held there.

He had with him Westmoreland, McNamara and Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to back up the presidential assertion that "we have reached a meeting of the minds."

U.S. forces now number about 466,000 in Vietnam. Various reports on military desires ranged to 200,000 more troops but Pentagon speculation has centered in the area of 70,000.

Westmoreland said "for every man that is deployed we will get a double return in combat power. Or, to put my thought in other words, we have already written off the logistic support.

Sources familiar with Westmoreland's thinking said the four-star general regarded McNamara's statements on effective troop use and his criticism earlier this week of the ratio of support to combat troops as a reflection on Westmoreland's leadership.

There was no outward sign of discord at the news conference.

Judging from the words of the participants, the agreement apparently dealt more with principles than specifics.

There has been growing speculation Westmoreland might be seeking far more additional U.S. troops than Washington felt able or willing to supply.

There was general reluctance on Capitol Hill to comment until the specific number of added U.S. troops is disclosed.

But Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and longtime foe of Johnson's Vietnam policy, said: "I'm very disappointed and very sad that they are going to increase the level of violence in Vietnam. It's going to lead to an ever widening war."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said, "We need a new policy more than new troops." He said he opposed just letting U.S. troops be "chewed up" in ground fighting and declared: "If we blockaded the coast and made more use of our air power, we could get the war over with."

U.C. Leaders Eye Reagan's Finance Cuts

BERKELEY (AP) The University of California's regents and administrators considered Gov. Ronald Reagan's approval of a reduced educational spending program yesterday and agreed they were in trouble.

"We are in an immediate fiscal pinch," said regent Frederick Dutton of Sausalito.

Governor Reagan approved the Legislature's plan for university spending of $251.5 million for 1967-68. That's $25.1 million less than regents requested.

As the regents' finance committee met, Berkeley chancellor Roger W. Heyns told a reporter that a $2.8 million reduction in organized research funds will affect his campus primarily and that unless funds are restored, one in seven persons doing research will be laid off.

Vice President Charles J. Hitch, in outlining the reductions, said that 165 faculty positions were eliminated.

Regent Dutton said: "We would be suckers if we believed, as some people would like us to, that this is a one time happening."

Rail Union Walkout Threat Brings Hint Of Stiff Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six rail unions threaten to strike after midnight tomorrow despite a congressional warning this may bring settlement of the long shop craft dispute on terms they oppose.

Leaders of the six unions planned to meet today to decide whether to heed a request by Senate and House conferees to defer any strike plans and give the deadlocked conference another chance to agree on a settlement. The lawmakers meet again Monday afternoon.

The conferees, unable to resolve differences between Senate and House bills to head off a rail strike, requested the unions and management late yesterday to refrain from strikes or lockouts "in the national interest."

Earlier yesterday, the unions said because there had been "no visible evidence" of progress they were withdrawing as of midnight tomorrow their June 15 no-strike pledge.

Sources close to the situation said a formal strike, or even a series of wildcat walkouts, might lead to conference approval of the Senate bill providing for a compulsory settlement of the dispute.

A suit for divorce was filed in Marin Superior Court by Alice R. Mitchell against her husband Kirby L. Mitchell, and not filed by the husband against the wife as reported in the Independent-Journal Tuesday.

HONG KONG (AP) — Hong Kong police killed two Chinese today as they battled suspected Communist terrorists in a raid on a union headquarters stocked with explosives and incendiaries.

Arsonists also harassed authorities early today, setting two simultaneous fires in a Hong Kong telephone exchange.

Police raiding the union hall opened fire when Chinese in the building hurled acid, fire bombs and broken bottles at them. Two other suspects were seriously wounded and a score received lesser injuries.

Border Deaths

SEOUL (AP) — Two South Korean soldiers were killed and a third was wounded today in a brief gunfight with several Communist intruders south of the demilitarized zone, the army reported.

The North Kroeans attacked a guard post on the central front about 60 miles northeast of Seoul, the army said. The attackers fled in the dark after a 10-minute exchange of shooting.

Court Test Forecast As Senate Votes To Stall Reapportionment

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate has voted to delay reapportionment of California's 38 congressional districts until 1971 but legislators in favor of action this year forecast a court battle.

On a 24-10 vote yesterday, the upper house supported the resolution of Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, who wants the delay until after the 1970 federal census.

Five Democrats and the Senate's 19 Republicans supported the resolution, which goes next to the Assembly. Opposition came from the Senate's remaining Democrats.

"I have reliable information this matter is going to be taken to court the day after adjournment," said Sen. Mervyn M. Dymally, D-Los Angeles.

"I hope you will not consider this necessarily a final action on reapportionment," said Sen. James R. Mills of San Diego, another Democratic opponent of Burns' bill.

The reapportionment, if undertaken this year, would not change California's allotment of 38 congressmen, but would alter the dimensions of the districts.

Burns argued that to reapportion this year, based on the 1960 census, would be "malapportionment."

The State Supreme Court said last year that it would wait to see what the 1967 legislature does before issuing any ruling to carry out the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" decision.

Hostages All Safe; Congo Rebels Flee

KINSHASA, The Congo (UPI) —Red Cross planes today were ferrying out of Kisangani the last of a group of Europeans and Americans who had been held hostage by a band of rebel mercenaries.

The Congo Army pursued the fleeing mercenaries who escaped yesterday from the Eastern Congo town in a carvan of 27 trucks heading toward Punia in the rugged African bush country.

All of the hostages apparently were safe, unharmed and accounted for. Radio Kinshasa claimed in broadcasts the past several days that the mercenaries forced the hostages to take up arms and had killed some who refused.

The Red Cross said the 50 whites broughtout Thursday night were well and unharmed but "extremely tired."

Postal Stamp Hikes Advance

WASHINGTON (AP) — It would cost you six cents to mail a letter—or a dime if you send it air mail—under a postal rate increase approved by a House subcommittee.

That's a penny more than the present first class letter rate and two cents more than the air mail levy.

Post cards would be hit even harder, jumping from their present four cent and six cent rates for surface and air mail respectively to the same six cents and ten cents approved for sealed letters.

The proposal still has a long way to go through congressional channels before becoming law, however.

Johnson Stresses That Brass Agrees On Troops Buildup

Westmoreland To Get His Men, Unusual Press Parley Reveals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has acted quickly and with dramatic flair to try to squash any notion his administration is divided on the need for more troops in Vietnam.

But Gen. William C. Westmoreland reportedly was irked by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statements that more effective use must be made of troops already in Vietnam.

As yet there is no word on how many more men will be dispatched to the Southwest Asian fighting but Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said at a White House news conference yesterday: "I am being provided the forces, as I have recommended."

In a bid to emphasize administration solidarity, Johnson summoned reporters to his private living quarters on the second floor of the White House for the first news conference he has held there.

He had with him Westmoreland, McNamara and Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to back up the presidential assertion that "we have reached a meeting of the minds."

U.S. forces now number about 466,000 in Vietnam. Various reports on military desires ranged to 200,000 more troops but Pentagon speculation has centered in the area of 70,000.

Westmoreland said "for every man that is deployed we will get a double return in combat power. Or, to put my thought in other words, we have already written off the logistic support.

Sources familiar with Westmoreland's thinking said the four-star general regarded McNamara's statements on effective troop use and his criticism earlier this week of the ratio of support to combat troops as a reflection on Westmoreland's leadership.

There was no outward sign of discord at the news conference.

Judging from the words of the participants, the agreement apparently dealt more with principles than specifics.

There has been growing speculation Westmoreland might be seeking far more additional U.S. troops than Washington felt able or willing to supply.

There was general reluctance on Capitol Hill to comment until the specific number of added U.S. troops is disclosed.

But Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and longtime foe of Johnson's Vietnam policy, said: "I'm very disappointed and very sad that they are going to increase the level of violence in Vietnam. It's going to lead to an ever widening war."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said, "We need a new policy more than new troops." He said he opposed just letting U.S. troops be "chewed up" in ground fighting and declared: "If we blockaded the coast and made more use of our air power, we could get the war over with."

NEW CHAIRMAN — Justice Richard M. Sims Jr. of Tiburon is the new chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Marin Community Mental Health Plan. The committee will draft a program for mental health services in the county, encompassing mental illness, retardation and alcoholism.

Pet License Deadline Is Aug. 31

Marin dog owners were reminded yesterday that they have until Aug. 31 to renew their pet's annual license.

Renewal, good to next July 1, costs $4.

Joseph Coffrini, deputy county tax collector-treasurer, said new licenses may be obtained in city halls throughout the county, as well as in his office in the Civic Center.

Proof of recent rabies vaccination must be presented for license renewal, Coffrini said, serving notice that vaccinations are being conducted throughout the county until Aug. 15 by the Marin County Health Department and the Marin Veterinary Medical Association.

The vaccination schedule is: Mill Valley corporation yard, Tuesday; San Anselmo corporation yard, Thursday; Stinson Beach Community Center, July 25; Corte Madera Safety Building, July 27; Ross School, Aug. 1; Mill Valley corporation yard, Aug. 3; Point Reyes Station Firehouse, Aug. 8; Marion Street School, Novato, Aug. 10, and the county health department office in San Rafael, Aug. 15.

Times for vaccination are 6 to 8 p.m. Fee is $2. Vaccination also may be performed by a private veterinarian, Coffrini said.

Bill Doyle of the Kentfield Fire Department hoses down the rubble after a fire early today destroyed the garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Hankin, 41 Hanken Drive, Kentfield, causing $6,000 damage to the structure and destroying a $5,000 Mercedes. An unidentified mailman reported the blaze at 6 a.m. Firemen arrived in time to rescue two dogs trapped in a room at the back of the building.

would extend along the northern ridge of Ross Valley from Makin Grade on the east to Crest Road on the west.

Parcels in the area are either divided by boundaries, with landowners paying taxes to two entities, or have their main access from Ross although they lie entirely in the other cities.

Lygren recommended that 17 parcels, 12 in San Anselmo and five divided between San Anselmo, become part of Ross.

He also recommended that 18 parcels divided by the Ross-San Rafael boundary, become a part of Ross. This boundary would follow the recent boundary along the ridge approved by the San Rafael Sanitation District and the Ross Valley Sanitary District.

Councilmen indicated they didn't want to go into the San Anselmo area as far as proposed by Lygren, but found no fault with the proposed boundary along San Rafael.

Town Atty. Robert W. Eliott noted if the area to be annexed included more than 12 registered voters, an election would be required.

Councilmen noted the problem of city fire crews getting to some of the homes in the ridge area, and Fire Chief cited the Makin Grade area. "We get calls and they're actually in San Rafael," he said.

Novatan Found Dead In Auto

John Herman Wachsman, 41, of 30 Trish Drive, Novato, was found dead in the back seat of his car in his garage at 11:59 a.m. yesterday, with a garden hose going from the exhaust to the right front window, according to Novato police.

Wachsman was discovered by Lois Andre Eleson, 47, of the same address, who told police she had broken their engagement and had not seen him since July 6 when she went to visit friends in San Mateo.

No note was found in the house, according to police, who reported that the engine of the car was not running but was still warm when they arrived.

The body was taken to Redwood Chapel funeral home in Novato.

Band Is Turned Off In Marijuana Charge

The rock and roll band, "Otis Blues" was turned off in Tiburon last night with the arrest of six adults and one teenage girl for possession of marijuana.

Two Tiburon sheriff deputies and two sheriff's inspectors went to apartment M-66 at Hilarita Housing at 11 p.m. to serve warrants on Otis Ward, 27, wanted in Washington for parole violation and James Cook, 31, wanted in San Francisco for violation of probation, Deputy John O. Goff reported.

When Ward came to the door, Goff said he observed the lid of a shoebox on a table loaded with what appeared to be mairjuana. After entering, Goff said, the deputies found a bamboo pipe, still warm, with what appeared to be marijuana.

Goff said he started checking records of both Ward and Cook Monday after getting complaints from neighbors on noise from Ward's rock and roll band.

Booked for possession of marijuana and contributing to the delinquency of a minor at county jail last night were Ward and Cook, Paul William Landin, 24, Donald Carlos Garver, 18, Wesley M. Murrell, 27, all of whom gave the apartment as their home address, and Eileen Susan Nelson, 19, of 19 Knoll Road, Apt. D, Mill Valley.

Marijuana Charge Off

A felony charge of possession of marijuana against George Clarke Davis III, 27, of 53 Redwood Drive, Kentfield, was dismissed by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., Marin Municipal Court today for lack of evidence.

Davis, however, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of possessing a narcotics device—a pipe— and was put over to Aug. 11 for sentencing.

He was arrested on the original felony charge when sheriff's officers went to his home to investigate a report of child neglect. No neglect was found, they said.

Teener Held, Tells Police Of Dope Shot

Monty Leon Miller, 18, of 1408 Second Street in San Rafel was booked at the county jail this morning on a charge of being under the influence of narcotics.

Miller was found by police "acting strangely" at the corner of Fourth and D St. at 4:45 a.m. Miller later said that he had taken "speed" (heroin), according to San Rafael officers, who said they found fresh puncture marks on both inner arms.

Airman Over Hill For Sixth Time

Airman Robert Murphy, 21, assigned to the 1809th Support Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base, who has been absent without leave five times in the past, today was reported as AWOL again.

Airman Murphy got out of jail at Hamilton on June 8. The next day he went to San Francisco purchased a motorcycle and disappeared, base officials reported.

In his five previous jaunts without permission, he has both voluntarily returned and been picked up as far away as Omaha, Nev., the base reported.

was pressed into service pushing a food cart, "when she is needed by patients."

At Sonoma State Hospital, committee members said they observed a "fairly normal situation."

They pointed out however, that one economy measure, closing the laundry one day a week, created a problem in providing the optimum number of bed and diaper changes for comfort of the patients, adults and children.

The committee contended that "reduction of the percentage of food waste allowable in state hospitals this year from 8 per cent to 3 per cent increases the possibility that some children do not get enough to eat, particularly if they are not adequately supervised during mealtime. A more adept companion may snatch the food from their plate."

Rev. John Thornton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito, is chairman of the 28-member committee. The group was created by the Marin Association for Mental Health.

Venetia Harbor Park Site Idea Favored

Pierre W. Joske, county director of parks and recreation, proposed to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District directors last night that a piece of land near the district pumping station at Venetia Harbor be set aside for a county park.

Directors said they favored the idea, and asked Joske to return with detailed plans.

West Marin Density Issue Is Revived

County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen asserted today that his colleagues never reached a compromise on the adopted West Marin master plan, and asked hearings be reopened.

Aafter a five-hour hearing, the supervisors Monday night agreed to set density, a controversial issue in the plan, at an average of .88 to 1.15 units per acre, with the maximum attainable only under a bonus system for good design.

Conservationists and property owners had urged lower and higher density, respectively.

Kettenhofen, arguing that the figures decided upon bowed to the wishes of the conservationists, asked approval of density of 1.15 units per acre, plus bonuses. He said this would be equitable when West Marin figures were compared with those in Mill Valley, which has set a density of 1.6 in its master plan, and in San Rafael, 1.4 units per acre.

If the hearings are not reopened, Kettenhofen said, "I believe the damage and scars will remain for years to come and the plan will be continually challenged."

New hearing were asked in a letter to the supervisors, who will consider the request Tuesday.

Sinaloa Bids Leave Question On Landscaping

Martinelli Construction Co. of San Francisco was the apparent low bidder yesterday on construction of the Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato with an offer of $1,157,700.

However, the board of the Novato Unified High School District could change the picture Monday by throwing out an alternate on landscaping. This would make E. C. Anderson of San Francisco with an offer of $1,171,695, the low bidder, Supt. James G. Bunker reported today.

Martinelli submitted a supplementary bid of $56,000 on landscaping the embankment behind buildings while Anderson's bid for the same work was $10,000. Specification on the job "obviously must have been misunderstood," Bunker said.

Other bidders were Pacific Coast Builders of San Francisco, $1,162,300; Royce Hall Co. of Napa, $1,183,912; Wright and Oretsky of Santa Rosa, $1,197,000; Arnz Brothers of San Rafael, $1,183,158 and James E. Roberts of Oakland, $1,325,300.

in principle with the county employees retirement board yesterday, that agency would draw the sum from its funds, pay for the work, then lease the buildings to the county at 6 per cent interest. The county would take title to the buildings when the obligation is paid off.

At the meeting, it was agreed bonds probably would present the best solution because of a projected interest rate of 4 per cent on payoff. Also, it was left unclear whether the retirement association would agree to using its funds if the bond issue lost badly at the polls.

Such expenditure of its funds would be a first for the retirement board, which has current assets of $7.8 million.

The two-year saving on the tax rate, now estimated at $2.337 per $100 assessed valuation, would apply because the board of supervisors agreed during budget hearings to spread the $560,000 for construction over this year and next

Scheduled to be built are a 20-bed girls' wing, estimated to cost $330,000, and a 20-bed boys' wing, estimated at $180,000, with a recreation room serving both buildings. Architect's plans are scheduled to be ready in the spring.

At the conclusion of budget hearings last month, the supervisors expressed concern over the rising tax rate, up four cents over last year, and inquired about the possibility of using retirement funds to purchase the county courthouse in San Rafael, which the county had offered to public bid but failed to sell.

As a result, the $900,000 minimum which the county had hoped to get from public sale had to be put back in the budget to be supported by taxpayer money. Sale of the courthouse was intended to help pay off construction of the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center.

Research by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, however, uncovered a 1949 state law which says that, in such cases, retirement funds of government employees should be intended only for construction of new facilities, rather than purchase of existing ones.

He said county retirement funds were used in Alameda County to build a new courthouse.

Novato Bat Rabid

The Marin County Health Department reported that a bat, found lying on the ground at Hill Junior High School in Novato July 11 by Harold Walton, 13, of Center Road, has proved to be rabid. It is the second rabid bat found in two weeks, the first one being found in Woodacre.

Technology Program Assessed

WASHINGTON (SS) — Science and technology, the twin bases of modern society, could also prove to be its curse if ways are not found to assess the impact of developments in advance, according to Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, D-Conn.

Pesticides that kill ducks as well as mosquitoes, detergents that dirty streams as well as clean dishes, and containers that litter the countryside forever because they do not deteriorate are only the first symptoms of what could become a national disaster, Rep. Daddario

"We must find ways of forecasting and avoiding these things," he says, "because — without perceptive technology management — they are going to get much worse."

The chairman of the subcommittee on science, research and development, has made public a 16-page statement urging establishment of a technology assessment program for the federal government.

Such a program, he says, might eliminate disasters that spring from unforeseen effects of technology such as the recent Apollo spacecraft fire or electrical blackouts in the East.

At first, Representative Daddario suggests, this program would concentrate on advising Congress on the benefits and risks of impending scientific and technological developments.

His subcommittee, he reported, plans to schedule public hearings on the problems of technology assessment. Later, the National Academies of Science and Engineering will be asked to form a group to study the problem in detail and report to the subcommittee.

One basis for the subcommittee's efforts, Daddario says, will be a report on science, technology and public policy during the 89th Congress prepared by the science policy research division of the Library of Congress's Legislative Reference Service, and released recently.

The report is the first of its kind by any agency of the federal government.

In an accompanying policy statement, Daddario notes: "Virtually . . . every component of government policy and decision-making . . . is touched by science."

The Congressman introduced in March a bill for the establishment of a technology assessment board. The bill was intended to be mainly a focus for discussion, but the subcommittee hearings will be aimed at establishment of some sort of working organization, Rep. Daddario says.

Such expenditure of its funds would be a first for the retirement board, which has current assets of $7.8 million.

The two-year saving on the tax rate, now estimated at $2.337 per $100 assessed valuation, would apply because the board of supervisors agreed during budget hearings to spread the $560,000 for construction over this year and next

Scheduled to be built are a 20-bed girls' wing, estimated to cost $330,000, and a 20-bed boys' wing, estimated at $180,000, with a recreation room serving both buildings. Architect's plans are scheduled to be ready in the spring.

At the conclusion of budget hearings last month, the supervisors expressed concern over the rising tax rate, up four cents over last year, and inquired about the possibility of using retirement funds to purchase the county courthouse in San Rafael, which the county had offered to public bid but failed to sell.

As a result, the $900,000 minimum which the county had hoped to get from public sale had to be put back in the budget to be supported by taxpayer money. Sale of the courthouse was intended to help pay off construction of the Hall of Justice at the Civic Center.

Research by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, however, uncovered a 1949 state law which says that, in such cases, retirement funds of government employees should be intended only for construction of new facilities, rather than purchase of existing ones.

He said county retirement funds were used in Alameda County to build a new courthouse.

Park Vandalism Ires Gallinas Directors

The Gallinas Village Community District board last night noted a recent increase in vandalism at Pueblo Park, and considered asking the county counsel's office to draft a law to stop it.

Directors were told that youths have been knocking off water sprinkler heads in the park with baseball bats.

Novato Bat Rabid

The Marin County Health Department reported that a bat, found lying on the ground at Hill Junior High School in Novato July 11 by Harold Walton, 13, of Center Road, has proved to be rabid. It is the second rabid bat found in two weeks, the first one being found in Woodacre.

OBITUARIES

Blanche Smith Funeral Held

Funeral services for Blanche M. Smith, mother of Mrs. Kathryn Fossey of Kentfield, were held today at Truman's Chapel, Telegraph Ave. at 30th St. in Oakland.

Mrs. Smith, 81, of 6150 Broadway Terrace, Oakland, died at home after a brief illness. She was a native of Illinois.

She was a member of the Nova Dies Chapter No. 544 of the Order of the Eastern Star.

She is also survived by her husband, T. Harold Smith, and two sisters, Mrs. Neil Marechal of Windsor, Sonoma County, and Mrs. Hazel Gorton of Fresno.

Interment is at Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland.

Technology Program Assessed

WASHINGTON (SS) — Science and technology, the twin bases of modern society, could also prove to be its curse if ways are not found to assess the impact of developments in advance, according to Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario, D-Conn.

Pesticides that kill ducks as well as mosquitoes, detergents that dirty streams as well as clean dishes, and containers that litter the countryside forever because they do not deteriorate are only the first symptoms of what could become a national disaster, Rep. Daddario

"We must find ways of forecasting and avoiding these things," he says, "because — without perceptive technology management — they are going to get much worse."

The chairman of the subcommittee on science, research and development, has made public a 16-page statement urging establishment of a technology assessment program for the federal government.

Such a program, he says, might eliminate disasters that spring from unforeseen effects of technology such as the recent Apollo spacecraft fire or electrical blackouts in the East.

At first, Representative Daddario suggests, this program would concentrate on advising Congress on the benefits and risks of impending scientific and technological developments.

His subcommittee, he reported, plans to schedule public hearings on the problems of technology assessment. Later, the National Academies of Science and Engineering will be asked to form a group to study the problem in detail and report to the subcommittee.

One basis for the subcommittee's efforts, Daddario says, will be a report on science, technology and public policy during the 89th Congress prepared by the science policy research division of the Library of Congress's Legislative Reference Service, and released recently.

The report is the first of its kind by any agency of the federal government.

In an accompanying policy statement, Daddario notes: "Virtually . . . every component of government policy and decision-making . . . is touched by science."

The Congressman introduced in March a bill for the establishment of a technology assessment board. The bill was intended to be mainly a focus for discussion, but the subcommittee hearings will be aimed at establishment of some sort of working organization, Rep. Daddario says.

LINE ON A SHARK

Drakes Beach Fish Story Gets Tangled

RICHARD LYTTLE

A Great White Shark, sometimes called the Killer Shark, taken in 15-feet of water off the swimming area of Drakes Beach Wednesday after getting tangled in a fisherman's line was in a verbal tangle today.

The shark, according to the most reliable accounts, was killed Wednesday morning, landed at the Frank Alioto Fish Co. dock at Point Reyes near the Coast Guard Rescue Station where it was measured, weighed and eventually carved up.

THE MEASURE

"It was 14 feet long and weighed 460 pounds," reported Mrs. Lloyd Williams, who runs the dock with her husband.

"It was 10 feet long and weighed 625 pounds," reported West Marin veterinarian Bruce B. Daniels. Daniels was at the Point Wednesday, making a call at the George Nunes Ranch.

He returned to Inverness with the tail, dorsal fin and jaws of the shark and a big fish story for William Thomson, fishing columnist for the Point Reyes Light.

Daniels said he and Nunes found the shark caught between two rocks while they were skin diving. He told Thomson they got a rope, tied to the big fish's tail, secured the other end of the rope to a tree and waited until the tide went out. They had a shark, high and dry.

GOOD STORY

It made a good story, but Daniels said it was manufactured only for the benefit of Thomson as part of a continuing, informal competition on fish stories.

He said the shark actually was killed by three fishermen who landed it after shooting it several times with a .306 rifle.

"Ole of the Bounty" was fishing off Drakes Beach when the shark got tangled in his line. Mrs. Williams said. She did not know the man's last name, but said he owns the commercial fishing ship Bounty. "We all call him Ole of the Bounty," she said.

CALLS FOR HELP

Mrs. Williams was reluctant to guess what Ole of the Bounty might have been fishing for.

Anyway, he called for help and Jim French of Sacramento, owner of the Lucy M, Hans Kleinke of Oakland, owner of the Cristal D, and J. Leibendgut of Oakland, owner of the Thomasini, went to assist Ole of the Bounty.

The fishermen shot the shark and brought it in.

Killer sharks enter Marin coastal waters during the summer. Several have been taken in past years by fishermen in Tomales Bay.

Lt. Governors Given Warning On Tax Boosts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The chief economist of the Bank of America, one of the world's biggest banks, told the nation's lieutenant governors today that the public was "becoming increasingly sensitive to enlarged government non-defense spending programs which require higher taxes."

"The sooner we can cut taxes rather than raise them, the sooner we can expect more vigorous expansion in our economy," said Walter E. Hoadley in remarks prepared for delivery before the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors.

"A wide variety of government entities seems to be solving their problems in a vacuum and the cumulative results are going to give a distinct shock to the economy," the bank's senior vice president said.

Conservation Board Meeting Postponed

Lack of a quorum yesterday prevented the Marin County Conservation District Board from conducting official business, Matt H. Helmer, board secretary reported today.

The board will meet again at 10 a.m. Aug. 10 in the Grandi Co. Building, Point Reyes Station.

Clear Lake Loses On Eel Diversion

by wat takeshita

Surplus water from the Upper Eel River will be routed through Glenn and Tehama counties, instead of through Clear Lake, to supply Central and Southern California.

This disclosure was made today by John R. Teerink, deputy director of the State Department of Water Resources, in a talk at Sabella's Restaurant, Alto. He spoke at a joint meeting of the Eel River Assn. and the statewide California Water Resources Assn.

The state's decision to route southbound water through Glenn and Tehama counties was a disappointment to Lake County residents, who have long contended that Eel River water should flow through Clear Lake to provide flushing flows to help get rid of excessive algae and to improve the quality of lake water.

LENGTHY STUDY

Teerink said the route decision followed three years of study. Under the decision, surplus water from the Middle Fork of the Eel River would be conserved in Spencer reservoir, then diverted through a 20-mile tunnel to Thomas Creek, a tributary of the Sacramento River. There, the water would be stored in Paskenta-Newville Reservoir for release to the Sacramento River to augment the Delta supply.

Teerink said present indications are that water from the Upper Eel River development would be needed sometime between 1986 and 1990 to maintain the annual project yield of 4.2 million acre feet.

BEST DAMSITE

Three damsites on the Eel's middle fork have been eliminated from consideration, he said, but the Dos Rios damsite is rated excellent. Full use of the plan would require flooding of Round Valley, although a small scale development at the Dos Rios damsite could avoid this.

However, teerink noted, the problem is that a small-scale dam would offer minimal flood control while the full development would offer full protection against worst flood conditions, although the reservoir would inundate Round Valley.

OTHER TALKS

A joint panel consisting of representatives from 11 northern California counties discussed the goals and objectives of each group.

Following the luncheon, the group was invited to tour the Corps of Engineers model of the San Francisco Bay in Sausalito.

Tachometer Taken

Theft of a $44 tachometer June 6 from a car parked in his garage was reported yesterday to Mill Valley police by William A. Johnson, owner of Mill Valley Motors, 16 Madrone Street.

LENGTHY STUDY

Teerink said the route decision followed three years of study. Under the decision, surplus water from the Middle Fork of the Eel River would be conserved in Spencer reservoir, then diverted through a 20-mile tunnel to Thomas Creek, a tributary of the Sacramento River. There, the water would be stored in Paskenta-Newville Reservoir for release to the Sacramento River to augment the Delta supply.

Teerink said present indications are that water from the Upper Eel River development would be needed sometime between 1986 and 1990 to maintain the annual project yield of 4.2 million acre feet.

BEST DAMSITE

Three damsites on the Eel's middle fork have been eliminated from consideration, he said, but the Dos Rios damsite is rated excellent. Full use of the plan would require flooding of Round Valley, although a small scale development at the Dos Rios damsite could avoid this.

However, teerink noted, the problem is that a small-scale dam would offer minimal flood control while the full development would offer full protection against worst flood conditions, although the reservoir would inundate Round Valley.

OTHER TALKS

A joint panel consisting of representatives from 11 northern California counties discussed the goals and objectives of each group.

Following the luncheon, the group was invited to tour the Corps of Engineers model of the San Francisco Bay in Sausalito.

Tachometer Taken

LINE ON A SHARK

A Great White Shark, sometimes called the Killer Shark, taken in 15-feet of water off the swimming area of Drakes Beach Wednesday after getting tangled in a fisherman's line was in a verbal tangle today.

The shark, according to the most reliable accounts, was killed Wednesday morning, landed at the Frank Alioto Fish Co. dock at Point Reyes near the Coast Guard Rescue Station where it was measured, weighed and eventually carved up.

THE MEASURE

"It was 14 feet long and weighed 460 pounds," reported Mrs. Lloyd Williams, who runs the dock with her husband.

"It was 10 feet long and weighed 625 pounds," reported West Marin veterinarian Bruce B. Daniels. Daniels was at the Point Wednesday, making a call at the George Nunes Ranch.

He returned to Inverness with the tail, dorsal fin and jaws of the shark and a big fish story for William Thomson, fishing columnist for the Point Reyes Light.

Daniels said he and Nunes found the shark caught between two rocks while they were skin diving. He told Thomson they got a rope, tied to the big fish's tail, secured the other end of the rope to a tree and waited until the tide went out. They had a shark, high and dry.

GOOD STORY

It made a good story, but Daniels said it was manufactured only for the benefit of Thomson as part of a continuing, informal competition on fish stories.

He said the shark actually was killed by three fishermen who landed it after shooting it several times with a .306 rifle.

"Ole of the Bounty" was fishing off Drakes Beach when the shark got tangled in his line, Mrs. Williams said. She did not know the man's last name, but said he owns the commercial fishing ship Bounty. "We all call him Ole of the Bounty," she said.

CALLS FOR HELP

Mrs. Williams was reluctant to guess what Ole of the Bounty might have been fishing for.

Anyway, he called for help and Jim French of Sacramento, owner of the Lucy M, Hans Kleinke of Oakland, owner of the Cristal D, and J. Leibendgut of Oakland, owner of the Thomasini, went to assist Ole of the Bounty.

The fishermen shot the shark and brought it in.

Killer sharks enter Marin coastal waters during the summer. Several have been taken in past years by fishermen in Tomales Bay.

Lt. Governors Given Warning On Tax Boosts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The chief economist of the Bank of America, one of the world's biggest banks, told the nation's lieutenant governors today that the public was "becoming increasingly sensitive to enlarged government non-defense spending programs which require higher taxes."

"The sooner we can cut taxes rather than raise them, the sooner we can expect more vigorous expansion in our economy," said Walter E. Hoadley in remarks prepared for delivery before the National Conference of Lieutenant Governors.

"A wide variety of government entities seems to be solving their problems in a vacuum and the cumulative results are going to give a distinct shock to the economy," the bank's senior vice president said.

Conservation Board Meeting Postponed

Lack of a quorum yesterday prevented the Marin County Conservation District Board from conducting official business, Matt H. Helmer, board secretary reported today.

The board will meet again at 10 a.m. Aug. 10 in the Grandi Co. Building, Point Reyes Station.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Trichinosis is on the wane. Autopsy studies 30 years ago demonstrated that almost 25 per cent of our population was infected. In a recent survey by the Public Health Service it was found that only 1 per cent of 680 persons had positive findings.

A new rapid blood test was used to establish diagnosis. The studies were conducted in a Pennsylvania county in which trichinosis had been prevalent during the past three decades.

Pork raisers deserve some of the credit for this decrease. No longer do they feed uncooked garbage to their pigs. In addition packers use greater care in preparation. Thiabendazole, a new worm medicine, is under investigation and further improvement can be anticipated if it proves to be helpful.

A small outbreak of trichinosis occurred recently in Boston reemphasizing the hazard of improperly prepared pork. The cook assisted by his wife and five others prepared a Ukrainian dish (Golampkie) for a church banquet. Spiced pork sausage with rice was stuffed in cabbage leaves and steamed for several hours at 300 degrees Fahrenheit. Prior to cooking, five persons tasted the raw meat several times to determine whether it was seasoned properly. One was not bothered despite frequent sampling.

TEN DAYS LATER the cook and his wife developed typical trichinosis and had to be hospitalized. The wife had diarrhea with generalized aching and tender glands in the neck. The symptoms subsided but 10 days later fever, swelling of the eyelids, muscle pains and tenderness ensued. Tests were positive for trichinosis and she was given thiabendazole. Her husband also became ill. The two helpers who sampled the uncooked dish developed a mild illness.

More than 100 persons ate the cooked pork, but none became ill.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

FEAR OF BEING ALONE

J. J. writes: Is there something wrong with the mind of a person who can't be alone? Someone has to be around all the time to talk to and if no one is in the house, she talks on the phone for hours.

REPLY

This woman needs the expert care of a psychiatrist, especially if there is no one on the other end of the phone. She may be depressed or plagued with hallucinations or a phobia. These individuals might harm themselves.

LEMON JUICE

J. A. writes: Would taking the undiluted juice of two lemons daily be injurious to the stomach or the teeth?

REPLY

It may have an adverse effect upon the teeth and occasionally causes indigestion. Although citric acid is not strong enough to cause ulcers, occasionally it is responsible for allergic reactions elsewhere such as itching of the rectum.

INDIGESTION SYMPTOM

M. A. writes: What causes vomiting of bitter, yellow fluid every now and then?

REPLY

This symptom belongs in the over-all category of indigestion. X-rays are advised if the condition has existed for some time. Proper treatment depends upon the cause.

WHITEHEADS

F. B. writes: What can be done for whiteheads?

REPLY

These white, millet sized lesions develop on the face especially around the eyes. They can be punctured with the scalpel and the contents squeezed out gently.

CORTISONE FOR OLDSTER

Mrs. H. W. writes: Can a person 71 years old take cortisone without harm?

REPLY

Many individuals in this age group have received this medication without dire consequences. On the other hand, it is not recommended when there is marked hardening of the arteries or evidence of heart trouble.

Emotional Strains Blamed For Crashes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Emotional strain is a major factor contributing to the nation's 50,000-plus annual automobile fatalities, the California Medical Association says.

To increase highway safety, the association recommends that drivers try to understand the psychology of other operators, be aware of motives that influence their own behavior and pull off the road when they lose their emotional grip.

Expo 67's Gold Coin Unwelcome

DETROIT (UPI)—Americans returning to the United States from Expo 67 here and at other border points will not be permitted to bring back the new $20 Canadian gold pieces, the Treasury Department warns.

The department said the commemorative coins were struck for sale to the public and could not be considered of "exceptional numismatic value" under U.S. law.

Anyone trying to get past customs with one of the coins would have to give up the coin and face possible fines and penalties as well, the government said.

Parolee Booked On Dope Charge

Bernard G. Gonzales, 35, of 18 Bayside Street, San Rafael, was booked at county jail yesterday afternoon for possession of narcotics and parole violation. He was denied bail.

Gonzales was arrested by San Rafael police acting on a complaint from Department of Corrections parole officers Gene E. Moore and William F. Royce that Gonzales was using narcotics.

Police said they found in his room a plastic bag containing enough marijuana to make three to four cigarettes.

In Fair Condition

Shirleen Malmquist, 24, of 1330 Fourth Street, San Rafael, was reported in fair condition today in the intensive unit at Marin General Hospital where she was admitted Monday with a fractured skull, a broken jaw, and several broken ribs, reportedly suffered in a fall from her window.

The biggest dollar's worth any store or business can buy in Marin

Some dollars are "bigger" than others in what they buy to help you stay in business . . . dollars for merchandise, fixtures, overhead.

But ONE dollar is the most critical to continued success, whether you sell apparel or cars, appliances or homes, drugs, food, services, anything.

This is the dollar you invest in newspaper advertising. With it, you're in the market; you gain direct sales of merchandise NOW. But you also gain the most critical advantage of all: the security of staying in business at a profit.

Newspaper advertising in the I-J moves merchandise fast. Show the value, the price, and the buyer's eye lights up. But the same ad—the same dollar that buys the ad—doesn't stop there.

It keeps ON working. It sells added merchandise not even IN the ad! Because it brings customers to your store who buy more than the advertised item—simply through exposure.

It builds future security for your business by making you less subject to the winds of chance. It makes the entire community aware of your store, your values. It builds store identity you can gain in no other way. It informs people of quality and service—not just for now, but for months, years. It anchors you securely in the swift tides of the marketplace.

For unlike other expenditures, the advertising dollar doesn't quit returning you value. It keeps building cumulatively. One ad builds on another, keeps reinforcing your business, your profits.

This is the way newspaper advertising works—especially when you use it consistently. Ask any successful merchant, any consistant advertiser in the I-J.

Then ask yourself: can I afford to be out of advertising? That's as bad as being out of merchandise. (Who wants to wait for customers who never come?).

Fairfax Street Chief Demoted; Pay Not Cut

The Fairfax city council last night demoted Edgar Phillips, 52, from street superintendent to street maintenance man with no reduction in his $613 a month salary.

The council then gave temporary promotion to David Sturges, 33, from street maintenance man to acting street superintendent with an increase in pay from $469 to $556.

No salary reduction was recommended for Phillips because the council commended his past work and the pay was in keeping with a long-time employee, Fairfax Mayor George A. Pagni said today.

The action, in open session last night, followed a closed meeting July 17 when Public Works Director Richard Nelson told the council that Phillips, a nine-year employee of the city, lacked administrative ability, City Mgr. David J. Sumbardo said.

Phillips, who was not present at the closed hearing, has three days to file an answer and 10 days to appeal the demotion to the city board of review, Sumbardo said.

Kitchen Fire Does $3,000 In Damage

A kitchen fire in an apartment kitchen this morning caused damage estimated at $3,000, according to Corte Madera firemen.

Firemen were called at 9:05 a.m. to apartment 308 of the Madera Valley apartments, 1495 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, the residence of Dean Carpenter. Fire Chief Frank Nelson said the fire, which burned the kitchen cabinet, sink and ceiling and destroyed a garbage disposal, may have started in a waste basket under the sink.

Boy, 9, Injured As Bike, School Bus Collide

A nine-year-old boy was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured left wrist and cut forehead after his bicycle collided with a school bus on Miller Creek Road in Lucas Valley, at 1 p.m. yesterday.

Esther M. Muelrath, 47, of 21 Linda Avenue, San Rafael, driving an 11-passenger Marin County schools bus north on Miller Creek Road, north of Idylberry Road, told highway patrol officers she saw the approaching bicycle but thought it would move out of the way.

The patrol reported that Stephen Hay, 9, of 2797 Las Gallinas Road, Marinwood, was riding his blue bicycle on the wrong side of the street.

The 11 passengers in the bus, wearing seat belts, were not injured, the patrol said.

Diplomas To 111 Quentin School Grads

"All of us here have gotten off to a late start on our education — but the important thing is that we have made a start."

Inmate James A. Knight's salutatory address set the keynote for last night's graduation ceremony in the garden chapel at San Quentin Prison.

A total of 111 inmates accepted high school diplomas handed out by Stanley H. Friese, assistant county superintendent of schools. John C. Fitch, president of Bayview Schools Advisory Committee, gave 63 elementary diplomas and Warden Louis S. Nelson presented literacy certificates to 25 men.

Assoc. Warden Homer J. Hastings announced the vocational and industrial education certificates would be awarded later this year in a separate ceremony.

The San Quentin educational program is administered by the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office in conjunction with the state deaprtment of corrections.

In his valedictory address, Michael Lingo said "education provides immunity to situations which motivate crime. This is not to say that education is a sure fire remedy for crime, but that it is a step in that direction."

Hub Resident Finds Home Invaded, Looted

Johnny Edwards of 228A Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, returned home from a week's trip last night to find his home ransacked and burglarized, a radio on, the television still warm and his bed looking as if it had been slept on, according to San Anselmo police.

Edwards had been away from home since July 6, and returned at 11:45 p.m. yesterday. He told police $4 in change and a $29 watch were missing.

MISSED CLASSES, BUT

Boy, 12, Knows His Lifesaving Lessons

Greg Kalemba, 12-year-old Woodacre boy, has been swimming ever since he could toddle up to poolside.

But he couldn't pass a junior lifesaving course this summer. He missed too many lessons because of Little League baseball with the Woodacre Chiefs.

It's a good thing he did. Jeffrey Piazza, 9, of Point Reyes, is alive today because Greg plays baseball and was at a Little League swimming party at Rancho Nicasio after last Sunday's All-Star game.

Greg saw Jeffrey sink to the bottom and dived after him, bringing the unconscious boy up just as his mother, Mrs. Peter J. Piazza, had alerted the lifeguard.

Jeffrey "was down a good minute" and had swallowed his tongue, but recovered quickly after the lifeguard pumped him out, Mrs. Piazza said.

It was Greg's second rescue. In June last year he saved a 3-year-old boy in a pool at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Paul Hansen of Novato.

Greg's mother, Mrs. Kurt E. Kalemba of Crescent Court, Woodacre, said the lifesaving instructor at the Woodacre Improvement Club pool told her Gregory had missed too many lessons to finish the course.

Mrs. Kalemba said she hadn't worried about the certificate, but sent Greg to learn what he could about lifesaving.

Gregory was busy all day Sunday. A shortstop and pitcher, he played in the All-Star game before the party.

Jeffrey, who plays on the Point Reyes Minor League team, is completely recovered, his mother said.

Fairfax Street Chief Demoted; Pay Not Cut

The Fairfax city council last night demoted Edgar Phillips, 52, from street superintendent to street maintenance man with no reduction in his $613 a month salary.

The council then gave temporary promotion to David Sturges, 33, from street maintenance man to acting street superintendent with an increase in pay from $469 to $556.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

California Still King Of Building Industry

Despite a three-year decline in homebuilding, California leads all other state in construction, according to Engineering News-Record Magazine.

Construction contracts last year amounted to $5.6 billion, 40 per cent above second-ranking New York state. California was first in homebuilding, first in highway contracts, first in heavy construction and first in water resource and sewerage construction contracts. In public, industrial and commercial building contracts California was second. The state's total backlog of planned construction is $17 billion, giving it a good chance for continued construction leadership.

The second half of 1967 is expected to bring the nation a bigger total of new construction contracts. The midyear review of F. W. Dodge Co. reports the projected 1967 gain will lift the Dodge Index from last year's 145.3 to 149.

California's economic activity advanced one-third of 1 per cent in June, according to figures released by the Bank of California. This represents an increase of 3.5 per cent over a year ago. Personal income rose to $70.42 billion. Payrolls in most major industrial classifications increased slightly, with wage and salary compensation reaching the $47.95 billion mark.

BANK OF CALIFORNIA and Livermore National Bank directors have agreed on merger terms. To become effective the merger must still be approved by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of shareholders of each bank and must be approved by federal authorities.

AMPEX CORP., Redwood City, has received Army contracts totaling more than $3.7 million for closed circuit television equipment to expand the facilities now used in Army training. Ampex previously completed installation of television and playback facilities at 17 U.S. Army training centers and schools across the country.

SHERATON CO. OF AMERICA has reported its highest-in-history net income from operations for the year ended April 30. Income of over $5 million or 91 cents a share compared with $2.5 million or 45 cents a share a year ago. Gross sales reached a record $286.6 million, compared with $276.3 million last year. During 1967 Sheraton will open new hotels and motor inns in the United States, Canada, Aruba, Malta, Venezuela, Corsica and the Philippines.

TRANS INTERNATIONAL AIRLINES, Oakland, has ordered two Boeing 727 jets at a cost of $13 million to funnel groups from small interior cities of the country to coastal cities such as New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles, where they will be placed on 180 and 250-passenger jets for flights to Europe, Latin America and the Orient. The company has three of the latter in operation and has four more on order for delivery through 1969.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER Co., New York, has announced an expansion program within the United States over the next two years involving capital expenditures of approximately $190 million. Principal projects will be two bleached paper mills scheduled for completion early in 1970. One will be in the northeast part of the country and the other will be in the south.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

California Still King Of Building Industry

Despite a three-year decline in homebuilding, California leads all other state in construction, according to Engineering News-Record Magazine.

Construction contracts last year amounted to $5.6 billion, 40 per cent above second-ranking New York state. California was first in homebuilding, first in highway contracts, first in heavy construction and first in water resource and sewerage construction contracts. In public, industrial and commercial building contracts California was second. The state's total backlog of planned construction is $17 billion, giving it a good chance for continued construction leadership.

The second half of 1967 is expected to bring the nation a bigger total of new construction contracts. The midyear review of F. W. Dodge Co. reports the projected 1967 gain will lift the Dodge Index from last year's 145.3 to 149.

California's economic activity advanced one-third of 1 per cent in June, according to figures released by the Bank of California. This represents an increase of 3.5 per cent over a year ago. Personal income rose to $70.42 billion. Payrolls in most major industrial classifications increased slightly, with wage and salary compensation reaching the $47.95 billion mark.

BANK OF CALIFORNIA and Livermore National Bank directors have agreed on merger terms. To become effective the merger must still be approved by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of shareholders of each bank and must be approved by federal authorities.

AMPEX CORP., Redwood City, has received Army contracts totaling more than $3.7 million for closed circuit television equipment to expand the facilities now used in Army training. Ampex previously completed installation of television and playback facilities at 17 U.S. Army training centers and schools across the country.

SHERATON CO. OF AMERICA has reported its highest-in-history net income from operations for the year ended April 30. Income of over $5 million or 91 cents a share compared with $2.5 million or 45 cents a share a year ago. Gross sales reached a record $286.6 million, compared with $276.3 million last year. During 1967 Sheraton will open new hotels and motor inns in the United States, Canada, Aruba, Malta, Venezuela, Corsica and the Philippines.

TRANS INTERNATIONAL AIRLINES, Oakland, has ordered two Boeing 727 jets at a cost of $13 million to funnel groups from small interior cities of the country to coastal cities such as New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles, where they will be placed on 180 and 250-passenger jets for flights to Europe, Latin America and the Orient. The company has three of the latter in operation and has four more on order for delivery through 1969.

INTERNATIONAL PAPER Co., New York, has announced an expansion program within the United States over the next two years involving capital expenditures of approximately $190 million. Principal projects will be two bleached paper mills scheduled for completion early in 1970. One will be in the northeast part of the country and the other will be in the south.

WHY BEARS LIKE FAIRS

California's newly gilded Golden Bear appears to have a pensive smile as he and his pretty rider, Ginger Cain, wait for the opening of the big California State Fair. One of the focal points always is the Agricultural building in the background, which houses Marin's and other counties' symbolic exhibits each year. Opening Aug. 30 this year, the exposition runs through Sept. 10.

Point Reyes Boat Harbor Plan Urged

A small boat harbor within the shelter of Point Reyes at Marin's western tip drew unanimous support at an Army Corps of Engineers' hearing yesterday, but the degree of support varied widely.

Thirty persons attended the hearing at West Marin School, Point Reyes Station, to back construction of a harbor, primarily as a harbor of refuge and secondarily as a recreation and commercial fishing port.

BOLINAS INVOLVED

Bolinas Harbor played a strong role in the discussion, with Norman T. Gilroy, planner for the Bolinas Harbort District declaring that the Point Reyes facility should be developed as a "secondary harbor of refuge" with Bolinas getting sanction by the Corps as the primary refuge harbor north of San Francisco Bay.

An opposite view was expressed by Adm. H. E. Bramston-Cook (Ret.), representing the Marin Conservation League, who declared the Point Reyes shelter could be entered from the sea more easily than Bolinas; road access would be better for trucking of fish and recreation could logically be coupled with the Point Reyes National Seashore Development.

This latter idea was supported by testimony of Supt. Edward J. Kurtz of the national seashore, who said he hoped to see charter boats operating for both fishing and sightseeing for park visitors at the point.

RESTUDY REVEALED

A refuge harbor at Bolinas was ruled out over a year ago by the Corps, but the Corps has since agreed to restudy the possibility in light of recent plans prepared by Gilroy, according to Lt. Col. Frank C. Beorger, district engineer for the Corps who ran yesterday's meeting.

It was not the first time Bramston-Cook and Gilroy have disagreed on Bolinas development. Their testimony yesterday was similar to arguments both have aired repeatedly before the county planning commission and supervisors over Bolinas development.

John B. Hervey of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department declared there would not be much increase over existing commercial fishing at Point Reyes unless the harbor were developed to take deep draft trawlers which could land bottom fish. He urged that no development be allowed in Drakes Estuary, a wildlife habitat.

COST DEBATED

Elvin A. Curtis of the State Department of Harbors and Watercraft urged that the Corps modify its cost-benefit ratio on harbors, saying that a harbor of refuge saves lives and lives cannot be measured economically. He also urged that phase development be considered allowing deferral of proven cost benefits.

Beorger explained that the Corps must be able to show in its study that there is at least a dollar benefit from every federal dollar spent in development. He said the Corps will accept further written testimony for 30 days before closing the hearing.

The hearing, he said, is the first step in starting Corps studies. Point Reyes is one of 15 sites on the Northern California Coast designated for study. Next site north is Shelter Bay in Mendocino County.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Others speaking for harbor development at Point Reyes yesterday were Chairman Thomas T. Storer of the county board of supervisors, Thomas Barfield of Bolinas Community Inc. and the Bolinas Harbor District board, Bernard F. Seligman of the Marin Boats and Harbor Committee, Henry Hankins of Inverness Park and Webster Otis of Waterfront Land Associates with property on Tomales Bay.

Bad Check Penalty May Be Stiffened

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill stiffening the penalties for writing bad checks.

The measure, approved yesterday, would make each instance of writing a bad check a separate crime; make it a felony to write a bad check for an amount over $100, and make the passer liable to damages of triple the amount of the bad check.

In 1797, the first elephant was imported into the United States.

New Chief Due At Muir Woods

Richard S. Tousley has been appointed superintendent of Muir Woods National Monument, it was announced today by John A. Rutter, National Park Service regional director.

Tousley succeeds Bruce W. Shaw, who left April 2 to become superintendent of Big Horn Canyon Recreational Area in Montana and Wyoming. Chief Ranger Ray Foust has been acting superintendent since.

Tousley has been with the park service since 1957 at Mount Rainier National Park, where he is now a supervisory park ranger. He took courses in forest management, botany and zoology at the University of Minnesota.

Tousley will start at Muir Woods Sunday. He is married and has four daughters.

Geyser Leasing Bill Progresses

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate has unanimously approved and sent to the Assembly a bill which would open up California's underground, geothermal resouces to private developers.

The measure would allow private firms to take out 20-year leases on state land to develop underground steam and liquid mineral resources.

The bill, which won 34-0 Senate approval yesterday, would allow the state a maximum 10 per cent royalty on developments. Major geothermal resources have been found in Imperial and Sonoma counties.

There are more than 90 London suburban weekly newspapers.

Women's Status Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill to assure continued operation for at least two more years of the California Advisory Commission on the Status of Women moved to Gov. Ronald Reagan's desk today. The measure won final legislative approval yesterday.

'WRONG CHOICE' BRINGS RICHMOND WOES

Gary Spain, 22, of Menlo Park, tried to ground one of two 115,000-volt power lines yesterday afternoon in Richmond, made the wrong choice and was seriously burned in the flash that kindled a grass fire and blacked out power 17 minutes at the Standard Oil Co. refinery. The power failure let gas accumulate in the plant's smoke stacks, creating this immense cloud of smoke. Trapped by an inversion layer which seals off lower air, the smoke drifted as far north as Napa. Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean caught the spectacle from Marin Rod and Gun Club's pier at Point San Quentin.

Tiburon Planners' Secrecy Charged

A Tiburon resident has accused the city's planning commission of violating the Ralph M. Brown Act by meeting in closed session, the Independent-Journal learned today.

A letter from Anne L. Ellinwood of 1810 Mountain View Drive, protesting the meeting, was received July 15 by the commission and its development administrator, Phil V. Scott, but was not mentioned by them at last night's meeting.

Scott refused today to explain why the commission ignored the complaint.

Miss Ellinwood — former Tiburon councilman and vice chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Council — quoted in her letter the minutes of the meeting of June 11, in which Scott reported:

RE-VOTE SOUGHT

"At its executive session just concluded, Erik Rettig and John McChesney had been duly elected as chairman and vice chairman respectively of the planning commission for the following year."

Miss Ellinwood asked the commission to consider that action void and elect new officers in open session, because the Brown Act prohibits action being taken in closed session and that therefore the election behind closed doors was illegal.

The Brown Act prohibits closed meetings for any other purpose than to hire or fire a public officer and to hear charges against an officer.

It also requires 24-hour public notice of such a meeting and restricts it to the purpose for which it was called. No such public notice was given of the June 11 closed session.

EARLIER SESSION

Miss Ellinwood also charged that another meeting of the commission on June 1 with County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker to "discuss procedures" might have been illegally closed also.

She said the "view of Mr. Zucker on our city's planning needs and the procedures to follow in achieving those needs would have been of great interest to the public, as, no doubt they would have been to the commission's professional staff, also excluded."

She said her letter was intended as a "friendly reminder of the intent of the Brown Act to "preserve the people's right to know." She attributed the commission's error to its "ignorance and innocence."

Scott said today that no-one on the commission at the June 22 meeting protested the closed session for the announced purpose of electing officers.

Admitted LSD Taker Is Held

John Harvey Myers, 20, of San Francisco was taken into custody by the Highway Patrol on the Tiburon Overpass last night after he declared his intention to stop "the caravan on Highway 101" and "save the universe."

CHP Officer Preston Stogner said he observed Myers at 6:30 p.m. standing on the south side of the overpass looking down at highway traffic. Myers was still there 45 minutes later and Stogner questioned him.

Myers reported taking LSD two days ago and this was his first "good trip," Stogner said.

Myers was taken to Marin County jail and transferred to Napa State Hospital for observation. No charges were filed.

Tiburon Slates Ballot On Peninsula Annex

In a special meeting last night, Tiburon City Council adopted a resolution of intent to hold a special election on annexation of all unincorporated areas of the peninsula and set a meeting for 8 p.m. Aug. 10 at City Hall to receive written protests on annexation.

The unincorporated area includes all land east of Highway 101 and south of Corte Madera, approximately 3.6 miles. The annexation would double Tiburon's land area.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose told councilmen that petitions filed Monday contained more than the required 25 per cent signatures out of 2,015 registered voters in the unincorporated area.

The special election will be held both in the city and outside, in the unincorporated area involved voters in both areas must approve if the annexation is to be successful.

Sessions Set On Sausalito Voter Issues

Sausalito Citizens Council directors last night set two public meetings to air pros and cons on elections Sept. 19 to build a new library and Oct. 10 to build an "educational park."

The meetings tentatively were set Sept. 7 to discuss the library election, and Sept. 28 to discuss the school bond, reported Carl W. Spring, corresponding secretary.

Both probably will be held at Central School, he said.

The September election is a special referendum to decide whether the city may build a new waterfront library through lease-purchase. The October election is for a $1.4 million bond measure to help finance a new school facility for all pupils at the Bayside School.

Directors also accepted resignation from the board of Theodore T. Boutmy, who said he resigned because of possible conflicts of interest. He serves on the city's planning commission and community appearances advisory board, and as an architect for the school district and Sausalito Yacht Club.

Rules Changes Sought In County Retirement

Significant changes in the procedure under which disability retirement is granted was asked yesterday by the Marin County Employees Retirement Association Board.

Under the plan, which was forwarded to the board of supervisors for approval, employees would be required to submit to an examination by a doctor chosen by the board, as well as furnish the results of an examination by his own physician.

The board also proposes to hire an attorney as a permanent referee to render advice and rule on evidence at hearings. It was stipulated, however, that retirement could be granted for disability without a hearing.

Board members said the proposed changes would eliminate "uncertainty" over the validity of applications.

Deputy Sheriff Edwin Koehn, injured in a 1962 traffic accident while on duty and subsequently hurt in a hospital mishap, applied for disability retirement yesterday, and the board directed his attorney, William O. Weissich, to furnish medical examinations under the new regulations proposed.

Too Many Tetanus Shots Cited

BOSTON (SS) — The needle glints, the nurse shoves, the child cries —but now, at least, he is immune to tetanus. The rusty nails or barbed wire he might step on at summer camp hold no great dangers.

But one danger, it turns out, is the needle itself — overmedication.

Too many preventive tetanus shots are being given American children, according to Dr. Geoffrey Edsall of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. Over-immunization can be dangerous or even fatal, he says.

Dr. Edsall blames the overmedication on health examination cards required by summer camps each year.

Dr. Edsall urges that annual routine booster shots be discontinued, and that primary doses should be given only once in 10 years. The Army, he points out, now immunizes against tetanus only once every six years, and is about to stretch the period to 10 years.

Brain Waves And Computers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Restless waves that surge through the brain may hold a secret about this complex organ, a medical researcher says.

From these waves, research is learning how the brain receives, stores and retrieves information, according to Dr. W. Ross Adey of the University of California Brain Research Institute.

Brain waves have been recorded for more than 80 years, Adey said, but not until larger computer systems were applied was it possible to analyze patterns which denote movement of information within the brain.

Drath Loses His Passport

Phillip Drath of San Rafael, outspoken opponent of the Vietnam War, has had his passport canceled by the State Department after returning from North Vietnam last February, it was revealed today.

The cancellation came within a month after Drath and five others carried medical supplies to North Vietnam by way of Haiphong.

Drath said he is appealing the decision.

"I expected it," he said today. "The real reason was to slap at war protesting. . . . We're in real trouble when the government can do that," he said, "its unconstitutional and undemocratic."

Drath said the State Department will not decide on return of his passport until the Supreme Court finishes a similar case now before it.

Wouldn't It Be So Funny To Forget?

LONDON (UPI) — Norman Vaughan, British television comedian, decided to try his hand at acting for the first time. But first he took out a 5,000-pound ($14,000) insurance policy against forgetting his lines.

"I have taken out this policy not because I think I will forget my lines," Vaughan said. "But knowing that such a policy exists will give me added confidence. After 25 years as a comedian, it is important for me to make a good impression as an actor."

Not A Member

WAKEFIELD, England (UPI) —Members of the Trades Union Council (TUC) branch in Wakefield crowned Cathy McAlpine, 21, as "Miss Trade Union." Then they found out she wasn't a union member. Further action is being considered.

Students Dig For Viet Gifts

Members of the seventh grade started the project as a token of support of American fighting men. Efforts were accelerated in February when a brother of a student was killed in action. Students have sent more than 50 gifts, including soap, magazines, soft drinks, writing materials and playing cards.

The September election is a special referendum to decide whether the city may build a new waterfront library through lease-purchase. The October election is for a $1.4 million bond measure to help finance a new school facility for all pupils at the Bayside School.

Directors also accepted resignation from the board of Theodore T. Boutmy, who said he resigned because of possible conflicts of interest. He serves on the city's planning commission and community appearances advisory board, and as an architect for the school district and Sausalito Yacht Club.

Wouldn't It Be So Funny To Forget?

LONDON (UPI) — Norman Vaughan, British television comedian, decided to try his hand at acting for the first time. But first he took out a 5,000-pound ($14,000) insurance policy against forgetting his lines.

"I have taken out this policy not because I think I will forget my lines," Vaughan said. "But knowing that such a policy exists will give me added confidence. After 25 years as a comedian, it is important for me to make a good impression as an actor."

Rules Changes Sought In County Retirement

Significant changes in the procedure under which disability retirement is granted was asked yesterday by the Marin County Employees Retirement Association Board.

Under the plan, which was forwarded to the board of supervisors for approval, employees would be required to submit to an examination by a doctor chosen by the board, as well as furnish the results of an examination by his own physician.

The board also proposes to hire an attorney as a permanent referee to render advice and rule on evidence at hearings. It was stipulated, however, that retirement could be granted for disability without a hearing.

Board members said the proposed changes would eliminate "uncertainty" over the validity of applications.

Deputy Sheriff Edwin Koehn, injured in a 1962 traffic accident while on duty and subsequently hurt in a hospital mishap, applied for disability retirement yesterday, and the board directed his attorney, William O. Weissich, to furnish medical examinations under the new regulations proposed.

Too Many Tetanus Shots Cited

BOSTON (SS) — The needle glints, the nurse shoves, the child cries —but now, at least, he is immune to tetanus. The rusty nails or barbed wire he might step on at summer camp hold no great dangers.

But one danger, it turns out, is the needle itself — overmedication.

Too many preventive tetanus shots are being given American children, according to Dr. Geoffrey Edsall of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. Over-immunization can be dangerous or even fatal, he says.

Dr. Edsall blames the overmedication on health examination cards required by summer camps each year.

Dr. Edsall urges that annual routine booster shots be discontinued, and that primary doses should be given only once in 10 years. The Army, he points out, now immunizes against tetanus only once every six years, and is about to stretch the period to 10 years.

Not A Member

WAKEFIELD, England (UPI) —Members of the Trades Union Council (TUC) branch in Wakefield crowned Cathy McAlpine, 21, as "Miss Trade Union." Then they found out she wasn't a union member. Further action is being considered.

Brain Waves And Computers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Restless waves that surge through the brain may hold a secret about this complex organ, a medical researcher says.

From these waves, research is learning how the brain receives, stores and retrieves information, according to Dr. W. Ross Adey of the University of California Brain Research Institute.

Brain waves have been recorded for more than 80 years, Adey said, but not until larger computer systems were applied was it possible to analyze patterns which denote movement of information within the brain.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Chinese Restaurant Decor May Change, But Food Still Good

The foods of most countries often can be cooked to satisfaction by chefs other than their own nationals.

It is not unusual to find a Frenchman doing credit to German and Italian cuisine, a Swede turning out a French menu and an Italian dabbling in Spanish and sometimes Greek dishes. Chefs are a mobile lot they frequently end up experienced in regional specialties from the North Sea to the Mediterranean.

But I'll frankly admit the only Chinese dinners I have ever eaten have been done by a Chinese cook. No one seems to get the hang of it except another Oriental. I'll concede that some westerners who have grown up in the Orient and have a penchant for cooking can possibly come up with a creditable serving of bean sprouts, water chestnuts and black mushrooms—but professionally I have to see it.

Yet Chinese food is liked and most Chinese restaurants are popular. In recent years there has been a tendency to get away from the drab four-bare-walls decor of the old-time Chinese restaurant, although some aficionados still insist the food isn't authentic without it. And the opposite, almost garish design of the 30s and early 40s has subsided.

In their place are now modern restaurants tastefully designed in a subdued but cheerful motif — such as Lin Fa Gardens at Northgate, where the dining room walls display a few artistic panels and tapestries, light fixtures could be either Eastern or Western and the organ music from the lounge may be classical or pop tunes — but hardly Oriental.

And if you are one of the old-timers who insists on flat, sterile decor with your Chinese dining, it's time you changed your ideas. If it has any effect on the fare at all, the modern look makes it even more pleasurable.

AND SPEAKING of organ music, Jojjny Allair, who has been playing Friday and Saturday nights at Two Bells can't resist an empty console. The other evening before Lin Fa organist Gordon Tucker showed up for his nightly presentation, Johnny got so fidgety looking at the multiple keyboard he finally got up from his table and put the notes to work. And I must admit he knows how.

FLAGS WERE LOWERED around Tiburon last weekend when it was learned that one of its citizens of a generation ago had died in Malta.

Sam Vella, founder of Sam's Anchor Cafe, hadn't been seen much in Marin for several years, but according to Mary Harkins of El Paseo who had kept in close touch with him, said he had intended to return here some day. Time just ran out.

The way it has been told me, Sam first pitched a tent near the Tiburon waterfront in 1920 and served clam chowder to seamen and railroad workers. Later he constructed a small building with a kitchen and the menu and the building grew to include breakfast, lunch and dinner. Those were the days you could get all three meals from Sam for $1.40. He is remembered by some Marinites for his generosity.

Sam sold out in 1960 but many of his recipes are still on the menu and much of the old decor and atmosphere still remain. They are not likely to change.

THERE'S A SLIGHT alteration in the schedule at Romona's in San Rafael. Lunches are being discontinued on Saturday, as part of the summer program which also extends dinner hours Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays to 4:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Guitarist and singer Pablo Castro, is entertaining on Saturday and Sunday evenings.

NOW THERE COMES a new contest in counting glass — this one at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, where you may have noticed the mosaic lamp globe in the bar which was done by Bill Bisson's son Ron.

Ron has done some recent remodeling and it appeared to be an ideal subject for a guessing game. Two Porterhouse steak dinners with all the trimmings are the winner's reward.

You'll have to do your tallying from your own side of the bar, and since only the front side of the globe is likely to be visible I guess you will have to arrive at your total by some sort of system.

But you can make more than one trip and there's nothing in the rules that says you can't put in another entry if a second count makes you change your mind. So far no deadline has been set to close out entries.

If Nino Musso is on duty while you're there you might draw inspiration from one of his specialties — Villa Velour. It's smooth enough to order two.

These days lunch or dinner in West End's outside patio can be a pleasant experience — particularly in the evening when it's a little cooler.

The patio service here, by the way, is cited in an article in the July issue of American Restaurant Hospitality, a trade magazine for food people. Praised are Wet End's table settings and its Crab Louis Villa as an impressive menu feature.

IF YOU DON'T THINK eating out is big business, gross food sales for all away-from-home eating places in the country last year came to a total of 27.5 billion dollars. The industry employs 3.3 million workers, about 4.5 per cent of the entire American civilian labor force.

According to Holiday, more than 60 per cent of the dollar sales volume of public eating places is done by table or booth service restaurants. They do more than twice the volume of all institutions, five times that of hospitals or counter restaurants, six times that of drive-ins, seven times the volume done by colleges or universities — and six times the total sales volume of all retail stores selling food.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY night visitors at Tiburon Lodge are enthusiastic about the new entertainer Mickey Salter. He's a guitarist who plays both flamenco and folk music. You can catch his act between 8:30 p.m. and 1 a.m. I believe this is his first engagement in the Bay Area.

THERE ARE TWO new specials out at the Gibson House in Bolinas, where new owners Ross and Danni Post are featuring a Friday night seafood plate at $2.75 and lamb with curry on Tuesday evenings for the same price. This includes soup or salad on the dinner.

Most popular entree on the menu is the London broil and I must check out Danni's methods on this — maybe use them on my barbecue pit.

NOW TURNING OUT BUT pancakes and other fare at the Kettle in San Rafael is Douglas Skipper, who did the same for a time at the Sunset House.

Obviously there's more on the Kettle's menu than pancakes and Skip is from South Carolina. If his offerings have that flavorsome southern style you'll know why.

Permits Sought

Zoning administrator Thomas E. Cordill will consider use permit requests for a psychiatrists' office in Kentfield and to hold a cultural fair in October in Santa Venetia and eight other land use matters at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the Marin County Civic Center.

BART Defends Its Minority Hiring Program

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District contends it's doing a good job in minority hiring. BART said 22 per cent of its project workers in April were Negroes.

BART replied yesterday to a National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announcement that BART would be a principal target in a nationwide drive for Negro employment on public construction projects.

Herbert Hill, NAACP labor director, told the organization's Boston convention that attempts would be made to hold up government funds for any project where Negroes do not get "their full and fair share" of building trades union craft jobs.

Queen To Give Marriage Nod

LONDON (AP)—With an unusual assist from Prime Minister Harold Wilson to share expected criticism, Queen Elizabeth II will give her permission for the marriage of her divorced first cousin to the mother of his illegitimate son.

Wilson's office announced last night that the Cabinet had advised the queen to give her consent for the Earl of Harewood to marry Patricia Tuckwell "and Her Majesty has signified her intention to do so."

Formal approval will be given at a privy council meeting July 28.

Belli Sues Magazine Over Ruby Article

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Lawyer Mel Belli today had a $2 million suit filed against Esquire Magazine.

The action, filed yesterday, is based on an article in the June, 1967, issue entitled "The Disposal of Jack Ruby," which Belli says exposed him to "public hatred."

Planners Will Study Permits

Belvedere Planning Commission will consider two continued items when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. at Whitaker Hall, 3 Bayview Avenue.

Matters of a fencing permit for Stevens Manning, 296 Beach Road and a sideyard variance for a sun deck for David Sheldon, 2 Bellevue Avenue, Corinthian Island, will be considered.

Shakespeare Festival Will Open Tomorrow

A wooded slope in San Rafael will echo to the poetry and dlaughter of the Bard tomorrow night as the Marin Shakespeare Festival opens its season with "Twelfth Night."

The comedy, directed by John Brebner, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. at Dominican College's Forest Meadows outdoor theater on Grand Avenue.

The festival's other production, "King Lear," will open its run next Friday at 8:30 p.m. It is directed by Ann Brebner, who, with her husband, is an originator of the festival now in its seventh year.

"Twelfth Night" will be presented again Wednesday and Thursday at the same time, and thereafter will alternate with "King Lear" through mid-September.

The plays will be performed in the new amphitheater on a stage designed by San Francisco architect Henry Schubart to follow the line of a curved creek bed. The stage has a reflecting pool in front of its raised platform and is set in a woodland grove.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Both plays will have the accompaniment of music especially composed for them by Richard Cumming of New York, musical director of this year's festival.

The cast for "King Lear" includes: George Ede as Lear; Kathleen Thompson, Goneril; Hope Alexander, Regan; Laura Malemut, Cordelia; Herman Poppe, the Duke of Gloucester; Hohn Talt, Edmund; Robert Rumpf, Edgar ;Philip Sheridan, the fool.

Ross Councilmen Accept Martinelli's Resignation

Ross Town Council last night accepted the resignation of Councilman Jordan I. Martinelli Jr., who was appointed to the Marin Municipal Water District Board Wednesday.

Martinelli was absent, but Mayor Frederick S. Allen reported that Martinelli submitted his resignation Wednesday afternoon effective immediately.

Martinelli's resignation to assume the water board post was the second resignation from the town council in the past two months.

William P. McAndrew resigned from the council May 31 and was succeedey by Thomas W. Jones.

The council passed a resolution commending Martinelli for his service as a councilman from Dec. 16, 1964, to Wednesday.

Allen said the council will consider nominations for a successor on the council either at its July 27 meeting or Aug. 10 meeting.

Reservists In Summer Training

Five Army reservists from San Rafael are attending Reserve Officers Training Corps summer camp at Fort Lewis, Wash., a six-week course that will lead to commissions as second lieutenants.

They are David E. Bonfilio, Tosio F. Theis, Carl von Loewenfeldt, Jeffery P. Fearn and Robert O. Holliday Jr.

Author Rescued

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP)—British novelist William Golding, author of "Lord of the Flies," was rescued with his wife, daughter and three friends today after his yacht and a Japanese freighter collided in the English Channel.

The yachting party was taken aboard the freighter.

Death Valley Hike Try Fails

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—A Reno bartender, who started out to hike across Death Valley in 125-degree heat, was reported in satisfactory condition today in a Las Vegas hospital suffering from heat exhaustion and sore feet.

Roy Sewell, 40, was dricen here late yesterday afternoon by Charles Sorrells, a store owner in Shoshone.

Sorrells said Sewell told him he suffered chest pains yesterday and sat down under a tree. A truck driver picked him up and drove him to Shoshone, a town east of Death Valley which has a population of about 90 persons during the summer months.

Peking Nuclear Future Weighed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John O. Pastore, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, says Communist China will be a formidable nuclear power within five years.

The Rhode Island Democrat made the prediction yesterday after his committee met with Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and representatives of the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Pastore said witnesses at the hearing confirmed that last month's Red Chinese bomb test involved a thermonuclear device.

Auto Insurance Has Troubles

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—State laws which make automobile insurance compulsory have increased, not decreased, the number of uninsured motorists on the roads, a researcher reports.

Prof. Ross J. Wilhelm of the University of Michigan said states with compulsory insurance laws also have just about the highest insurance rates in the nation. Thus there are more people unable to afford the insurance.

"The reason the insurance rates are higher in the compulsory states than in the noncompulsory ones appears to be that the drivers involved in accidents know that most people have insurance and the claims for damages are pushed to the maximum," he said.

Condition Poor

Margarita Schell, 52, of 205 Los Angeles Boulevard, San Anselmo, was reported in poor condition in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital today where she has been since last Tuesday when she was admitted suffering from an overdose of drugs.

Reactions To Narcotics Plan Mixed

Ross Town Council gave a cold shoulder and some warm words to two proposed city-county agreements last night.

The first, a proposal to establish a specialized police service bureau, brought a charge from Councilman Roy Farrington Jones that it was an attempt "to take over."

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the town has agreed to the countywide narcotics bureau, but he didn't know "how far this goes."

Jones said he found the proposal "repulsive."

Councilmen also took a dim view of participating in an agreement for formation of an advisory city-county planning council.

Allen said the town is willing to cooperate with the county in planning, but not enter into an agreement.

He referred the proposals to council committees for further study after Jones noted that the council has to take a stand at the September meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen.

The Ross Town Council also:

PARK RULES — Introduced an emergency ordinance, setting rules and regulations for parks, including the newly acquired Natalie Coffin Greene Park, and requiring a permit for organized group parties of "25 or more" and set the limit for such gatherings at 50.

HEARING — Scheduled a hearing at 8 p.m. Aug. 10 on annexation of the Natalie Coffin Greene Park, near Phoenix Lake, recently donated to the town by the late A. Crawford Greene.

VARIANCE — Granted F. W. Knickerbocker and J. J. Blumhoefer, 13 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, a variance to replace stairs and deck to a nonconforming house.

Councilman Natalie G. Lewis was absent.

University Sees Growth Ahead

BERKELEY (UPI)—The University of California predicted today that by 1975 it will have 140,000 students and a $1 billion budget.

At the same time, officials said state support for current university operations will decline from 50 per cent of expenditures in 1963-64 to 40 per cent in 1975 - 76. The federal share is expected to grow from 25 to 32 per cent over the same period.

The forecasts were made in the "long-range fiscal program" which was submitted to the regents of the university today by Acting President Harry R. Wellman.

TODAY' EDITORIAL

Hold The Line Against Trend Toward Secrecy

Another attempt has been made on the state level to chip away at the open meeting provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Fortunately, this attempt has apparently been nipped in the bud because of alert newsmen who caught the offending paragraph in one of the thousands of bills that are being processed through the legislative hopper.

Assembly Bill 2381 by Assemblyman George Milias, R-Los Gatos, which has to do with public employee organizations, had quietly breezed through the Assembly before the spotlight of publicity began focusing on one of the provisions, which had been added at the last moment.

It would have allowed local governing bodies to meet in secret sessions to consider demands made by empolyee organizations.

The Milias bill requires public agencies to participate in an exchange of views with employee organizations on employer-employee relations such as salaries and benefits. Milias says it merely sets guidelines for employer-employee relations.

One sentence in the bill read: "Representatives designated by the governing body to meet and confer with representatives of employee organizations may meet with the governing body in executive sessions prior to meeting and conferring with representatives of employee organizations."

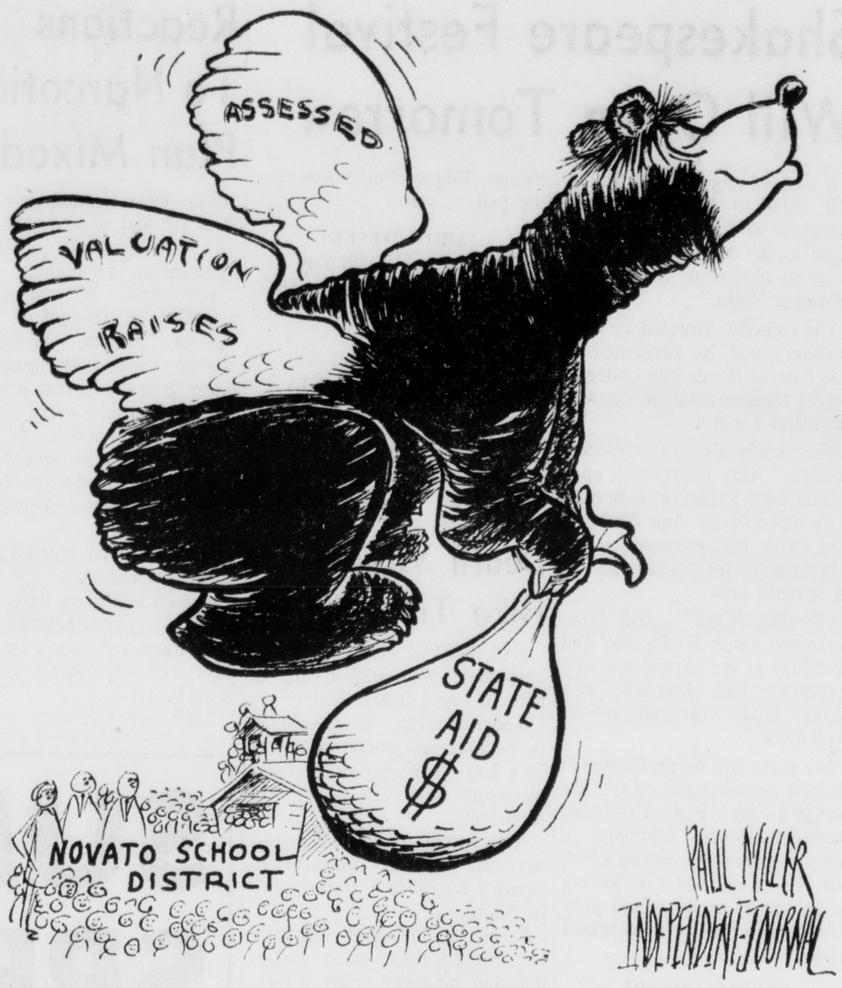
This would have opened up a fertile field for proponents of secrecy in government. Any agenda item having to do with "public employee relations" could be taken behind closed doors by a local governing body.

Salaries, overtime pay, holidays, pensions and other benefits that involve the spending of public funds could all come under the category of "employee relations."

Local governing bodies could have locked themselves in with their administrators, lawyers or other negotiators and cooked up any deal they wanted to present to the employee organizations.

Fortunately, Assemblyman Milias has agreed to drop from his bill the provisions for the closed session.

This latest attempt to whittle away at the Brown Act underscores the need for constant vigil to protect the people's right to know what their elected representatives are doing and how taxpayers' money is being spent.



News item: Rise in assessed valuation means loss of state aid.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

MAN OUTWITTED BY HIS OWN HASTINESS

Seeing a patrolman approach his car to write out a ticket for overparking, the man dashed across the street just in time to drop a nickel into the meter before the officer arrived.

The relieved man smiled weakly at the patrolman, happy to have avoided a $1 ticket. Wordlessly, the policeman wrote out a ticket for jaywalking—$15.

Last-minute thinking and neglect of details may not be serious failings in themselves. But when they occasionally backfire on us, we should be sensible enough to take the hint.

Although we have to accept the fact that we will make mistakes in this life, the Lord wants us—and will assist us—to overcome them bit by bit.

The more you are attentive to small details, while retaining the "big picture," the better your chances are of growing in maturity and achievement with each passing year.

(1 Corinthians 14:20)

After each shortcoming I commit, Holy Spirit, grant that I may become just a little wiser.

AMONG MARIN voters, Nelson Rockefeller is the most popular choice for GOP presidential nomination, according to a straw vote taken during the Marin Art and Garden Fair. Rocky "won" because of 50 Democratic votes he drew in the straw poll. George Romney got 28 Democratic votes, and Ronald Reagan 18.

On the basis of Republicans alone, Romney led with 160, followed by Rockefeller 151, Reagan 138, and Richard Nixon 133.

Those under 21 favored Reagan over Romney by 120 to 109. Then came Nixon with 93 and Rockefeller with 79.

DOOR PRIZES offered at the Republican Booth went to Helen M. Dana of San Rafael, Jean Manwaring of College of Marin, Debbie Carter of Marin Catholic, Jerry Suyderhuud of Drake High, and Kevin Sweeney of Redwood High.

Energetic Davette Milmoe did a fine job of managing the Republican booth and compiling the results of the straw vote.

THE NATIONWIDE "Negotiation Now" campaign to halt the war in Vietnam is gaining more backers in Marin County.

Eight Marin leaders who have added their support to the campaign are Councilman Gordon Strawbridge of Tiburon, Councilman Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, Mayor Albert White of Mill Valley, Mayor Mel Wax of Sausalito, Rev. Arnold Come of the seminary in San Anselmo; Rev. Gordon Foster of Mill Valley Community Church; Rabbi Morton Hoffman of Congregation Rodef Sholom; and Nancy C. Swadesh, national secretary of Americans for Democratic Action.

THE EXECUTIVE Board of the Marin County Labor Council has voted unanimously to endorse Assemblyman John Burton to succeed the late Sen. J. Eugene McAteer of San Francisco in the State Senate. The Republicans are actively backing Judge Milton Marks for the post.

Elaine Guthrie of Glenwood Avenue, Ross, will be hostess at a John Burton "Love-In" on Sunday afternoon from 2 to 6 p.m. at her home. The public is invited at $5 per couple (their children free) for the swim and play day.

Two New Laws Are Proposed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I propose the following new laws:

1. Providing that no one is eligible for judicial office until he has been actively engaged in private law practice, both civil and criminal, for at least 10 years. Had this been in effect years ago, most of our appellate court judges would now have to work for a living.

2. Providing that all candidates for any public office take and pass an elementary intelligence test. This would automatically eliminate Democrats and other crackpots.

Attorney Upholds Goldstein Reversal

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of July 6 concerning Judge Goldstein's reversal of a jury requires some comment.

As the case is generally understood, it was not, as you state, only Judge Goldstein's "conscience" which required reversal, but rules of law laid down by the United States Supreme Court.

Since Judge Goldstein's decision is pursuant to Supreme Court decisions, it is not merely "technically correct", as you say, but indeed, is legally required.

Nor is the decision "almost unprecedented," as your editorial states. There are numerous cases, not only in California courts, but in the courts of other states and the Federal courts as well, in which on-going developments in constitutional law have required reversals of juries' verdicts and remission of defendants. This has notably been the case with illegally seized evidence and unconstitutionally compelled confessions, just two areas in which the United States Supreme Court has recently clarified and refined the law.

It is certainly correct that "over the years jury decisions in Marin County have been generally fair, and every consideration has been given to the rights of the accused," as you say. But that is elemental. If a Marin jury were to be shown to be unfair or prejudiced, that alone would require reversal of its decision, notwithstanding the application of particular rules of substantive constitutional law.

One certainly hopes that Marin jurors and law enforcement agencies are mature and steadfast enough not to have their "morale shattered" by even-handed application of undeniable requirements of United States Constitutional law. Were it not so, we should look for different jurors, or be more careful in our selection of law enforcement personnel.

Parking Order Is Attacked

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The recent shocking elimination of Sausalito's parking validation program by the city council is not only a damaging blow to businesses like mine but also, I feel, an ill-conceived move to drive local people elsewhere to do their shopping.

Resulting from this move can only be a virtually 100 per cent tourist-oriented retail establishment. I cannot believe this is the desire of either the city's residents or those who represent them on the council.

I appeal directly to Sausalitans to seek immediate relief from this oppressive situation. Let's either re-institute the validation program — used primarily by local residents—or set up a system whereby local people can get a preferential parking rate.

Minimum Wage Policy Shocking

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I was shocked by your recent editorial endorsement of minimum wage legislation as a means of "protecting" the very poor and the young and inexperienced.

Actually, these are the very groups that have suffered most from such laws. At this very moment, if recent reports from Mississippi are true, unemployment caused by the application of minimum wage laws to agricultural workers is contributing to malnutrition if not starvation. Similarly, the rise in minimum wages in recent years has paralleled and contributed to the rise in teenage unemployment. Instead of permitting youths without significant skills to accept jobs merited by their productivity, the type of laws you support have forced many young people into idleness and frustration.

Whatever benefit minimum wage legislation may provide to more efficient and better paid workers, it is a travesty of logic to support them as an aid to the young and the very poor. For these groups such laws all too often mean unemployment and a reduced standard of living.

I am disturbed that the I-J would even permit such a baseless accusation to be printed. Obviously, the writer of the letter in question, if he was as concerned and conscientious as he claimed, would have realized that his complaint against United Markets was unfair.

Congress Vote Count Shows Need For Cleaning Its House

WASHINGTON — When is Congress going to put its house in order?

I'm not talking about the Dodds, the Powells, or the Bobby Bakers. I am talking about a worse offender — the House of Representatives itself.

Its latest example is one of the worst — and hardly an eyebrow was raised. Here is what happened.

The House was taking a teller vote (members file up the aisle one by one to be counted for or against) on a crucial amendment bearing on the care and competence of NASA and the lives of American astronauts.

THE AMENDMENT called for creation of a much-needed "Aerospace Safety Advisory Panel" to give the space program independent safety review. The panel's role would be to ask the hard questions concerning safety — which were not adequately raised in the past — and it would function similar to the way the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards has so well served the Atomic Energy Commission.

The "aye" voters walked up the aisle and were counted by Rep. Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois, the pro-amendment teller, and the count checked by Rep. George P. Miller of California, chairman of the House Space Committee and the anti-amendment teller.

Rumsfeld announced 88 "aye" votes.

Miller then counted the "nay" votes with Rumsfeld checking, and announced he had 101.

RUMSFELD was flabbergasted; he had counted 71 and reporters in the gallery, who had done their own counting, found Miller 20 to 30 votes shy of what he claimed.

Congressmen on the floor could see that the "nay" line was far shorter than the "aye" line. Some later told Rumsfeld they also figured Miller was about 30 votes short of his announced count.

Latecomers were then counted — 13 for and 5 against — and the amendment went down, 106-101.

This is how it was, but there was no stir, not a word of protest from the floor.

AN IMPORTANT measure, which could contribute to preventing another tragic Apollo fire which took the lives of three spcemen, was counted out by an anti-amendment teller using votes which were never cast.

But nothing happened.

That is, nothing other than the fact that a false count, a false announcement, and the absence of any challenge by members who knew it was false — defeated the will of the House.

The House Parliamentarian says that in his long experience nobody has ever challenged a teller's count.

WHEN A REPORTER asked Representative Rumsfeld, who was the sponsor of the amendment that had just been falsely counted out, he said of Miller: "What was I to do, call him a liar?"

We don't know whether Representative Miller is or is not a liar. But what seems to me intolerable is that the House, which was the victim of a falsity, made no effort to find out. If Mr. Miller innocently miscounted Congressmen who didn't walk by him, then he announced what he thought was true.

If he did not innocently miscount votes, then this is surely ethical misconduct which makes the offenses of Sen. Thomas Dodd and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell seem paltry.

Rockefeller Looking More Like Candidate

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who is looking more and more like a GOP presidential candidate, has called a top level national conference in New York of business and labor leaders for Nov. 2 and 3 to "come up with new and revolutionary ideas which will lead to more effective welfare programs and reduce dependency."

Arrangements are being made by Rockefeller to have the conference's recommendations studied and discussed at regional meetings across the U.S. sponsored by the American Public Welfare Association.

COINCIDENTALLY, the New York meeting will be held at about the same time the first national convention of welfare recipients meets in Washington. This convention is being organized by George A. Wiley, director of the Poverty Rights Action Center, a privately financed group now setting up a nationwide organization of the poor.

Active in 70 cities already, Wiley and his followers are receiving behind-the-scenes support from United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, whose major political objective is to organize the poor, civil rights, peace, student, and labor groups into a national political force before the 1968 election.

ONE OF THE MOST significant discussions in the nine-day Senate wrangle over censuring Sen. Thomas Dodd occurred just before the final vote.

In a tense half hour exchange, Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., brought to light the following revealing admissions from three leaders of the Ethics Committee — John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman, Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, vice chairman, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., author of the resolution setting up the Committee:

The Ethics Committee did not investigate the motivation of the four Dodd employees who rifled his files of thousands of documents after he dismissed them for "misconduct,"

Nor did it ascertain whether several of these discharged employees were paid for turning these documents over to newsmen; and and FBI report detailing the "misconduct" of these employees was examined by the Committee but is not part of the published record.

"I think," Curtis told the intently listening Senate, "that if Senator Dodd, for 18 long months, has his life bared before the public, no one who rises to accuse him should be granted a sanctuary of silence and protection for his person, his reputation and his future. I am left in a quandary by the silence of the Committee's record on this very important matter. I submit that it is the law of the land that the accusing parties must bring it out."

Senator Bennett admitted that the two dismissed women employees were "not asked whether they had been paid" to obtain and leak Dodd's papers. Bennett and Cooper acknowledged there is nothing in the record to show "that any of these four former employes delivered any of this information to a law enforcement agency."

"MY MEMORY IS," explained Bennett, "that they said they did not feel they could entrust it to a law enforcement agency." Cooper concurred.

Stennis, Bennett and Cooper argued it was not the Committee's responsibility to bring out fully the nature of the "misconduct" of the four employes, but Dodd's. They held he was offered the opportunity, but didn't use it.

Curtis refused to accept this explanation as justification for the Ethics Committee's failure to thoroughly explore the matter.

Hold The Line Against Trend Toward Secrecy

Another attempt has been made on the state level to chip away at the open meeting provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act.

Fortunately, this attempt has apparently been nipped in the bud because of alert newsmen who caught the offending paragraph in one of the thousands of bills that are being processed through the legislative hopper.

Assembly Bill 2381 by Assemblyman George Milias, R-Los Gatos, which has to do with public employee organizations, had quietly breezed through the Assembly before the spotlight of publicity began focusing on one of the provisions, which had been added at the last moment.

It would have allowed local governing bodies to meet in secret sessions to consider demands made by empolyee organizations.

The Milias bill requires public agencies to participate in an exchange of views with employee organizations on employer-employee relations such as salaries and benefits. Milias says it merely sets guidelines for employer-employee relations.

One sentence in the bill read: "Representatives designated by the governing body to meet and confer with representatives of employee organizations may meet with the governing body in executive sessions prior to meeting and conferring with representatives of employee organizations."

This would have opened up a fertile field for proponents of secrecy in government. Any agenda item having to do with "public employee relations" could be taken behind closed doors by a local governing body.

Salaries, overtime pay, holidays, pensions and other benefits that involve the spending of public funds could all come under the category of "employee relations."

Local governing bodies could have locked themselves in with their administrators, lawyers or other negotiators and cooked up any deal they wanted to present to the employee organizations.

Fortunately, Assemblyman Milias has agreed to drop from his bill the provisions for the closed session.

This latest attempt to whittle away at the Brown Act underscores the need for constant vigil to protect the people's right to know what their elected representatives are doing and how taxpayers' money is being spent.

MAN OUTWITTED BY HIS OWN HASTINESS

Seeing a patrolman approach his car to write out a ticket for overparking, the man dashed across the street just in time to drop a nickel into the meter before the officer arrived.

The relieved man smiled weakly at the patrolman, happy to have avoided a $1 ticket. Wordlessly, the policeman wrote out a ticket for jaywalking—$15.

Last-minute thinking and neglect of details may not be serious failings in themselves. But when they occasionally backfire on us, we should be sensible enough to take the hint.

Although we have to accept the fact that we will make mistakes in this life, the Lord wants us—and will assist us—to overcome them bit by bit.

The more you are attentive to small details, while retaining the "big picture," the better your chances are of growing in maturity and achievement with each passing year.

Stennis, Bennett and Cooper argued it was not the Committee's responsibility to bring out fully the nature of the "misconduct" of the four employes, but Dodd's. They held he was offered the opportunity, but didn't use it.

Curtis refused to accept this explanation as justification for the Ethics Committee's failure to thoroughly explore the matter.

School Bond Victory Has Not Healed Mill Valley's Wounds

The swan song last month of Mill Valley School District Trustee M. James Norton Jr. suggested strife in the community and did not end with passage of the $3.5 million bond measure.

Norton, who retired after four years on the board, urged trustees "to be extremely careful" in spending the bond money "so that they do not alienate segments of the community that voted for things they are not getting."

Norton and trustee Joyce R. Gross opposed the measure on the ground that it was economically and educationally unsound to maintain all eight existing schools. Norton was replaced by John K. Robinson, who supported the measure.

THREE TRUSTEES declared before the bond election that bond funds would be used to begin improvements to all eight existing schools. Few doubt the sincerity of this majority, but supporters of neighborhood schools are certain new pressures will be brought by persons who favor some consolidation of school facilities.

Nan Hepp, leader of Parents Association for Neighborhood Schools, made it clear in a recent "report card" that "the struggle" is not ended. In the bond fight, she wrote, "The lines became more clearly drawn . . . between those willing to work for reasonable change, acceptable to the community — and those who refuse to settle for anything less than total revolution and the phasing out of schools"

Once again, she charged "strong Southern Marin groups are working hard for an educational park for 6,000 children, kindergarten through eighth grade." By "groups," she explained, "I did not imply a large number of people. I meant the power structure — the major wielders of power in our city government and on the school board, and their cricle."

IT IS TRUE that sentiment favoring consolidation of school facilities exist on the school board and city council, but in each case appear sharply circumscribed by majorities holding contrary sentiments.

Crediting the "power structure" with favoring consolidation, Mrs. Hepp questioned whether its thinking is "representative of the community's thinking. I would hope that in the future, one school, and one way of thinking, will not continue to hold disproportionate power. Others too must stand up and speak forth. . . ."

"Unless the no-compromise attitude of the vocal minority changes, our board will undoubtedly be pressured. They need support in order to resist this pressure and to keep their pledge to retain all schools. . . . You have the greatest stake in building for the future of our school system."

Norton was right.

THE NEW SANCTUARY of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church in Mill Valley strikes this unqualified architectural critic as the second most handsome new structure in Marin. First prize still goes to the civic center, and probably will for a very long time.

Success of the design must be credited to the City of Mill Valley's architectural advisory committee, which rejected the first design for the sanctuary.

TRUFFLE HOUNDS are old hat in some quarters, but a Mill Valleyan now boasts a money hound.

Hans Sneve says he was walking on Throckmorton near the new library when his dog darted to the edge of the sidewalk and came up smiling with a dollar bill between his teeth. Sneve says he is training Fritz, a miniature schnauzer, to develop a nose for larger denominations.

ART BUCHWALD

Egyptian Generals Now Bringing Highest Price On World Market

WASHINGTON — One of the fascinating offshoots of the Israeli-Arab war is the sudden interest now being shown by the different intelligence agencies in recruiting Egyptian military officers.

The Middle East is teeming with recruiters, all of whom are competing with each other for the services for the elite Egyptian army and air force corps.

My informant, who just returned from Cairo, told me, "The CIA has a shopping list which calls for 150 Egyptian generals and 230 colonels. They'll even take more if they can get them"

"WHAT DOES the CIA want to do with them?"

It's my understanding that they want to drop them on North Vietnam to advise the Ho forces on how to win the war."

"What an ingenious scheme. With the Egyptians advising the North Vietnamese, the war will be over in no time."

"Exactly. But the CIA is having trouble. The Soviet Union has a recruiting team in Cairo. They're trying to sign up the entire Egyptian general staff and send it through a third country into Red China. If they can get enough Egyptian generals working with the Red Chinese, the Russians can neutralize Red China without firing a shot."

"The Soviets are always trying to get into the act," I said.

"THAT ISN'T ALL. The Indians are trying to recruit some Egyptian officers to give to the Pakistanis as a gift, and the Albanians are trying to get an Egyptian general to head up the Yugoclav war college. There are so many demands being made for Egyptian military know-how that Nasser is getting very worried."

"Why doesn't the CIA recruit its Egyptian officers from the ones captured by the Israelis in the war?"

"Because the Israelis are dead set against the Egyptian officers going back to any country other than Egypt."

"BUT WHY?" I asked.

"Nasser has promised that he will fight Israel again. The Israelis want the same Egyptian officers in command of Egypt's armed forces if hostilities break out again. That is why Israel is treating them so well. The Israelis are even making wholesale trades — 10,000 Egyptian officers for one Israeli corporal-cook — just so the Egyptian officers will be back at their commands before renewed fighting breaks out. As a matter of fact, the Israelis let many officers escape in the Sinai so they could return to Cairo and start rebuilding the army."

"Israel knows what it's doing," I said.

"The CIA is getting some of the stragglers, but the top officers, the ones who planned the defense of the Sinai, are hard to come by because they're so much in demand."

"COULDN'T THE CIA recruit Egyptian officers from those who can't return to Cairo because they handled their assignments so badly?"

"No. You see, in the retreat the generals who fouled up the most got to Cairo first, so they were able to tell their version of what happened before the rest of the army got home. In order for Nasser to stay in power, he had to back them up. So the ones who goofed the most, and have the greatest value to the intelligence agencies, are still in their jobs."

"Wouldn't it be a wonderful world if all the armies were staffed by Egyptian officers?" I said.

"THAT," my informant said "is the only solution to peace in our time."

Gambling Network Bill Sent To Floor

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill prohibiting persons from conveying information or operating communications equipment to aid illegal gambling operations was on the Assembly floor today.

The measure won unanimous approval yesterday from the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Behr's Change Of Heart On Tax Problems Recalled By '66 Quote

Here is an excerpt from the May 20 column, last year . . . Supervisor Behr commenting on some proposed state legislation to give tax relief to folks 62 or over . . . "Nothing but a sop to the elderly citizens . . . an insult to common sense of the population of this couunty . . . This little comes too late for too many people who have Had to suffer from the too high property taxes" — Oh yes indeed. . . . That was yesteryear and he was laying the oratorical lash on someone else. Notwithstanding that brave speech, he went along with a heavy increase in the budget and tax load.

Fusselman

NOW THIS YEAR says he, "I'm not going to let this tax rate frighten me," and proceeded to take the lead in voting a $28.6 million budget. As I said recently, just try and pin that guy down. Is he is or is he aint? If you have any spare time, don't waste it trying to figure this out . . .

David Dietz, in his "Reporter's Notebook" on Monday, gave a number of amusing finishes to, "The Civic Center is where: . . . " . . . One of them . . . "Administrator Alan Bruce doesn't have the nicest office" brought memories of the following.

To properly set the picture straight, it is necessary to go back to the days of building the Administration building. . . . Because I asked too many questions whenever matters were brought before the board for decisions, it was decided to circumvent me by appointing a Civic Center Committee to adjudicate things. This committee was composed of the administrator, the planning director, the public works director, and the county counsel, all non-elective positions and not answerable directly to the voters.

The then auditor-controller (elected) was added. He has since passed away and the others are no longer with the county. Great rivalry existed between the administrator and the planning director as to who would run the show. The board, in session, was never consulted although there was plenty evidence that all except myself were kept fully informed.

FOR SOME REASON or other the administrator brought in some blueprints of the third floor to show the board. There didn't seem to be any way that the public could get into the offices of the supervisors for consultation.

I asked how come and the administrator said the plan was to screen them through his office first and then on to us. Needless to say I spent the next several minutes explaining to him the facts of life and the rights of citizens. The plans were changed.

Next chapter. It was decided one day by our late chairman that perhaps we had all better have a look personally as to how things were going on out there. We came into a beautifully designed room where a crew of men was busily matching the grain of exotic wood panels. I asked whose office this would be? (It was right next to the supervisors' offices) Bruce spoke up and said "mine."

I asked where the clerk's offices would be.

He answered down the hall a bit.

Well, you see the county clerk of general law counties is also the clerk of the board.

I CALLED BRUCE'S attention to this and he said, "I'm not about to give up my nice office, I can tell you."

Again it seemed necessary to explain the facts of life to this young man. The next day he wrote us a letter saying he had reconsidered the matter and that he would take the office he had (without authority) assigned the clerk and that the clerk would have the proper one. (The nice one).

I have received many requests as to just what Bruce and his departments have received in dollars during the past 10 years. So, here is a partial answer.

Including his salary for this month (July) the amount he will have received is $152,645. Then you can add $2,010 per month until they should boost him again.

I WILL WORK UP the cost of the entire operation soon and show how it is mostly an unnecessary duplication of work.

Boy Uses His 'Voice' To Order Many Big Items

CULVER CITY (AP — A boy with a voice like Ava Gardner's used it on the telephone to order hundreds of dollars in merchandise, police say.

When the bills came, Miss Gardner refused to pay.

Police arrested the 12-year-old boy at his home yesterday and booked him on suspicion of grand theft merchandise. Later, he was released into custody of his parents.

For three months, identifying himself as the actress, he telephoned Columbia Studios and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and ordered television sets, manicure sets, $50 bouquets of flowers, an electric can opener and many other items.

The packages arrived daily. When the boy's parents became suspicious, he told them Miss Gardner had befriended him.

A Columbia movie worker who has known Miss Gardner for 17 years said the telephone voice was almost identical to the star's.

CHEAPER COUGHS

Base Hospital Brews Own Peachy Syrup

Where they used to pay $14 a gallon for cough syrup, they are turning out a concoction named "peacholate" at a cost of $1 a gallon.

The hospital had been buying a basic cough syrup under its generic name gylceryl guaiacolate, which is the base of most cough syrups, he said.

"We knew that the formula was merely glyceryl guaiacolate dissolved in simple syrup," Crowley said. "Simple syrup is sugar dissolved in water."

So the pharmacy decided to buy powdered guaiacolate and have the staff mix their own formula.

"At first the patients complained of the bitter taste, and I don't blame them, because it had a bad after-taste," he said. "So we experimented with different flavorings and finally found that peach was best.

That still left a little bitter taste, so they added a small amount of licorice flavoring.

The formula was dubbed "peacholate," a combination of peach and "olate" from guaiacolate. It is used not only for those with coughs, but also for heart patients and those with phlegm in their throats.

French Might Parades For Bastille Day

PARIS (AP)—France paraded its military might before President Charles de Gaulle in a Bastille Day ceremony today, but throngs massed along the Champs Elysses were largely unresponsive.

Hundreds of thousands of Parisians and tourists from many lands jammed the route more than an hour before the parade began on the French national holiday.

De Gaulle, wearing his brigadier general's uniform, reviewed the 67 minutes of armor and jet planes, followed by marching troops. There were only scattered bursts of applause and shouts for De Gaulle and the parading units.

That Foamy Stuff Isn't Being Made

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Because of a strike, San Francisco is down to a single brewery — and that produces only 55 barrels a week.

Still open is the Anchor Steam Beer Brewing Corp. where two men produce beer by a fermentation process.

Closed by an International Association of Machinists strike are the Burgermeister - Jos. Schlitz, Hamm's and General (Lucky Lager) brewing companies.

CHEAPER COUGHS

Base Hospital Brews Own Peachy Syrup

Where they used to pay $14 a gallon for cough syrup, they are turning out a concoction named "peacholate" at a cost of $1 a gallon.

The hospital had been buying a basic cough syrup under its generic name glyceryl guaiacolate, which is the base of most cough syrups, he said.

"We knew that the formula was merely glyceryl guaiacolate dissolved in simple syrup," Crowley said. "Simple syrup is sugar dissolved in water."

So the pharmacy decided to buy powdered guaiacolate and have the staff mix their own formula.

"At first the patients complained of the bitter taste, and I don't blame them, because it had a bad after-taste," he said. "So we experimented with different flavorings and finally found that peach was best.

That still left a little bitter taste, so they added a small amount of licorice flavoring.

The formula was dubbed "peacholate," a combination of peach and "olate" from guaiacolate. It is used not only for those with coughs, but also for heart patients and those with phlegm in their throats.

French Might Parades For Bastille Day

PARIS (AP)—France paraded its military might before President Charles de Gaulle in a Bastille Day ceremony today, but throngs massed along the Champs Elysses were largely unresponsive.

Hundreds of thousands of Parisians and tourists from many lands jammed the route more than an hour before the parade began on the French national holiday.

De Gaulle, wearing his brigadier general's uniform, reviewed the 67 minutes of armor and jet planes, followed by marching troops. There were only scattered bursts of applause and shouts for De Gaulle and the parading units.

That Foamy Stuff Isn't Being Made

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Because of a strike, San Francisco is down to a single brewery — and that produces only 55 barrels a week.

Still open is the Anchor Steam Beer Brewing Corp. where two men produce beer by a fermentation process.

NINE TO FIVE FASHIONS

Predictions on what the well-dressed working girl will be wearing this fall were shown in New York at the American Designer Series this week. Morton Myles' outlook included a brown oatmeal and gray block plaid dress, left, a brown satin shirt dress with wide sash and topaz buttons, center, and at right a double woven wool-grey and white striped dress with zipper front.

Glitter Look—Head To Toe—

By GAY PAULEY

In the glitter at the top department, there's a pillbox hat decorated with 14,108 (count 'em) rhinestones of assorted sizes and shapes. Afoot, high high boots to go with mini-skirts are bordered with rhinestones and have rhinestone clocks up the sides.

That sparkle-studded hat comes from Stanley Hagler, a New York jeweler. For fall he also has included jewelled bibs and "coveralls," worn from throat to waist on otherwise plain late day or evening dresses.

Desco of New York added the rhinestone trim to black boots. The firm also added gold braiding to knee high boots in beige, finishing the braiding with a curl at the toes in the manner of harem slippers.

THESE WERE AMONG some of fashion's fixin's on view at "Accessorama," an event which is part of the New York Couture Group Business Council's semi-annual fashion shows for the nation's visiting press.

New accessories lower the boom on gloom, in the weather department. Now there's an umbrella called the "clocktail," a Polan Katz of New York design. This one has the pattern of a clock on it, the hands and giant numbers rhinestone-studded. If that umbrella doesn't send you, choose a bumbershoot done to look like a Tiffany lampshade with its stained glass effect, or one that opens into an eight-ribbed square, in alternate sections of black and white.

Davidow—This firm, famous for its classic suits, is also in the ensemble business. Handsomely styled dresses, many in solid tone wools, were shown with tweed greatcoats, often with deep pleats or belted back. Another new combination with the firm: the double breasted suit and double faced coat, as in one suit in black and beige Glen plaid, the coat faced with beige wool twill. The coat also could be paired with a low-belted beige twill dress.

GINALA — THIS firm featured the costume, usually a coat and dress combination, in wool gabardine. Full-length topcoats were cut narrow through the shoulders with just a trace of fit before flaring out to easy hemlines. Closings were both single and double-breasted and beneath were neat little gabardine dresses, either sleeveless or cap sleeved.

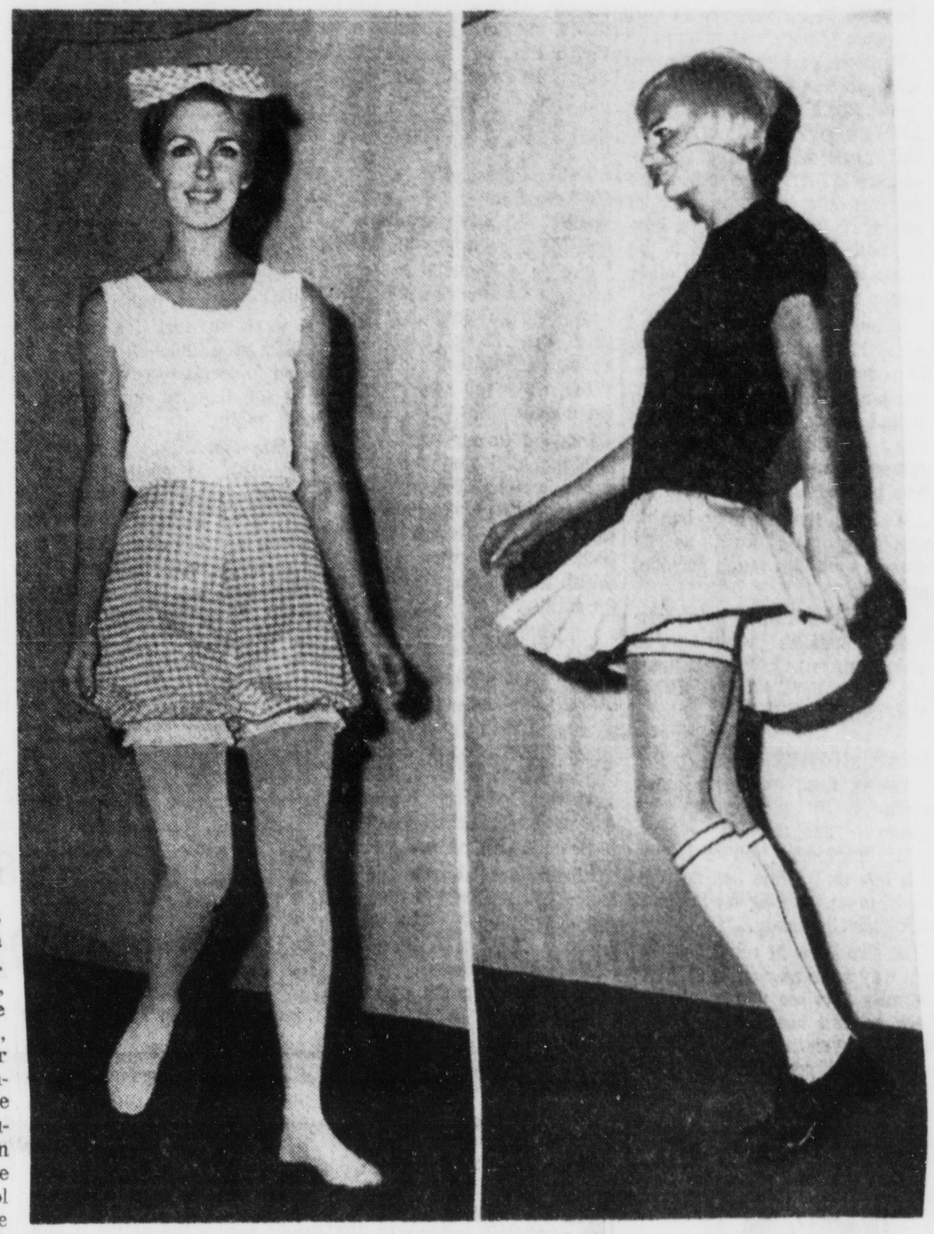
Nat Kaplan—Dresses looked like coats or elongated versions of the shirt were made into dresses. New fabrics included wool twills, gabardines, textured crepes, and petit point silk and worsteds.

Ben Barrack—Like most of the Seventh Avenue manufacturers, the firm featured gray flannel anew. For day, it showed in elongated versions of the shirt with white satin bow for a schoolgirl effect. And for evening, the flannel came belted and finished off with a giant rhinestone buckle.

Leo Narducci—Look for a lot of velvet, said this firm, using it for all sorts of evening styles including a shirt with huge rhinestone zipper front. For day, Narducci tailored menswear suitings including gray flannel into slick little suits and dresses. And for status, you can wear the Narducci label on the outside. The designer spelled his name in full in rhinestones belting a black evening dress.

Lee Claire — The designer here is August De Lorenzo, whose special talent is with evening clothes. De Lorenzo dozens of yards. His most arding neckline was brilliant green satin, its V throat designed to unbutton as low as the wearer dared.

MR. MORT—Designer Stanley Herman based his whole collection on the "wrap" look, with bathrobe-like effects showing again and again. One, outright copy of a robe from a menswear firm, was in tie silk and wrapped so that a lot of bosom was showing. He also copied the shirt in dozens of versions. One, called the karate, wrapped to the side in both day and evening versions and in fabrics from flannel for day to white satin for evening.



LINGERIE FOR MINI STYLES

Barry Levin Will Claim Bride Oct. 1

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Bergmann of Kalispell, Mont., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Ellen, to Barry Howard Levin of San Rafael.

Ruth, the sister of Roger Bergmann of Kalispell, was graduated from Flathead High School and is a junior at San Francisco State.

It's Good News For Husbands With Wives In Paper Sacks

NEW YORK (AP) — American men who heartily approve of putting their wives in paper sacks because of the money they save have even better news ahead.

The new pulp dresses that can be had for a few dollars, worn a few times and thrown away have competition from a new European fabric called "Flissu."

From it, daytime dresses can be made for 50 cents, and a short evening gown can be bought for from $3 to $5. Moreover, it can be worn many, many times.

The material can be washed and ironed, sewn, glued or welded. It absorbs moisture and breathes. Yet it is no more flammable than cotton.

A Viennese chemical company invented the product. It was improved upon by a Holland firm, Mulders, Confectie, Bedrijf, Zowlie, and introduced to Dutch fashion buyers in Amsterdam.

CERTAIN PIRATES used to wear a single earring. A well-known yachtsman-socialite in Palm Beach wears one earring. So does a former hairdresser turned rock and roll singer.

Now a well known costume jewelry company is suggesting the one earring idea for all women — even though this cuts down their product's obsolescence by one half.

However, the company does not have much faith that women will have the courage to wear just one after a favorite pair has been broken with the loss of one.

Some people who do not like the idea of an unbalanced ear, will mismatch the other lobe with another kind. But not many.

AT ANY RATE, for all the cowards the jewelry manufacturers are selling just one earring to match lost ones.

Perhaps to make up for lost sales, the company is also pitching the use of two ear rings on a single ear. For example one white earring would clasp to the top of the ear and a black one would be attached to the lobe.

However, the woman who buys the dress may not be able to find the right stockings, or even more likely, the right shoes.

MARY QUANT HAS a solution to part of the problem, and handles the underwear problem at the same time. It's the shoe tight. One clean line of color goes all the way from the waist to the toes. A clear plastic sole is attched to the foot, thus eliminating the possibility of wearing the wrong colored shoe.

Since these shoe tights are matched precisely to the wool jeresy colors in her Ginger Group collection, she eliminates a couple of other possibilities of wrong choices.

Somebody will manage to pick something wrong somehow, through.

Ann B. Churchill Becomes Bride Of Robert McClure

Ann B. Churchill, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Asa G. Churchill of San Rafael, became the bride of Robert J. McClure of San Anselmo on Saturday in a ceremony held at Episcopal Church of the Redeemer in San Rafael.

For the 2 o'clock rite, Ann wore a full length gown of white Alencon lace. Her sister, Mrs. Thomas H. Huddleston of San Rafael, wore an A-line dress of blue cotton and lace as matron of honor. Bridesmaids Mrs. James Whitt of San Rafael and Joan McClure of San Anselmo, sister of the bridegroom, wore matching dresses in yellow.

A patio reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The couple will live in San Rafael after a honeymoon in Hawaii.

Ann was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed at Seaman's Medical Center in San Francisco and is the sister of Lt. Bruce W. Churchill of San Diego and Mark Churchill of San Rafael.

Mrs. Glenda McClure of San Anselmo and James McClure of San Francisco are the bridegroom's parents. Robert is employed with Tresch Electric in Novato.

San Rafael Ceremony On Saturday

The First Methodist Church of San Rafael was the setting for the wedding of Barbara Jo Woodhurst of San Rafael and Michael Neil Blackie of Hollister on Saturday.

Following a reception at the San Rafael Racquet Club, the couple left on a wedding trip to Mexico City. They will reside in Sacramento where the bridegroom is a teacher at Elk Grove High School.

Barbara, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keith Woodhurst of San Rafael, was graduated from San Rafael High School, College of Marin and Chico State College. She is employed as a teacher in the Sacramento County Schools.

Michael, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil J. Blackie of Hollister, attended Chico State College. Mrs. Vincent Di Vittorio of Morgan Hill is his sister.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Boy's Parents Have Picked Up Tab And The Pieces Once Too Often

DEAR HELEN:

Our son broke into his first house and wrecked things when he was 12. He stole a car at 13. Since then, he's been in trouble with the law several times, but nothing really serious. At 16 he went to a State Farm for Boys, but he was railroaded, just because he happened to be with a bunch of boys who mugged an old man. After that, he jumped his parole and ran away, but we went after him and got him back before anyone found out. He has just made a girl pregnant but refuses to marry her so we must pay the bills. We have never let anyone suffer for his acts, having paid for the damages to the house and to the car, and other minor things.

Helen, the boy has had everything, including much love. He doesn't need to steal. Now we want him to either finish school or go to work, but he stays in bed until noon and refuses to use the good mind he was blessed with.

We feel that it may be his parole officer's fault as he doesn't give him much personal attention.

Helen, how can a boy make these mistakes when we've given him so much? What more can we do? — NUMBED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

You've done much too much already! By picking up the pieces — and the tab — after every escapade, you've taught this boy that crime has no real punishment, so long as Poppa's checkbook is handy.

Let him know he must pay his own way from now on, and if he commits a crime you won't be there to bail him out. I think you'll discover the parole officer will take a personal interest, once he learns you parents won't cave in. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I've always loved homemaking. Our family went on many picnics and camping trips before I got sick. My husband and I got along well before I learned that I had an incurable disease — cancer. At first it threw me for a loss, but I made myself realize that in the short time I had left, I'd try to enjoy my family, and not think of the bad times. I try to keep the housework up, and things on even keel.

But my husband hasn't kissed me once since we got the verdict. He doesn't seem interested in anything or anybody. We're in a financial mess and I'm sure he blames me for it. If I want to go on an outing, he says I'm being foolish. It's almost as if he feels if I'm going to die, why don't I hurry up and get it over with.

I talked to our minister, but he's the kind who believes the man is master of his house and a woman shouldn't speak out. I went away feeling it was my fault, that I was somehow selfish for bringing this down on the family.

I'm trying to keep the children from knowing anything is wrong. They're very young, and I want to make the few months I have with them full of love and pleasant memories. But I'm getting no help from my husband. I don't want pity, but I need his love and understanding, and all I get is cold withdrawal.

I have learned how to face death. Tell me how to face this kind of living. — NOT LONG

DEAR NOT LONG:

Try to understand that many men can't face grief —they fight it so bitterly that the objects of their grief — those they love best — think the bitterness is directed at them.

Perhaps this is what your minister meant: somehow a fatal illness generates courage in the person it strikes, but the courage doesn't extend to the frightened ones who will be left behind.

I can't believe your husband is unfeeling — he's numb with shock, or perhaps he's afraid to express how he feels for fear of breaking down. Talk this over with your doctor and I think you and he together can find a way to make these next months happier.—H.

Too Many 'Enriched' Foods?

BARBARA J. CULLITON
Science Service Writer

"Feel vitamin safe all day," the television sings, glorifying a breakfast food. And it sings true.

If you eat one of the vitamin-rich cereals for breakfast, you may very well get what they offer — 100 per cent of your body's minimum daily requirement of vitamins and minerals. You will also pay more for it. And your body will quietly but efficiently excrete most of the vitamins you feed it at lunch and dinner.

It is possible, however, that this kind of excess may soon be prohibited by law. The Food and Drug Administration has proposed regulations governing the promotion and sale of dietary supplemenst and vitamin-enriched foods. More important than cereals, common multiple vitamins and exotic health foods are also being asked to stand up and defend themselves against FDA claims that the manufacturers are deceiving the American housewife. They are offering, say FDA officials, protections the well-fed American people just do not need; eaters of balanced diets do not need diet supplements.

Back in 1941 the minimum daily requirements for vitamins and minerals were promulgated by the Government to educate the public.

IMPLYING that, if getting the minimum is good, getting 10 times as much is 10 times better, drug companies and food manufacturers offered pills containing up to 900 times the mdr of various nutrients, as well as foods concocted from upwards of 80 ingredients — more than the body is known to need — all in the name of good health, and all at a price.

The human body, however, is not easily taken in by exhorbitance. It is demanding, but not greedy and having used all the nutrients it can, and stored all it can comfortably and safely hold, it asks no more. And, because it uses vitamins and minerals mainly to metabolize food, it is not always grateful for being stuffed with little red pills, food supplements or food substitutes instead of rich red meat.

The question of nutritional needs was reevaluated a couple of years ago by scientists at the National Academy of Sciences who issued revised standards they call the recommended dietary allowances that look at physiologic needs and average living conditions in the United States, as well as variations among individuals. On the basis of this information, the Academy's nutrition board set its recommended allowances below the more commonly used minimum daily requirements, but still set levels ample enough to meet every normal need. For example the mdr for vitamin A is 4,000 units but the Academy's recommendation is 1,250 units of the same vitamin.

VITAMINS and Fortified Foods—Cereal that supplies all of your body's minimum daily requirements of vitamins and minerals are a waste of money unless breakfast is your only source of nourishment, say nutritionists.

AND SO, armed with evidence from the prestigious Academy and with some evidence of its own, FDA has proposed regulations to limit the vitamin-mineral content of some foods and change the labeling and advertising of others — or both. Commissioner James L. Goddard is taking a big jump into the arena of food economics. He is certainly carrying out his mandate from the President's Consumer Advisory Council to protect the buyer from the seller —even if the seller isn't really wicked. But before he is able to impose these judgments on the market place, he's in for a fight.

If FDA's proposed regulations become reality, companies that put out vitamin supplements and health foods will be more materially hurt than some of the major producers whose products would be only slightly altered. However, even the bigger manufacturers are objecting to the proposals.

Some breakfast foods are now fortified with eight vitamins — vitamin A, niacin, thiamine or B1, riboflavin or B2, vitamins B6 and B12, and vitamins C and D. The proposed alterations would limit the composition of these cereals to thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and iron on the theory that the consumer gets the rest of what he needs through other foods and is only wasting his money paying for them in cereal. The regulations would also control the promotion; the suggestion in an ad that a well-fed American needs enriched foods might come under a ban.

AT THIS POINT controversy flares sky high. There seem to be three camps, each arming itself for the inevitable and drawn-out battle of a public hearing and possible court fight where, in all likelihood, no one will win and few will really lose.

Some nutritional scientists, including members of the Academy, argue that recommended dietary allowances are indeed met by persons eating three varied meals a day, but reasonable as this sounds, a significant segment of the population does not eat wisely, substituting doughnuts and potato chips and soft drinks for other things. Therefore, they say, leave vitamin fortified foods alone.

Other anti-FDA factions say, "sure the people are wasting their money, but so what? It's a free country." And there is a serious question about FDA's legal right to step so far into an area where economics is as much the motivating factor as public health.

FDA already has the authority to regulate, in the interest of public health, the contents of foods and vitamin supplements as well as the authority to ban false promotion.

Anyone can say and many do.

Fruit Prices Due To Soar Because Of Poor Harvests

SACRAMENTO (AP)— Fresh fruit prices will soar as much as double the normal nationwide this fall and summer due to unusually poor California harvests, an expert predicted today.

"California produces virtually half of the fresh fruit in the nation," he said, "and our crops this year are probably down to 20 per cent of what is normally produced in California."

The villian was the unseasonably cold and wet spring, he said, which growers say caused millions of dollars of damage. But the housewife and her family will notice the difference on tables from California to Maine, McGregor said, because the state normally provides about two-thirds of the Bartlett pears in the nation and also supplies most of the country's apricots, nectarines, plums and grapes.

FRESH FRUITS are also reaching markets about three weeks late, he said.

McGregor especially expressed concern about the pear crop, which he said has major consequences on the canning industry. "We're only producing 95,000 tons — the smallest figure in 45 years."

California canners will have to import pears from out of state even to fill quotas for the pear tidbits in canned fruit cocktails, he said.

OREGON AND Washington pear crops survived substantially intact, he said, but even so they cannot fill California's normal production.

He said canneries already are offering double last season's prices.

"And our farmers aren't getting a break when you analyze it," McGregor said. "If you have practically nothing to sell it doesn't help to get twice as much."

"The growers don't have the pears to sell and some of them are going to take a tremendous loss," he said, adding that other growers were also suffering.

The reporting service announced at the same time that the July forecast for 10 principal California field crops is five per cent below the mark of a year ago.

SMALL GRAINS will be "the best in a decade," however, the service predicted. But sugar beets and rice will both be off.

The rice harvest — much of which now is exported to Vietnam — is expected to dip 16 per cent below last year, the service said.

McGregor said that all the tree crops especially could bounce back from the bad season since "the rain didn't hurt the trees any — just the fruit." He also expressed belief that California growers and farmers are sufficiently diversified to avoid going broke over the crop loss.

NO FIREWORKS
But Weekend Promises A Variety Of Meat, Fruit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There are no fireworks this year, just a fact for food shoppers: you'll find plenty of plentifuls for good eating at your favorite food store this weekend.

Among abundant meats are ground beef, roasts and steaks. Also the protein-plus in ham and eggs: both are in ample supply. Good supplies of broiler-fryers and turkeys are winging their way to market.

In your market's vegetable bins, watch for economical buys in cabbage, potatoes, carrots, onions and in some areas cucumbers.

Oranges and watermelons continue in fruitful supply, along with cantaloups and limes in some areas.

In your fish department, be on the lookout for fish fillets and steaks—both are tipping the scales in good supply this weekend.

IN THE WEST:

Pork prices trended upward in most West Coast markets; loins, boston butts, spareribs, picnics and shoulders were generally 1 to 2 cents higher than a week ago.

Choice steer beef prices were mostly unchanged in the Northwest, while in California markets an uneven price trend was noted.

Most dairy and poultry items are in ample supply at unchanged prices, although ready-to-cook fryer chickens may be up a cent in the Northwest and in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include bananas, cantaloups, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, watermelons, cabbage, carrots, onions and potatoes.

Mrs. Richard Gould Heads Hamilton Officers Wives

Mrs. Richard Scott Gould, wife of Major Gould of Hamilton Air Force Base is serving as president of the Offficers' Wives Club for the year. She has also served as treasurer of the organization.

Katherine, or Kay as she is known, counts among her interests being a Girl Scout leader, room mother, a member of Family Services, Red Cross volunteer, and a member of the Novato Squares square dance club.

The new president has also been in little theater prior to coming to Hamilton, sews a great deal and reads whenever she finds the time.

She has been a Cub Scout den mother for three years, coordinator of family services for one year, vice president of the Novato Squares and with her husband is serving jointly as president of the Golden Gate Nomads and field director of Northern California campers and hikers association.

The entire family enjoys being members of the Golden Gate Nomads. At least once a month the Goulds and their three daughters, Kathy 12, Karen 10 and Kauleen nine, camp out, taking trips no more than two hours drive from Hamilton.

The daughter of a military man, Kay had no problems adjusting to military life and traveling. She attended high school in Maine, the Rhode Island School of Design and the University of Minnesota.

This is the second time that the Goulds have had a tour of duty in California — they formerly were stationed at Travis Air Force Base. They have also lived in Washington, South Dakota, Texas, Morocco and France.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Boy's Parents Have Picked Up Tab And The Pieces Once Too Often

DEAR HELEN:

Our son broke into his first house and wrecked things when he was 12. He stole a car at 13. Since then, he's been in trouble with the law several times, but nothing really serious. At 16 he went to a State Farm for Boys, but he was railroaded, just because he happened to be with a bunch of boys who mugged an old man. After that, he jumped his parole and ran away, but we went after him and got him back before anyone found out. He has just made a girl pregnant but refuses to marry her so we must pay the bills. We have never let anyone suffer for his acts, having paid for the damages to the house and to the car, and other minor things.

Helen, the boy has had everything, including much love. He doesn't need to steal. Now we want him to either finish school or go to work, but he stays in bed until noon and refuses to use the good mind he was blessed with.

We feel that it may be his parole officer's fault as he doesn't give him much personal attention.

Helen, how can a boy make these mistakes when we've given him so much? What more can we do? — NUMBED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

You've done much too much already! By picking up the pieces — and the tab — after every escapade, you've taught this boy that crime has no real punishment, so long as Poppa's checkbook is handy.

Let him know he must pay his own way from now on, and if he commits a crime you won't be there to bail him out. I think you'll discover the parole officer will take a personal interest, once he learns you parents won't cave in. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I've always loved homemaking. Our family went on many picnics and camping trips before I got sick. My husband and I got along well before I learned that I had an incurable disease — cancer. At first it threw me for a loss, but I made myself realize that in the short time I had left, I'd try to enjoy my family, and not think of the bad times. I try to keep the housework up, and things on even keel.

But my husband hasn't kissed me once since we got the verdict. He doesn't seem interested in anything or anybody. We're in a financial mess and I'm sure he blames me for it. If I want to go on an outing, he says I'm being foolish. It's almost as if he feels if I'm going to die, why don't I hurry up and get it over with.

I talked to our minister, but he's the kind who believes the man is master of his house and a woman shouldn't speak out. I went away feeling it was my fault, that I was somehow selfish for bringing this down on the family.

I'm trying to keep the children from knowing anything is wrong. They're very young, and I want to make the few months I have with them full of love and pleasant memories. But I'm getting no help from my husband. I don't want pity, but I need his love and understanding, and all I get is cold withdrawal.

I have learned how to face death. Tell me how to face this kind of living. — NOT LONG

DEAR NOT LONG:

Try to understand that many men can't face grief —they fight it so bitterly that the objects of their grief — those they love best — think the bitterness is directed at them.

Perhaps this is what your minister meant: somehow a fatal illness generates courage in the person it strikes, but the courage doesn't extend to the frightened ones who will be left behind.

I can't believe your husband is unfeeling — he's numb with shock, or perhaps he's afraid to express how he feels for fear of breaking down. Talk this over with your doctor and I think you and he together can find a way to make these next months happier.—H.

Too Many 'Enriched' Foods?

BARBARA J. CULLITON
Science Service Writer

"Feel vitamin safe all day," the television sings, glorifying a breakfast food. And it sings true.

If you eat one of the vitamin-rich cereals for breakfast, you may very well get what they offer — 100 per cent of your body's minimum daily requirement of vitamins and minerals. You will also pay more for it. And your body will quietly but efficiently excrete most of the vitamins you feed it at lunch and dinner.

It is possible, however, that this kind of excess may soon be prohibited by law. The Food and Drug Administration has proposed regulations governing the promotion and sale of dietary supplemenst and vitamin-enriched foods. More important than cereals, common multiple vitamins and exotic health foods are also being asked to stand up and defend themselves against FDA claims that the manufacturers are deceiving the American housewife. They are offering, say FDA officials, protections the well-fed American people just do not need; eaters of balanced diets do not need diet supplements.

Back in 1941 the minimum daily requirements for vitamins and minerals were promulgated by the Government to educate the public.

IMPLYING that, if getting the minimum is good, getting 10 times as much is 10 times better, drug companies and food manufacturers offered pills containing up to 900 times the mdr of various nutrients, as well as foods concocted from upwards of 80 ingredients — more than the body is known to need — all in the name of good health, and all at a price.

The human body, however, is not easily taken in by exhorbitance. It is demanding, but not greedy and having used all the nutrients it can, and stored all it can comfortably and safely hold, it asks no more. And, because it uses vitamins and minerals mainly to metabolize food, it is not always grateful for being stuffed with little red pills, food supplements or food substitutes instead of rich red meat.

The question of nutritional needs was reevaluated a couple of years ago by scientists at the National Academy of Sciences who issued revised standards they call the recommended dietary allowances that look at physiologic needs and average living conditions in the United States, as well as variations among individuals. On the basis of this information, the Academy's nutrition board set its recommended allowances below the more commonly used minimum daily requirements, but still set levels ample enough to meet every normal need. For example the mdr for vitamin A is 4,000 units but the Academy's recommendation is 1,250 units of the same vitamin.

AND SO, armed with evidence from the prestigious Academy and with some evidence of its own, FDA has proposed regulations to limit the vitamin-mineral content of some foods and change the labeling and advertising of others — or both. Commissioner James L. Goddard is taking a big jump into the arena of food economics. He is certainly carrying out his mandate from the President's Consumer Advisory Council to protect the buyer from the seller —even if the seller isn't really wicked. But before he is able to impose these judgments on the market place, he's in for a fight.

If FDA's proposed regulations become reality, companies that put out vitamin supplements and health foods will be more materially hurt than some of the major producers whose products would be only slightly altered. However, even the bigger manufacturers are objecting to the proposals.

Some breakfast foods are now fortified with eight vitamins — vitamin A, niacin, thiamine or B1, riboflavin or B2, vitamins B6 and B12, and vitamins C and D. The proposed alterations would limit the composition of these cereals to thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and iron on the theory that the consumer gets the rest of what he needs through other foods and is only wasting his money paying for them in cereal. The regulations would also control the promotion; the suggestion in an ad that a well-fed American needs enriched foods might come under a ban.

AT THIS POINT controversy flares sky high. There seem to be three camps, each arming itself for the inevitable and drawn-out battle of a public hearing and possible court fight where, in all likelihood, no one will win and few will really lose.

Some nutritional scientists, including members of the Academy, argue that recommended dietary allowances are indeed met by persons eating three varied meals a day, but reasonable as this sounds, a significant segment of the population does not eat wisely, substituting doughnuts and potato chips and soft drinks for other things. Therefore, they say, leave vitamin fortified foods alone.

Other anti-FDA factions say, "sure the people are wasting their money, but so what? It's a free country." And there is a serious question about FDA's legal right to step so far into an area where economics is as much the motivating factor as public health.

FDA already has the authority to regulate, in the interest of public health, the contents of foods and vitamin supplements as well as the authority to ban false promotion.

Anyone can say and many do,

Fruit Prices Due To Soar Because Of Poor Harvests

SACRAMENTO (AP)— Fresh fruit prices will soar as much as double the normal nationwide this fall and summer due to unusually poor California harvests, an expert predicted today.

"California produces virtually half of the fresh fruit in the nation," he said, "and our crops this year are probably down to 20 per cent of what is normally produced in California."

The villian was the unseasonably cold and wet spring, he said, which growers say caused millions of dollars of damage. But the housewife and her family will notice the difference on tables from California to Maine, McGregor said, because the state normally provides about two-thirds of the Bartlett pears in the nation and also supplies most of the country's apricots, nectarines, plums and grapes.

FRESH FRUITS are also reaching markets about three weeks late, he said.

McGregor especially expressed concern about the pear crop, which he said has major consequences on the canning industry. "We're only producing 95,000 tons — the smallest figure in 45 years."

California canners will have to import pears from out of state even to fill quotas for the pear tidbits in canned fruit cocktails, he said.

OREGON AND Washington pear crops survived substantially intact, he said, but even so they cannot fill California's normal production.

He said canneries already are offering double last season's prices.

"And our farmers aren't getting a break when you analyze it," McGregor said. "If you have practically nothing to sell it doesn't help to get twice as much."

"The growers don't have the pears to sell and some of them are going to take a tremendous loss," he said, adding that other growers were also suffering.

The reporting service announced at the same time that the July forecast for 10 principal California field crops is five per cent below the mark of a year ago.

SMALL GRAINS will be "the best in a decade," however, the service predicted. But sugar beets and rice will both be off.

The rice harvest — much of which now is exported to Vietnam — is expected to dip 16 per cent below last year, the service said.

McGregor said that all the tree crops especially could bounce back from the bad season since "the rain didn't hurt the trees any — just the fruit." He also expressed belief that California growers and farmers are sufficiently diversified to avoid going broke over the crop loss.

for example, that vitamin C taken in massive doses helps prevent colds. Ill-advised people are free to spend thousands of dollars a year to buy it. However, because there is not one whit of sound medical evidence to back up this myth from the woman's pages of newspapers, anyone who specifically advertises vitamin C pills as cold preventatives can be prosecuted by FDA.

THIS KIND of power over nonprescription drugs and foods is power enough for FDA, critics say; let Goddard keep his personal philosophy on the free enterprise system to himself.

But James Goddard is not easily put down. He wants labels on fortified foods that say, "in prominent type," "Vitamins and minerals are supplied in abundant amounts in commonly available foods. Except for persons with special medical needs, there is no scientific basis for recommending routine uses of dietary supplements." Somebody, Goddard's office says, has got to tell the consumer that he does not really need all the fortification television says he does, and that somebody, according to the Commissioner, is FDA.

Carpets Strong On Pattern Look

CHICAGO (UPI)—Coming on strong in carpeting is the patterned look to compete with the plain.

New floor coverings on display at the semi-annual furniture market showed patterns produced by weave, tufting, printing, or by textured effects. Patterns include florals, contemporary versions of Oriental designs, flower and leaf designs, paisleys, and Moorish tile motifs. Also favored: fringe trims.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

The problem of what to do about commuter congestion on Marin's highways and the Golden Gate Bridge is one that grows more serious each year. In tomorrow's Independent - Journal Marin Magazine, a Marin old-timer, Art Giddings, reaches into the past to come up with his idea for a solution. It is one that will appeal to those who commuted before the building of the bridges, and which will intrigue more recent residents.

Marin has many artists, but only a few can claim that they work with media that are truly original and unusual. One such is Barbara Fredrick of Ross. Tomorrow's I-J weekend supplement will tell you about her imaginative yarn collages, and also about some of the other interests of this versatile woman. You can read her story, then see her work for yourself at a show now under way in a Petaluma art gallery.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

CHRISTMAS IN JULY

Ross Family Keeps Own Tradition

In a heavily wooded yard on Laurel Grove in Ross, back from the road a bit on either side of the driveway, stand two pine trees, now fully decorated with Christmas trimmings.

To retired Navy Capt. and Mrs. Charles F. White, the ever-growing trees symbolize a time of togetherness and offer them a constant reminder of their grandchildren 3000 miles away.

Seven years ago, for the first Christmas of their first grandchild, David Volk, the Whites decorated the first tree and later planted it in their yard. Shortly thereafter, their only daughter Diana, her husband, George, and David moved to the East.

Three years later, the Volks, now with a two-month old daughter, Heidi, returned for a Christmas visit. That was when the Whites planted the second tree and decorated it.

Every summer since, the grandchildren and their mother, have returned to Ross and the Whites have decorated the trees as a reminder of those earlier years.

The trees are about the same height now and, in fact, Heidi's tree is about to surpass her brother's. Originally, Mrs. White said she had to bend down to place the ornaments on them, but this year, "had to have the gardener climb up on our tallest ladder" to complete the custom.

The July Christmas has now become a neighborhood tradition, according to Mrs. White. "The children enjoy coming to see the trimmings and their mothers will only let them if they have been good," she said.

Volk, a former naval officer and now a design engineer in Syracuse, N.Y., doesn't make the return journey with his family each summer, but he can watch his youngsters grow throughout the year.

Second Deck Vote Put Off By Span Body

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors this morning declined to commit itself as yet for a go-ahead on the second deck.

A couple of directors objected, some on the second deck itself but mostly because they want to await a report of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission which is due July 20.

Chairman John Nelson of Mendocino County said he would bring the matter up again at the next meeting, July 28, in Santa Rosa.

Director John E. Dearman, of San Francisco, was especially critical of the second deck proposal. "I don't think it is solving the problem at all," said Dearman. "Also we are not taking into consideration the people in Sacramento that we represent."

He explained that the San Francisco Supervisors had not approved the second deck.

The Redwood Empire Assn. will continue to receive a $25,000 donation from the bridge district for publicity and advertising purposes. The bridge directors voted the outlay this morning by 11-to-1 vote with director Dearman opposing.

Dearman said, "I am still not completely aware of what the $25,000 is used for." Several directors, including Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, backed the $25,000 outlay, saying it was justified expense. This is the same amount the REA received the past year.

James Adams, general manager, reported another record year for traffic over the Gate Bridge ending fiscal year 1966-67. A total of 28,350,000 cars crossed the bridge which is almost a five per cent increase over the past fiscal year.

Still Missing

Linda Bernice Chase, 15, of 2013 Shady Lane, Novato, is still missing today, according to Novato police, who previously reported she left home Wednesday night saying she was going shopping but did not return.

RISING TENSIONS IN MARIN CITY?

By DAVID DIETZ

Police-community relations in Marin City are troubled, although no one seems to be doing anything about it.

The Marin County Human Rights Commission made this conclusion last night, and found many persons to blame.

"In the past two or three weeks, we've had two cases of police brutality which could have invited all sorts of havoc," asserted commissioner Arthur Brown. He did not give further details, and commissioners did not question him.

Chairman James Quiett felt a "very explosive" situation was prevented because the "sheriff kept a cool head." He blamed the residents and the commission itself.

"There's very little active participation on the part of the residents toward helping the condition, and it's about time we got off our ivory tower and went down there and unembalmed a few people," he said.

It also was brought out that the Marin City Police-Community Relations Committee, a five-member panel including four Human Rights commissioners, had not met in at least two months. The commission said this undoubtedly was because chairman Donald O'Leary of Tiburon had a heavy business schedule, and, since the committee had no vice chairman, meetings could not be called. It was stressed no blame should be placed on O'Leary, who is in the investment business.

The commission said a regular meeting schedule for the committee would be recommended.

In related action, commissioners, meeting in the Civic Center, agreed to write Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos and the board of supervisors seeking action on procedure under which the police relations committee could relay brutality complaints to the sheriff's office. It was recommended the committee be expanded to include three Marin City residents.

New policy under which the use of guns by sheriff's deputies would be restricted also was asked by the commission.

Robert Brauer, executive officer of the commission, urged a delay in police relations matters until Professor Gordon Misner of the University of California at Berkeley, hired with Mountanos' endorsement as a consultant, completes his analysis of the situation Aug. 4.

Misner, a member of President Johnson's Crime Commission, presented an interim report last night through Braue, as he was called to Washington earlier in the day Misner said he has arranged for Deputy Sheriff William Dews, police-community relations officer, to take work training either with the San Francisco Police Department or the San Mateo Sheriff's office.

Landowners Go It Alone In Tiburon

Two major Tiburon property owners last night refused an invitation to their own wedding proffered by the Tiburon Planning Commission.

A third property owner, Fred Zelinsky, who might have been best man, was absent.

Commissioner Rampton P. Harvey urged Northwestern Pacific Railroad, the Tiburon Peninsula Co., and Fred Zelinsky to wed their downtown plans so as to achieve "total development."

RAILROAD SAYS NO

The railroad spokesman Vance A. Wolfe replied that Northwestern Pacific prefers to develop alone its 35.5 acres of downtown land, and he reminded the commission that downtown zoning must be definite before concrete development plans are possible. He favored the idea of cooperation, however.

The planning commmission is now studying a proposed zoning ordinance to replace the interim zoning law that expires September 15.

Attorney Mathew Weinberg, speaking for the Tiburon Peninsula Co., agreed that proper zoning must come first, "to let us go ahead with our own plan" for development of 14 acres of tidal and submerged lands. But he, too, offered "cooperation" with other planners.

The two property owners earlier heard a recommendation from Commissioner Allan N. Littman that ownership of tidal and submerged lands should be checked by the city attorney.

DECISION DELAYED

The commission delayed until Monday any decision on plans from both downtown property owners. Each has requested zoning changes to accommodate unspecified development shcemes.

The commission also refused by a 5-to-2 vote to change zoning for the Hilarita housing site that would increase population density there.

Quentin Inmates Out For Retrials

Leaving the prison were Rufus Wilson, 45, convicted of killing his ex-wife and her boy friend in Los Angeles and Thomas Varnum, 43, who killed a service station attendant in the course of a Los Angeles robbery.

A U.S. District Court order which ordered stays of execution for men awaiting death sentences did not affect any other legal actions that are ongoing, Asst. Warden James W. L. Park said today.

Marin City Blazes Set, Car Tipped

Two more grass fires were reported in Marin City last night and, while one was being fought, someone overturned a Volkswagen owned by Sheriff's Deputy John A. Earl of Marin City.

County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom said the fires ar becoming an every day occurrence, seven having been reported Wednesday night, all set by arsonists.

At 8:58 p.m. yesterday, a fire was reported behind the Recreation Center on Drake Avenue. There was no damage and Bloom said the cause was not evident.

At midnight the second fire broke out and burned a half-acre at 69 Cole Street. "This was definitely set," said the chief.

While officers were distracted by the midnight fire, Earl's car was overturned in a parking lot near his apartment at 309 Drake Avenue. No suspects were apprehended.

Brilliant Meteor Lights Up Bay Sky

A meteor described "as bright as the full moon" flashed over Marin and the Bay Area at 8:45 p.m., yesterday.

Spectators described the meteor as bluish white, very bright and said it appeared to break up as it moved from northeast to the southwestern horizon.

Coroner Reports LSD In Tam Hiker's Body

Death of Terrance J. McGrath, 20, of San Francisco in a sleeping bag on Mount Tamalpais June 11 may have been due to aspyxiation which may have been brought on indirectly by LSD, Marin Coroner Donovan O. Cooke said today.

He said he was being "purposely vague" in his official report on the death of the young hiker, who could not be roused by companions at 9:30 a.m. at Pan Toll campsite.

LSD NOT TESTED

Cooke said today LSD found both in McGrath's stomach and in his belongings was never checked for impurities.

Neither was there investigation of the possibility that the death might have resulted from chemicals used in dry-cleaning the sleeping bag, an occasional cause of asphyxiation if the bag is not properly aired before use, according to Cooke.

The cleaning fluid theory was suggested to the coroner's office several weeks ago by the Independent-Journal.

"I know this does happen," Cooke said today. He said he would find out if the bag had been recently cleaned.

CASE 'CLOSED'

But Cooke maintained today that the case of the mysterious death was "officially closed" as far as his office was concerned.

Cooke, who ruled out foul play some time ago, said exhaustive pathological tests were conducted. Formation of small clots in the brain indicated "some evidence of asphyxiation." There was also .2 of a milligram of LSD in McGrath's stomach and a small amount of alcohol, Cooke said.

"Asphyxiation could have been caused by rolling his face into the pillow," Cooke said. But on closer questioning, Cooke could not say if McGrath were sleeping with a pillow or not.

McGrath and eight other hiking companions were on the mountain to attend the Fantasy Festival.

HIKERS' STORY

His fellow hikers reported McGrath climbed into his sleeping bag at 8:30 p.m. and immediately fell asleep. There was heavy breathing during the night, He was unable to be aroused at 10:15 a.m. the following day and was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Cooke said a search of McGrath's belonging disclosed a capsule containing 0.2 milligrams of LSD.

Because no trace of LSD is found once it has left the stomach and entered the blood, Dr. Cooke said it was unknown how big a dose McGrath had taken before death interrupted absorption.

In his official report on the death yesterday, Cooke said cause of death was "asphyxiation probably related to LSD ingestion." He said today that "probably" might have been too strong a ward.

The LSD in McGrath's stomach and in his belongings was not tested for impurities, the coroner said.

Hub, Fairfax Plan Valley Unity Drive

Fairfax and San Anselmo councilmen last night agreed to establish a joint committee on mutual problems, launch an effort to unite all Ross Valley cities for a voice on county issues and attack common traffic problems.

The joint committee will be composed of two councilmen each from Fairfax and San Anselmo. Each council is to take action at their next meetings to approve the committee and make appointments.

There was a strong atmosphere of accord at last night's session at the Fairfax Women's Club.

"We recognize our problems are nearly identical," San Anselmo Mayor Arthur W. Smith said.

"Our biggest problem," according to Fairfax Mayor George Pagni, "is to make our master plans jibe."

The councilmen also urged formation of a council of Ross Valley cities in an effort to "get our voices heard in county issues."

Pagni emphasized the importance of recruiting as many cities as possible in the Ross Valley area into the organization to attain a stronger voice.

"Imagine even one person at a meeting of the board of supervisors who can say 'I represent these cities and we are opposed to this action."

In an effort to solve the traffic flow problems between the two cities, San Anselmo Councilman Robert M. Scott suggested Fairfax explore the possibility of joining San Anselmo in a $7,500 traffic flow survey.

"As I understand it, Fairfax street plans are based on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Center Boulevard going one way in either direction—and that is not necessarily what's going to be done," Smith said.

Teen-Age Girls Missing In Hub

Missing are Judith Ann Glodnis, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glodnis of 25 Madrone Avenue, described as five feet, three inches tall, weighing 110 pounds, with short brown hair and brown eyes, last seen wearing an orange sweater and orange slacks;

And Louise Ann Thomson, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Thomson of 216 Laurel Avenue, described as five feet, six inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, with long blond hair, blue eyes, last seen wearing blue jeans, a burgundy turtleneck sweater and a suede jacket.

Teen-Age Novato Boy Missing From Home

Frank Edward Cooter III, of 40 San Joaquin Place, Novato, has been missing from his home since about 8 a.m. yesterday, Novato police reported today.

Mrs. Vyde Woodward Cooter, 42, his mother, said Frank is five feet eight inches tall, of thin build, weighing 125 pounds with brown hair and eyes. He was wearing light grey trousers, white knit shirt and black shoes when he left home, his mother reported to police.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

CHRISTMAS IN JULY

Ross Family Keeps Own Tradition

In a heavily wooded yard on Laurel Grove in Ross, back from the road a bit on either side of the driveway, stand two pine trees, now fully decorated with Christmas trimmings.

To retired Navy Capt. and Mrs. Charles F. White, the ever-growing trees symbolize a time of togetherness and offer them a constant reminder of their grandchildren 3000 miles away.

Seven years ago, for the first Christmas of their first grandchild, David Volk, the Whites decorated the first tree and later planted it in their yard. Shortly thereafter, their only daughter Diana, her husband, George, and David moved to the East.

Three years later, the Volks, now with a two-month old daughter, Heidi, returned for a Christmas visit. That was when the Whites planted the second tree and decorated it.

Every summer since, the grandchildren and their mother, have returned to Ross and the Whites have decorated the trees as a reminder of those earlier years.

The trees are about the same height now and, in fact, Heidi's tree is about to surpass her brother's. Originally, Mrs. White said she had to bend down to place the ornaments on them, but this year, "had to have the gardener climb up on our tallest ladder" to complete the custom.

The July Christmas has now become a neighborhood tradition, according to Mrs. White. "The children enjoy coming to see the trimmings and their mothers will only let them if they have been good," she said.

Volk, a former naval officer and now a design engineer in Syracuse, N.Y., doesn't make the return journey with his family each summer, but he can watch his youngsters grow throughout the year.

Opening lead — ♣ K

Sammy Kehela of Toronto won with the ace of clubs and looked for nine tricks without risking a heart lead through his king.

East then played the six of hearts, and Kehela thought.

And thought.

And thought some more.

West might hold 10-7-2 or A-10-2 of hearts.

If West held four hearts he would not have played the deuce; and if West held only two hearts, South was safe no matter which card he now played.

CONSIDERS OPPONENT

Kehela thought that Svarc would probably signal deceptively with the seven if he held 10-7-2 of hearts.

Moreover, with this holding West might well open a heart.

The king of clubs was a desperate lead, indicating that West's hearts were just as unleadable as his clubs.

By this time 12 minutes had elapsed, and Kehela had reduced a handkerchief to a soggy mess after mopping his forehead a few dozen times.

Kehela finally played the eight of hearts and made his contract.

West could take the ten and ace of hearts, but then Kehela had the rest.

If Kehela had played the king of hearts the defenders would have taken five hearts and the king of diamonds, collecting a penalty of 200 points.

It was 12 minutes well spent.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:

♡ A 10 2
♣ K J 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Despite the 5-card support for partner's suit, this is a weak hand and you can afford only a weak response.

You would jump to four spades if one of your small diamonds were changed to any other suit.

Today is Friday, July 14th, the 195th day of 1967 with 170 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning star is Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Born on this day in 1918 was Swedish film director Ingmar Bergman.

On this day in history.

In 1789, the French stormed the Bastille Prison in Paris, a day now commemorated as a national holiday in France.

In 1798, Congress passed the Sedition Act, making it a crime to publish any "false, scandalous and malicious" writings against the government, congress or the president.

In 1965, U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson died of a heart attack in London.

In 1966, eight nurses were murdered on the South Side of Chicago. Wanderer Richard Speck was later convicted of the crime and sentenced to death.

A thought for the day — British novelist Charles Dickens once said: "There are books of which the backs and covers are by far the best parts."

Even The Greatest Of Players May Need To Think For A While

What goes through a great player's mind when he thinks for 12 minutes at his turn to play?

REMEMBER

the old brown shingle houses you use to find in small towns? They usually had a big front veranda, and like as not, they'd have a couple of palms planted out in front. Inside you'd find a big living room with a brick fireplace, a couple of bedrooms, and a big family kitchen. Naturally they all had a big backyard and a cellar to store preserves. Well, we've just found one that fits the whole description, and if you'd like to see it, we'll be glad to show it to you this weekend. $19,250.

REMEMBER

the old brown shingle houses you use to find in small towns? They usually had a big front veranda, and like as not, they'd have a couple of palms planted out in front. Inside you'd find a big living room with a brick fireplace, a couple of bedrooms, and a big family kitchen. Naturally they all had a big backyard and a cellar to store preserves. Well, we've just found one that fits the whole description, and if you'd like to see it, we'll be glad to show it to you this weekend. $19,250.

Unruh Reviews Surplus Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Lieutenant governors from 41 states met in San Francisco yesterday and heard a call for detailed economic planning for the use of surplus money available at the end of the Vietnam war.

California Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh — considered the most influential Democrat in the state—made the suggestion at the opening of the Sixth National Conference of Lieutenant Governors.

Unruh warned that "Peace in Vietnam will be welcome, and so will be the federal surplus that accompanies it. But welcome as it is, such a surplus would produce a fiscal drag on the economy unless it could be redeploy relatively quickly."

Suspects' Hiding Charge Holds

U.S. Commissioner John Childress ruled yesterday that the seriousness of the charge prevented him from reducing her $15,000 bond or freeing her without bail.

Mrs. Pompa and two men were accused by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of hiding Victor Bono and Florencio Mationg shortly after border patrolmen George Azrak and Theodore Newton Jr. were found bound and shot through the heads last June 19.

Mrs. Pompa is scheduled for preliminary hearings before the commissioner July 27.

Both Bono and Mationg are on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted list.

Small Rattlesnake Killed In Fairfax

A two-foot rattlesnake with five rattles was killed yesterday afternoon in Fairfax after it was found by a dog under the porch of the home of Mrs. Edna Miller, 25 Forest Terrace.

Mrs. Miller reported her weimaraner, Cassie, shook the snake. Mrs. Miller hit it with a garden rake and her neighbor, Ray Hansen, of 37 Forest Terrace "finished it off."

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Event' Programs Gaining Momentum

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Event programming" is a term heard often in television circles these days. What this means is that there will be an upturn in special broadcasts because of their proven success in the past year and because viewers are tiring of the usual series formats. If one is to believe the promotion, the new season will be an explosion of "event programming."

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

It is all very nice, of course, and any change in network television programming has to be for the better. But while one looks forward to the "event" broadcasts on the entertainment schedule, knowing full well many of them will be promoted far beyond their worth, the real potential excitement is in the possibility that the news and public affairs departments will also step up their "event" programs.

They have done this of late—that is, they have made news instead of just rehashing it in their documentaries—and the trend, slight as it may seem, holds forth much promise if it can continue. In the last month or so, some of the network public affairs "specials" have caused the kind of audience interest and excitement that one associates with the medium's earlier days, and with aggressive journalism in general.

FOR EXAMPLE

For example, on June 19 NBC-TV presented an hour called "The JFK Conspiracy: The Case of Jim Garrison." This broadcast went into the case of the New Orleans district attorney in his exploration of an alleged conspiracy in the assassination of President Kennedy, and it made news. So much, in fact, that Garrison will appear on NBC-TV for a half-hour Saturday at 8 p.m. EDT to reply to the network's criticisms of his case and methods.

On June 25, CBS-TV began a four-part examination of the Warren Commission report on the Kennedy assassination, and this also made news, although not as spectacular as the NBC-TV documentary because it generally agreed with the official study of the murder. Nonetheless, it was a genuine television—and national—event, and if one is to believe the ratings are anywhere near accurate, it attracted a whopping audience.

This past Tuesday, NBC-TV presented an hour entitled "Khrushchev in Exile: His Opinions and Revelations," offering exclusive voice tapes and films of the former Soviet premier in retirement. And this too was a newsmaker.

NOT NETWORKS

It is true that the networks have, in a sense, made news in their weekly interview programs such as "Meet the Press," "Face the Nation" and "Issues and Answers." Yet, in a more accurate sense, it is not the networks—but those they interview—who really make the news. On the other hand, programs like NBC-TV's on Garrison and Khrushchev, and CBS-TV's on the Kennedy assassination, were the specific results of television constructions.

So it has been a good, and perhaps pivotal, month for network television news. Suddenly a long-lost spark has been found again. If "event programming" continues its frequent excursions into the public affairs area, the next season will really be a special one.

Union Claims Newspapers Are 'Healthy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild said today the newspaper industry "is by its own admission one of the nation's healthiest" and urged rejection of an antitrust law exemption proposed as a step to save failing publications.

But Richard L. Jones Jr., president of the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune Co., said the legislation is needed urgently to preserve editorial competition by permitting commercial cooperation in his and other cities.

A joint operating agreement, covering business and commercial operations like advertising and circulation, between the Arizona Star of Tucson and the Tucson Daily Citizen is now under court challenge. Both papers are owned by William Small Jr., who contends joint operation in all but the editorial field is essential lest the Citizen go out of business.

New President

HAYWARD (AP) — Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, state college chancellor, named Dr. Ellis McCune yesterday to become acting president of California State College at Hayward on Sept. 1.

You are what you read

Has the new man already tried out your desk?

HOWARD RUFF, Director
Evelyn Wood
Reading Dynamics Institute

Why try to fight the competition? Join it by trying out the new desk you would like to occupy. The step from salesman to salesmanager—junior account man to senior account man—administrative assistant to office supervisor—is easily achieved when you walk with knowledge. Whether you are a Ph.D. or successful graduate of the School of Hard Knocks, your promotion potential depends on your ability to keep up with all of the new knowledge pertinent to your field. If you read reasonably fast, you have a headstart. But if you Read Dynamically, you will finish first in the race for company recognition.

American business has long recognized the value of rapid reading power by enrolling their key personnel in courses developed by The Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. Reading Dynamics is the definitive rapid reading method in the world today. Its distinguished corporate alumni includes such companies as Shell Development, Hewlett-Packard, Lockheed and International Telephone and Telegraph.

The Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute offers you an unequivocal performance warranty to increase your reading efficiency at least three times. This is a minimum promise. The average Northern California Reading Dynamics graduate increases his speed over seven times. In all likelihood you will be able to read between 2000 to 3000 words a minute with full comprehension and enjoyment.

Reading Dynamics is not just another refined skim reading development. It is a unique depth reading discovery that enables you to read with lightning speeds without skimming; with remarkable recall and perceptiveness.

Reading Dynamics courses are business oriented. Most of our evening sessions place special emphasis on reading memos, reports, technical manuals, reference materials and trade journals. We recognize the importance of reading for both pleasure and profit.

From both an individual and corporate standpoint, Reading Dynamically is a money-making accomplishment. Men who read three to seven times faster and more efficiently are bound to translate this extraordinary skill into the kind of productivity that leads to more responsible jobs, larger salaries and a heightened personnel net worth to their employers. This thinking is no idle claim. It has been documented time and time again by the references and testimonials of many major companies and eminent businessmen who credit the Reading Dynamics Institute with the fulfillment of their professional goals. Reading Dynamics really works. Isn't it time to put this proven promotion achiever to work for you.

Unruh Reviews Surplus Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Lieutenant governors from 41 states met in San Francisco yesterday and heard a call for detailed economic planning for the use of surplus money available at the end of the Vietnam war.

California Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh — considered the most influential Democrat in the state—made the suggestion at the opening of the Sixth National Conference of Lieutenant Governors.

Unruh warned that "Peace in Vietnam will be welcome, and so will be the federal surplus that accompanies it. But welcome as it is, such a surplus would produce a fiscal drag on the economy unless it could be redeploy relatively quickly."

Suspects' Hiding Charge Holds

U.S. Commissioner John Childress ruled yesterday that the seriousness of the charge prevented him from reducing her $15,000 bond or freeing her without bail.

Mrs. Pompa and two men were accused by the Federal Bureau of Investigation of hiding Victor Bono and Florencio Mationg shortly after border patrolmen George Azrak and Theodore Newton Jr. were found bound and shot through the heads last June 19.

Mrs. Pompa is scheduled for preliminary hearings before the commissioner July 27.

Both Bono and Mationg are on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted list.

Small Rattlesnake Killed In Fairfax

A two-foot rattlesnake with five rattles was killed yesterday afternoon in Fairfax after it was found by a dog under the porch of the home of Mrs. Edna Miller, 25 Forest Terrace.

Mrs. Miller reported her weimaraner, Cassie, shook the snake. Mrs. Miller hit it with a garden rake and her neighbor, Ray Hansen, of 37 Forest Terrace "finished it off."

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Event' Programs Gaining Momentum

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Event programming" is a term heard often in television circles these days. What this means is that there will be an upturn in special broadcasts because of their proven success in the past year and because viewers are tiring of the usual series formats. If one is to believe the promotion, the new season will be an explosion of "event programming."

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

It is all very nice, of course, and any change in network television programming has to be for the better. But while one looks forward to the "event" broadcasts on the entertainment schedule, knowing full well many of them will be promoted far beyond their worth, the real potential excitement is in the possibility that the news and public affairs departments will also step up their "event" programs.

They have done this of late—that is, they have made news instead of just rehashing it in their documentaries—and the trend, slight as it may seem, holds forth much promise if it can continue. In the last month or so, some of the network public affairs "specials" have caused the kind of audience interest and excitement that one associates with the medium's earlier days, and with aggressive journalism in general.

FOR EXAMPLE

For example, on June 19 NBC-TV presented an hour called "The JFK Conspiracy: The Case of Jim Garrison." This broadcast went into the case of the New Orleans district attorney in his exploration of an alleged conspiracy in the assassination of President Kennedy, and it made news. So much, in fact, that Garrison will appear on NBC-TV for a half-hour Saturday at 8 p.m. EDT to reply to the network's criticisms of his case and methods.

On June 25, CBS-TV began a four-part examination of the Warren Commission report on the Kennedy assassination, and this also made news, although not as spectacular as the NBC-TV documentary because it generally agreed with the official study of the murder. Nonetheless, it was a genuine television—and national—event, and if one is to believe the ratings are anywhere near accurate, it attracted a whopping audience.

This past Tuesday, NBC-TV presented an hour entitled "Khrushchev in Exile: His Opinions and Revelations," offering exclusive voice tapes and films of the former Soviet premier in retirement. And this too was a newsmaker.

NOT NETWORKS

It is true that the networks have, in a sense, made news in their weekly interview programs such as "Meet the Press," "Face the Nation" and "Issues and Answers." Yet, in a more accurate sense, it is not the networks—but those they interview—who really make the news. On the other hand, programs like NBC-TV's on Garrison and Khrushchev, and CBS-TV's on the Kennedy assassination, were the specific results of television constructions.

So it has been a good, and perhaps pivotal, month for network television news. Suddenly a long-lost spark has been found again. If "event programming" continues its frequent excursions into the public affairs area, the next season will really be a special one.

Union Claims Newspapers Are 'Healthy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild said today the newspaper industry "is by its own admission one of the nation's healthiest" and urged rejection of an antitrust law exemption proposed as a step to save failing publications.

But Richard L. Jones Jr., president of the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune Co., said the legislation is needed urgently to preserve editorial competition by permitting commercial cooperation in his and other cities.

A joint operating agreement, covering business and commercial operations like advertising and circulation, between the Arizona Star of Tucson and the Tucson Daily Citizen is now under court challenge. Both papers are owned by William Small Jr., who contends joint operation in all but the editorial field is essential lest the Citizen go out of business.

New President

HAYWARD (AP) — Dr. Glenn S. Dumke, state college chancellor, named Dr. Ellis McCune yesterday to become acting president of California State College at Hayward on Sept. 1.

You are what you read

Has the new man already tried out your desk?

HOWARD RUFF, Director
Evelyn Wood
Reading Dynamics Institute

Why try to fight the competition? Join it by trying out the new desk you would like to occupy. The step from salesman to salesmanager—junior account man to senior account man—administrative assistant to office supervisor—is easily achieved when you walk with knowledge. Whether you are a Ph.D. or successful graduate of the School of Hard Knocks, your promotion potential depends on your ability to keep up with all of the new knowledge pertinent to your field. If you read reasonably fast, you have a headstart. But if you Read Dynamically, you will finish first in the race for company recognition.

American business has long recognized the value of rapid reading power by enrolling their key personnel in courses developed by The Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. Reading Dynamics is the definitive rapid reading method in the world today. Its distinguished corporate alumni includes such companies as Shell Development, Hewlett-Packard, Lockheed and International Telephone and Telegraph.

The Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute offers you an unequivocal performance warranty to increase your reading efficiency at least three times. This is a minimum promise. The average Northern California Reading Dynamics graduate increases his speed over seven times. In all likelihood you will be able to read between 2000 to 3000 words a minute with full comprehension and enjoyment.

Reading Dynamics is not just another refined skim reading development. It is a unique depth reading discovery that enables you to read with lightning speeds without skimming; with remarkable recall and perceptiveness.

Reading Dynamics courses are business oriented. Most of our evening sessions place special emphasis on reading memos, reports, technical manuals, reference materials and trade journals. We recognize the importance of reading for both pleasure and profit.

From both an individual and corporate standpoint, Reading Dynamically is a money-making accomplishment. Men who read three to seven times faster and more efficiently are bound to translate this extraordinary skill into the kind of productivity that leads to more responsible jobs, larger salaries and a heightened personnel net worth to their employers. This thinking is no idle claim. It has been documented time and time again by the references and testimonials of many major companies and eminent businessmen who credit the Reading Dynamics Institute with the fulfillment of their professional goals. Reading Dynamics really works. Isn't it time to put this proven promotion achiever to work for you.

MARIN FILM FARE

Agent 007's Latest Outdazzles Them All

By LESLIE DARD

A look at this weekend's Marin movie scene!

RAFAEL THEATER

James Bond is here again in his latest espionage "You Only Live Twice." Each 007 film is more lavish than the last, and this is no exception.

Gadgets galore complement the usual sort of tale— short on sublety but long on unexpected twists, luscious girls and death-defying action.

Sean Connery again takes the role of Bond in a mission that begins when one of our spaceships is hijacked in orbit. Fantastic, yes, but good entertainment.

NOVATO THEATER

Now on screen is the sequel to "A Fistful of Dollars" of a few months ago, an art-film Western that achieved surprising success.

It's "For A Few Dollars More," and again stars Clint Eastwood as an enigmatic "man-with-no-name." He's a bounty hunter who sees himself as a sort of avenging angel. In this show he comes into violent conflict with another bounty hunter, of slightly higher scruples.

101 DRIVE-IN

"Georgy Girl" is now showing again — possibly the most delightful show of the past cinema season.

It introduces Lynn Redgrave as a girl whose large, awkward frame hides a sensitive, loving soul. She's always the bystander, the onlooker to other peoples' lives, until . . .

But come and see for yourself. You won't regret it. Co-featured is an excellent espionage film, probably as painfully true to life as you'd wish to come. "The Deadly Affair" stars James Mason.

MOTOR MOVIES

Sharif plays a Nazi intelligence officer assigned to track down the murderer of a prostitue in occupied Warsaw. He knows only that the culprit is one of the Nazi high command in the city.

SEQUOIA THEATER

FAIRFAX THEATER

The awesome and varied spectacle of Russia's troubled entrance into the 20th Century is told with deep spirit and poignancy in "Doctor Zhivago."

Boris Pasternak's epic novel suffers little in the transposition from print to film. Omar Sharif is magnificent in the role of Zhivago, a problem-ridden poet-doctor. His wife is played by a newcomer who lives up to her family name, Geraldine Chaplin, and Julie Christie plays Lara, Zhivago's evanescent, haunting love.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Sandy Dennis takes the lead in the screen version of Bel Kaufman's popular novel, "Up the Down Staircase."

It's the powerfully sensitive story of a young teacher who begins work in an underprivileged area of New York. The red tape, the kids, the parents, the disillusionment of learning always the hard way . . . all portrayed with the soul and feeling such a subject deserves.

Sometimes funny, often stirring and fascinating.

NORTHGATE THEATER

Michael Caine is the big star in "Hurry Sundown," holding over here.

The setting is a small Georgia town, just after World War II Caine attempts to manipulate a crooked land deal, and the film depicts the ensuing interactions of the townspeople. Race, love, hate, greed and dying traditions all play important roles.

LARK THEATER

This in-depth study of a young woman comes to life through notably excellent performances, direction and photography.

Strictly for adults.

'How To Succeed In Baseball Without Hitting'

Baseball should be back to normal tonight at Candlestick Park when Juan Marichal (12-7) pitches for the San Francisco Giants against the Houston Astros.

They have played some ridiculous games at Candlestick Park over the last half dozen years but few to compare with the one the Giants and Astros contrived there yesterday.

Once a pitcher—Stu Miller—was blown off the mound in an All-Star game. On another occasion they had to put off the World Series for four days because of a flood. Hundreds of other games at the stadium, hard on San Francisco Bay, have been decided by the wind, either by helping a routine fly over the fence or by stopping a potential homer short where it could be caught.

Yesterday the wind blew and the dust flew but it had nothing to do with the outcome of a 5-4 Giants victory over the Astros. Sure, it caused Willie Mays to strike out once, because just as the ball reached the plate for the final strike Mays' head was engulfed in a swirl of dust and he lost track of the ball.

On another play, Houston third baseman Bob Aspromonte had trouble finding a topped ball because just as he bent to pick it up, it got lost in some hot dog wrappers, caught by the wind and sent swirling onto the field.

The Astros were chugging along behind a 4-3 lead into the ninth inning. Willie McCovey caught a "just perfect" pitch by Carroll Sembera and sent it some 400 feet over the fence to tie the score and force the game into extra innings.

The Astros, who had 12 hits—all singles—and five walks and managed to convert them into just four runs, went out quietly in the top of the 10th and Tom Haller introduced the bottom half of the inning for the Giants with a single.

Hal Lanier bunted, right in front of the plate, and Haller was nailed at second. However Lanier, who would have been an easy second out on the play, was awarded first because Astros first baseman Chuck Harrison was called for obstruction by umpire Doug Harvey.

"I had my head down and was surprised when I ran into him," said Lanier. "He was standing right in the base line."

Harrison, who drove in two runs for the Astros, including the fourth one, saw it differently.

"He (Lanier) ran out of the base path and should have been called out," said Harrison. "It wasn't a good call."

That play set the stage for as weird a windup as you could have imagined after Jay Alou walked to put runners on first and second.

Dick Groat hit a shot right back to the box and Sembera Houston's fifth pitcher, scooped it up and fired to second where shortstop Sonny Jackson dropped the ball. While he groped for it in the dust, Lanier, who had reached third by then, kept right on going and made it home standing up as the harried Jackson threw the ball away for his second error on the same play. It should have been an inning ending double play.

The official scorer originally called an error on Sembera for a low throw, but after checking the players involved, changed his mind and gave Jackson two errors.

Lost in the shuffle of the three hour and 40 minute game were two long home runs by Jim Hart, his fifth and sixth in the last four games. They were Nos. 15 and 16 on the year for Jim and with a sacrifice fly he was the whole Giant attack

Mullins Really Swung A Hundred Grand Deal

BIG DEAL — Franklin Mieuli was sitting in his office Monday, probably doodling funny pictures of Rick Barry and just minding his own business, which happens to be the San Francisco Warriors, when a long-distance call came in form Charlotte, N.C.

"Hello, Franklin?" came the drawl from the long end of the horn. "This is Jeff. Jeff Mullins. Remember me? Number 23. Candy's husband. Forty-two points in one game?"

"Jeffy, baby! Do I REMEMBER you? Is the Pope a Catholic? Is the Rabbi a Jew? Do fish swim? Of course I remember you. How's the little woman? And mom and dad and . . ."

How Is Teammate Rick?

"Oh, they're just fine, Mr. Mieuli. How's everybody out there in The City, the Cable Cars and Stars? And how is my good friend and teammate, Rick?"

"Rick who?"

"Oh, I forgot. Well, anyway, Mr. Mieuli, what I called about is strictly business. You see, Louisville of that new league, the American Basketball Association, has offered me a pretty good contract. Candy and I have been talking it over and, gee, Mr. Mieuli, I just can't turn it down. I'm going to sign the contract tonight. I just thought I'd call and say goodbye. . ."

"Ha-ha, Jeffy-baby. That's a good 'un. A real knee-slapper. You ARE a comic. And did you hear the one about the farmer's daugh . . . you're going to sign WHAT with WHOM????"

Yoo Can't Do This To Me

"Um-hm, Mr. Mieuli. You see, it's like this. . ."

"Oh, Jeffy-baby. You've GOT to be kidding. You can't leave me at a time like this, Champ. After the way Ricky jumped all the way across the bay to Oakland and Clyde Lee sneaked out on me, I'm at wit's end. I'm running out of stars for by cable cars. Why, the Warriors without Jeff Mullins would be like flat champagne. You're the buble in our eye, Jeffy. Now you just stay right where you are. Don't move. And for heaven's sake, don't sign anything. Not even an autograph for a little kid with white buckskin shoes. The way Pat Boone swiped you-know-who from me, I wouldn't trust Santa Claus anymore. I'll have our sharp general manager, Bobby Feerick, fly back there on the next plane and we'll match anything those big bullies from Louisville have to offer."

That, roughly, is the way Mullins, the Tiburon Terror on leave back east, negotiated his new contract with Mr. Mieuli, San Francisco's greatest athletic supporter. Mullins told Mieuli and Feerick that Louisville offered him a three-year contract worth $100,000.

High Rate For Second Stringer

And that, according to insiders is exactly the amount he will receive from the Warriors.

Sounds pretty exhorbitant, but $33,333.33 per year is the going rate for second string guards — which Mullins was — now that Boone et al have crashed into the scene.

Mullins looms big in the Warrior plans now that the broad jumper has leaped across the bay. During the regular season Jeff averaged 12.9 points per game, but in the 15 post-season playoff games he hiked that average to 17.7, second only to Ricky Deadeye. He's great under pressure.

Before Mullins left for the east, he told me he loves his place in Tiburon but will move to San Francisco when he returns because he doesn't like commuting.

Too bad Marin has to lose one of its rich residents. And he sure knows how to swing a deal, wouldn't you say?

De Vicenzo Grabs British Open Lead

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — Roberto de Vicenzo, the grand old man of the Argentine who has been shooting for the title for 20 years, fired a record-equalling five-under-par 67 today for 209 and grabbed a two-stroke lead over Gary Player of South Africa with one round to play in the British Open Golf Championship.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, the 36-hole co-leader, fell off the pace in a day of blazing scoring with a 71 for 211.

The balding, 44-year-old de Vincenzo, who has finished second or third six times and in the top six eight times since 1948, registered his 67 shortly after Player had come in with the same score, a record for the Hoylake course.

Player was in second place at 210, followed by Nicklaus, the big bear from Columbus, Ohio, at 211.

As scores hit an amazing low after a night of thundershowers, Clive Clark, the 22-year-old English professional, and Bruce Devlin of Australia were at 212.

Clark shot a 72, Devlin a 69.

Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., the former U.S. and British amateur champion who turned pro just this year, also shared in the low-scoring spree with a 68 for 216.

Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., played well from tee to green but couldn't score and settled for a 73 and 217. Bert Yancey of Philadelphia had a 71 for 219 and Phil Rogers of San Diego blew himself out with a 77 for 224.

Nicklaus, out in one-under-par 35, took a fat six at the 14th hole, which spoiled his round. He wasn't putting as well as yesterday when he tied Devlin for the second round lead.

Beman knocked four shots from par despite a double bogey at the fourth hole. He reeled off four birdies in the space of six holes on the incoming nine, three in a row. He chipped in from off the green on one hole.

De Vicenzo said after his round: "I think this should be the year for an Argentinian to win—and I hope so. Jurado finished second to Tommy Armour in the 1931 British Open, Tony Cerda, Leopoldo Ruis and myself all have been near."

He added:

"I putted real well today. I had a total of only 31 putts.

"I thought I had it going at the seventh where I sank a 13 foot putt. And so it turned out.

"I thought that if I could only sink a putt I might get a score. And that's what happened after the 13-footer on the seventh hole."

After his round, Player said: "I got my birdie at the 16th with a drive, a three wood and two putts. But I three-putted the third and 15th. Also I missed a putt of about three feet at the 12th and 5½ feet at the ninth.

"I don't want to seem greedy—but I am greedy. And I don't think there's anything wrong in that. I want to win this one. That why I'm here. And I played some good golf in excellent conditions. The rain last night helped a lot and with the sun today it was like playing in American conditions."

Belvedere Tennis Tourney Swings Into Final Round

Several Belvedere Tennis Club players had the "home court" advantage today as they played in the finals of the club's fifth annual junior tennis tournament.

Steve McDonald of Tiburon was one of the locals playing on familiar ground as he went up against top-seeded Dave McBride of Berkeley in Boys 16 singles. McDonald and McBride played together in the Boys 16 doubles finals after whipping Barry Lang and Brad Thomas of Sacramento, 6-0, 6-1.

Bob Knight of Tiburon, another Belvedere club player, upset second-seeded Chris Courture of Modesto, 6-2, 6-2, to go into the Boys 16 singles finals against first seed Chip Fisher.

Knight also made the Boys 14 doubles finals, playing with Ren Kern of Los Altos. They downed Jim Kuenzli and Jeff Radin of Burlingame, 6-2, 6-2, in the semis.

Bee Kilgore of Tiburon and the Belvedere club beat another Belvedere player, Pat Gomez, 6-0, 6-1, to enter the Girls 12 finals, while Pam Winslow of Tiburon made the finals of the Girls novice division.

McDonald and Knight showed marked improvement yesterday after viewing video tapes of their previous matches. McDonald made the Boys 16 finals by upsetting second-seeded Bruce Kellock of Richmond, 7-5, 7-5.

Jake Wosser Might Lose Yacht Title

Willian Widnall of Boston all but iced the 1967 International One Design Class sailing championship at Hankoe, Norway, yesterday, according to the Associated Press, as defending champion Jake Wosser of Tiburon faded far back in the standings.

Wosser, member of the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere, finished second to Widnall in the first race yesterday and seventh to Calle Neergaard of Norway in the second. Neergaard is running second to Widnall in the overall standings. The last race in the six-race series was slated for today.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

PORTLAND, Maine—Larry Carney, 170, Lowell, Mass., outpointed Pete Ricciteli, 169, Portland, 12; Carney won New England light heavyweight title.

ANAHEIM—Dwight Hawkins, 126½, Los Angeles, outpointed Manny Berrios, 126, Mexico, 10.

'How To Succeed In Baseball Without Hitting'

Baseball should be back to normal tonight at Candlestick Park when Juan Marichal (12-7) pitches for the San Francisco Giants against the Houston Astros.

They have played some ridiculous games at Candlestick Park over the last half dozen years but few to compare with the one the Giants and Astros contrived there yesterday.

Once a pitcher—Stu Miller—was blown off the mound in an All-Star game. On another occasion they had to put off the World Series for four days because of a flood. Hundreds of other games at the stadium, hard on San Francisco Bay, have been decided by the wind, either by helping a routine fly over the fence or by stopping a potential homer short where it could be caught.

Yesterday the wind blew and the dust flew but it had nothing to do with the outcome of a 5-4 Giants victory over the Astros. Sure, it caused Willie Mays to strike out once, because just as the ball reached the plate for the final strike Mays' head was engulfed in a swirl of dust and he lost track of the ball.

On another play, Houston third baseman Bob Aspromonte had trouble finding a topped ball because just as he bent to pick it up, it got lost in some hot dog wrappers, caught by the wind and sent swirling onto the field.

The Astros were chugging along behind a 4-3 lead into the ninth inning. Willie McCovey caught a "just perfect" pitch by Carroll Sembera and sent it some 400 feet over the fence to tie the score and force the game into extra innings.

The Astros, who had 12 hits—all singles—and five walks and managed to convert them into just four runs, went out quietly in the top of the 10th and Tom Haller introduced the bottom half of the inning for the Giants with a single.

Hal Lanier bunted, right in front of the plate, and Haller was nailed at second. However Lanier, who would have been an easy second out on the play, was awarded first because Astros first baseman Chuck Harrison was called for obstruction by umpire Doug Harvey.

"I had my head down and was surprised when I ran into him," said Lanier. "He was standing right in the base line."

Harrison, who drove in two runs for the Astros, including the fourth one, saw it differently.

"He (Lanier) ran out of the base path and should have been called out," said Harrison. "It wasn't a good call."

That play set the stage for as weird a windup as you could have imagined after Jay Alou walked to put runners on first and second.

Dick Groat hit a shot right back to the box and Sembera Houston's fifth pitcher, scooped it up and fired to second where shortstop Sonny Jackson dropped the ball. While he groped for it in the dust, Lanier, who had reached third by then, kept right on going and made it home standing up as the harried Jackson threw the ball away for his second error on the same play. It should have been an inning ending double play.

The official scorer originally called an error on Sembera for a low throw, but after checking the players involved, changed his mind and gave Jackson two errors.

"I have nothing to say about anything," Jackson said of the play. "It was one of those things."

Lost in the shuffle of the three hour and 40 minute game were two long home runs by Jim Hart, his fifth and sixth in the last four games. They were Nos. 15 and 16 on the year for Jim and with a sacrifice fly he was the whole Giant attack

Pitching Rhythm Very Difficult To Define

Indeed, it is. Any good baseball man immediately recognizes it but knows it is difficult to describe in a convenient capsule of words.

Perhaps the difficulty with any definition is due to the fact that pitching rhythm is a variable thing. Despite a herky-jerky delivery, one pitcher might have it just as much as a high-kicking pitcher with a smooth delivery.

NOW, IF Warren Spahn had been asked the same question Reese put to Koufax, that other great southpaw would have answered "I don't call it rhythm, I call it coordination."

During the brief time he spent with the Giants before his retirement as an active pitcher, Spahn gave baseball writers traveling with the team lots of readable copy. All you had to do was listen and you had a column.

"YOU ALWAYS had rocking chair rhythm whenever you pitched," one of the writers complimented Spahn.

"I called it coordination," said Spahn.

"That," said the writer, "fits in nicely with Carl Hubbell's definition of pitching. Hubbell boils good pitching down to two essentials — control and concentration."

"If it's C's you're looking fourth one — consistency. Mo rhythm but with their C's they definition the basecs of great pitching — control, concentration, coordination and sonsistency..

Neither Hubbel nor Spahn ever particularly liked the word rhythm but with their Cs they put together in a terse four-word definition the basics of great pitching — control, concentration, coordination and consistency.

IT'S TOO bad Koufax never had any talk sessions with Hubbell and Spahn about pitching rhythm prior to that seemingly simple little question Reese put to him.

If he had, Koufax could have stolen the show with a 4-C capsule answer.

Clay To Begin Another Battle In The Courts

OAKLAND (AP) — An attorney for Cassius Clay said yesterday he is exploring the possibility of overturning the State Athletic Commission's refusal to grant Clay a license to fight in California.

John Crvarich, an Oakland attorney, said one possible action would be to petition the Alameda County Superior Court to review the commission's proceedings and decision.

Clay asserted the commissioners were influenced by "higher-ups in government" when they voted 4-0 Wednesday against issuing him a license. They said a fighter convicted of a felony is barred from boxing in this state.

The dethroned-by the World Boxing Association — champion is under five years sentence as a draft evader. He appealed that.

Clay said he wanted to fight in California to raise funds to buy food stamps for "poor, undernourished people — both black and white — in Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia." He would take only $100 himself.

Cubs End Tailspin After Losing Seven Straight

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Cubs are back on their feet in the National League race, but Leo Durocher isn't leaping to any conclusions. Yet.

"If this club wins the pennant I'm going to jump off the Wrigley Building into the canal in Chicago," Durocher exclaimed after his Cubs pulled out of a seven-game tailspin by edging the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 last night.

Paul Popovich, a light-hitting utility infielder, knocked in the deciding run with a seventh inning single and Chuck Hartenstein, a rookie relief specialist, rescued winning pitcher Rich Nye from an eighth inning jam as Chicago trimmed a full game off St. Louis' league lead.

The victory, first for the Cubs since July 3, lifted them within three games of the Cardinals, who were beaten by Pittsburgh 8-5. Cincinnati divided a twi-night doubleheader with New York, trimming the Mets 6-3 after bowing 7-3, and San Francisco overcame Houston 5-4 in 10 innings. Philadelphia was rained out at Atlanta.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Washington swept an American League twi-nighter from Detroit 8-3 and 6-1, while Cleveland topped New York 4-3 in 15 innings, the Chicago White Sox nipped California 1-0, Minnesota shaded Kansas City 3-2 and Baltimore drubbed Boston 10-0 after losing the day-night opener 4-2.

Popovich, filling in at shortstop while Don Kessinger fulfills a two-week Army reserve commitment, raised his batting average to .213 with two hits in four trips, including an infield single that sent the Cubs in front 2-0 in the seventh.

Hartenstein replaced Nye in the eighth after the Dodgers closed the gap on Willie Davis' run-scoring single. The 25-year-old reliever stranded two runners by getting Lou Johnson to tap into an inning-ending force play, then set the Dodgers down in the ninth, preserving Nye's eighth victory.

FOURTH L.A. LOSS

The cubs, who shared first place with St. Louis when their slide started with a doubleheader loss at Atlanta July 4, dropped another game to the Braves and lost four straight at Houston before righting themselves against the punchless Dodgers, who have lost four in a row.

But, if the pennant fever was burning anew in the Chicago clubhouse, Durocher wasn't feeling the heat. "I'm just playing it day-by-day," he said. "I won't predict where we'll finish."

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale walked nine batters in 5 2-3 innings but picked up his 10th victory against three losses as the Pirates felled the league leaders with a four-run burst in the eighth.

Jerry May's fourth hit — a run-producing single — capped the deciding rally. Bill Mazeroski, who homered, Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon drove in two runs apiece for the Pirates.

DAVIS SLUGS

Two bases-empty homers by Tommy Davis and a three-run clout by Larry Stahl carried the Mets past the Reds in their opener at Cincinnati. Winner Bob Hendley needed relief help in the seventh after holding the Reds to one hit through six innings.

The Chicago Cubs are back on their feet in the National League race, but Leo Durocher isn't leaping to any conclusions. Yet.

"If this club wins the pennant I'm going to jump off the Wrigley Building into the canal in Chicago," Durocher exclaimed after his Cubs pulled out of a seven-game tailspin by edging the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 last night.

Paul Popovich, a light-hitting utility infielder, knocked in the deciding run with a seventh inning single and Chuck Hartenstein, a rookie relief specialist, rescued winning pitcher Rich Nye from an eighth inning jam as Chicago trimmed a full game off St. Louis' league lead.

The victory, first for the Cubs since July 3, lifted them within three games of the Cardinals, who were beaten by Pittsburgh 8-5. Cincinnati divided a twi-night doubleheader with New York, trimming the Mets 6-3 after bowing 7-3, and San Francisco overcame Houston 5-4 in 10 innings. Philadelphia was rained out at Atlanta.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Washington swept an American League twi-nighter from Detroit 8-3 and 6-1, while Cleveland topped New York 4-3 in 15 innings, the Chicago White Sox nipped California 1-0, Minnesota shaded Kansas City 3-2 and Baltimore drubbed Boston 10-0 after losing the day-night opener 4-2.

Popovich, filling in at shortstop while Don Kessinger fulfills a two-week Army reserve commitment, raised his batting average to .213 with two hits in four trips, including an infield single that sent the Cubs in front 2-0 in the seventh.

Hartenstein replaced Nye in the eighth after the Dodgers closed the gap on Willie Davis' run-scoring single. The 25-year-old reliever stranded two runners by getting Lou Johnson to tap into an inning-ending force play, then set the Dodgers down in the ninth, preserving Nye's eighth victory.

FOURTH L.A. LOSS

The cubs, who shared first place with St. Louis when their slide started with a doubleheader loss at Atlanta July 4, dropped another game to the Braves and lost four straight at Houston before righting themselves against the punchless Dodgers, who have lost four in a row.

But, if the pennant fever was burning anew in the Chicago clubhouse, Durocher wasn't feeling the heat. "I'm just playing it day-by-day," he said. "I won't predict where we'll finish."

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale walked nine batters in 5 2-3 innings but picked up his 10th victory against three losses as the Pirates felled the league leaders with a four-run burst in the eighth.

Jerry May's fourth hit — a run-producing single — capped the deciding rally. Bill Mazeroski, who homered, Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon drove in two runs apiece for the Pirates.

DAVIS SLUGS

Two bases-empty homers by Tommy Davis and a three-run clout by Larry Stahl carried the Mets past the Reds in their opener at Cincinnati. Winner Bob Hendley needed relief help in the seventh after holding the Reds to one hit through six innings.

Mrs. McGee Wins At Meadow Club

Mrs. John McGee won the women's flag tournament at Fairfax Meadow Club yesterday by starting at the 10th tee, going all the way around and finishing at the 10th hole. She thus toured 19 holes.

Mrs. E. H. Hubbell and Mrs. Richard Boyd both finished on their 19th fairway, while Mesdames Hal Cooley, Milt Gabbs and H. C. Billings each completed 18.

Mrs. Thomas Major had the low gross at Marin County Club in Novato, an 85, while Mrs. John McVey took Class A honors with 87-15—72.

Another Emergency Call By Unlucky Yacht

Stormvogel reported a position 620 miles from Honolulu with Serena some 20 miles astern. John D. Kilroy's sloop Kialoa II was sailing 30 miles behind Serena under winds of 20 miles from the northeast.

Heavier winds should favor the big double-stickers Stormvogel and Serena; they are able to bend on more sails than the sloops.

Reports of the remainder of the fleet were held up until late yesterday after a report reached race headquarters of an emergency.

A crewman aboard the Blue Bell, Kirk Thomas, 27, of Los Angeles, was injured when he was struck by a backstay lever. Thomas has a serious head injury and a possible concussion.

A Navy submarine tender was steaming toward the Blue Bell, last reported 1,200 miles northeast of Honolulu, and was expected to reach it in 16 hours to pick up Thomas.

Another Emergency Call By Unlucky Yacht

Stormvogel reported a position 620 miles from Honolulu with Serena some 20 miles astern. John D. Kilroy's sloop Kialoa II was sailing 30 miles behind Serena under winds of 20 miles from the northeast.

Heavier winds should favor the big double-stickers Stormvogel and Serena; they are able to bend on more sails than the sloops.

Reports of the remainder of the fleet were held up until late yesterday after a report reached race headquarters of an emergency.

A crewman aboard the Blue Bell, Kirk Thomas, 27, of Los Angeles, was injured when he was struck by a backstay lever. Thomas has a serious head injury and a possible concussion.

A Navy submarine tender was steaming toward the Blue Bell, last reported 1,200 miles northeast of Honolulu, and was expected to reach it in 16 hours to pick up Thomas.

Search For Salmon Continues; Bodega Head Boiling With Kings

STEVENS

The search for the truant schools of salmon continues with no success north or south of the Golden Gate. As one skipper put it, "There just aren't any fish around in the usual locales, Ralph." The skipper's voice was gloomy.

Then comes another voice and it's cheerful. Listen to Ralph Santos, a local resident who does 90 per cent of his fishing out of Bodega Bay: "There is a big run of salmon on. The commercial boats have been cleaning up. The waters off Bodega Head seem to be boiling with salmon—kings, but not running too heavy, maybe an average of 15 to 20 pounds. No shrimp around but lots of small smelts, little ones, but very plentiful. Lots of herring, too. I never saw so many salmon."

SANTOS HAS always been a reliable reporter, so his report is considered as correct. Unfortunately, the area off Bodega Head is off limits to most of the party-boat operators (I believe they are licensed only as far as Point Reyes). But that doesn't apply to skiffs with outboard motors. Plenty of launching space, and Santos says it is only about 15-minute run from the bay to the salmon pack.

As on other occasions, Santos and othe members of the Cherry-wood Sports Club objects to the scuba divers spearing salmon, and other fish such as halibut. "They (the scuba divers) are operating right in our midst. Can't something be done to stop it?" Santos also mentioned that party boats — like the Kathy M operate from Bodega.

ALL NIMRODS planning to slay a deer are reminded that the early season opens on Saturday, Aug. 5; and that if any hunters are planning to take a kid along, said youngster, if under 18, must have been issued a license last year or has completed a hunter safety training course. Also, parents take note that deer tags will not be issued to anyone under the age of 12.

A LATE release from the Department of Fish and Game reads: "Persons intending to participate in the statewide drawing for a special permit to hunt antelope this year have only until July 25 to get their applications to the DFG headquarters in Sacramento. Applications will be available after July 15 at license agents and DFG offices."

SEVEN TROUT waters in five counties will be stocked with catchable size trout this week. They are — by counties: Mendocino — East Branch of the Russian River; Lake — Anderson Creek, Upper Blue Lake; San Francisco — Lake Merced; Monterey — Big Sur River. Santa Cruz — San Lorenzo River, Corralitos reek.

THE LATE evening trolling in the Upper San Pablo Bay has picked up, and chances look almost good of getting a limit or near limit over the coming weekend. Late evening trolling off San Bruno Shoals is still productive, and the supply of sturgeon continues good from the Brothers Islands through the Carquinez Strait and the lower Suisun Bay. The experts are still catching shad in the Yuba River, on flies, but the runs will soon begin tapering off. Better get 'em while the getting is good.

Marin Keg Star Leads Cal Tourney

Dick Treadway of Larkspur, secretary of the Marin County Bowling Association, has taken over the lead in the scratch all-events division of the 22nd annual California State Men's Championships in Modesto.

The 38-year-old Treadway rolled a 607 three-game series in team play, a 645 in doubles and a big 665 in singles. His total of 1,917 pins took the lead away from E. G. Mock of Lynwood who was leading with 1,912.

At the same tournament, Frank Therriault of San Rafael wowed the keglers with a 701 series in doubles play, although the handicap score of Frank and partner Phil Dorr, 1,345, was not good enough to get into the top 10 of the doubles event.

College Student Has Publinx Lead

The 20-year-old Kettering, Ohio, business administration major, making his first appearance in a Publinx tourney, hit a one-under-par 69 in the first round Wednesday, then duplicated the feat yesterday for a 138.

Most of the 150 players entered in the 42nd annual event at Seattle's heavily-wooded Jefferson Park Municipal golf course were eliminated when the field was trimmed to the lowest 60, plus ties, after the first 36 holes. That kept 67 in the running for the final 36 holes to be played today and tomorrow.

Ray Swedo, 29, a salesman from Pico Rivera, Calif., who shot a 73 Wednesday, came up with a 69 on the 6,329-yard par 36-34—70 layout yesterday and stood alone in second at 142.

Three were tied for third at 143. They were Ronald Stokley, Park Ridge, Ill., Jim Everham, Seattle, and Gary Panks, Scottsdale, Ariz.

Zimmerman took the lead midway in the second round after Hubert Farmer, Toledo, Ohio, was disqualified and Art Fujita, Honolulu, Hawaii, failed to repeat his first-round mastery of the tricky course. Farmer and Fujita shared the lead at 68 going into the second round.

Farmer, a 42-year-old dye maker in his 12th Publinx tourney, was told of his disqualification after playing five holes yesterday. U.S. Golf Association officials said it was because he "twice touched his ball on the putting green," during the first round. They said he did not enter the required penalty scores on his card and thus signed an incorrect scorecard.

Fujita had nothing but trouble yesterday in the tall evergreen trees that line the narrow fairways. Time and again he "chopped trees like I was a regular woodsman" and wound up with eight bogeys — two of them doubles — to settle for a 79 and a 36-hole total of 147.

Dave Ojala, Two Harbors, Minn., runnerup last year to Monty Kaser, Wichita, Kan., failed to survive the cutoff with a 78-74—152. Kaser, now a pro, was not eligible for the event this year.

Among those surviving the cutoff was the youngest player in the tournament, 14-year-old Michael San Filippo, Miami, Fla., with a 72-76—148.

College Student Has Publinx Lead

The 20-year-old Kettering, Ohio, business administration major, making his first appearance in a Publinx tourney, hit a one-under-par 69 in the first round Wednesday, then duplicated the feat yesterday for a 138.

Most of the 150 players entered in the 42nd annual event at Seattle's heavily-wooded Jefferson Park Municipal golf course were eliminated when the field was trimmed to the lowest 60, plus ties, after the first 36 holes. That kept 67 in the running for the final 36 holes to be played today and tomorrow.

Ray Swedo, 29, a salesman from Pico Rivera, Calif., who shot a 73 Wednesday, came up with a 69 on the 6,329-yard par 36-34—70 layout yesterday and stood alone in second at 142.

Three were tied for third at 143. They were Ronald Stokley, Park Ridge, Ill., Jim Everham, Seattle, and Gary Panks, Scottsdale, Ariz.

Zimmerman took the lead midway in the second round after Hubert Farmer, Toledo, Ohio, was disqualified and Art Fujita, Honolulu, Hawaii, failed to repeat his first-round mastery of the tricky course. Farmer and Fujita shared the lead at 68 going into the second round.

Farmer, a 42-year-old dye maker in his 12th Publinx tourney, was told of his disqualification after playing five holes yesterday. U.S. Golf Association officials said it was because he "twice touched his ball on the putting green," during the first round. They said he did not enter the required penalty scores on his card and thus signed an incorrect scorecard.

Fujita had nothing but trouble yesterday in the tall evergreen trees that line the narrow fairways. Time and again he "chopped trees like I was a regular woodsman" and wound up with eight bogeys — two of them doubles — to settle for a 79 and a 36-hole total of 147.

Dave Ojala, Two Harbors, Minn., runnerup last year to Monty Kaser, Wichita, Kan., failed to survive the cutoff with a 78-74—152. Kaser, now a pro, was not eligible for the event this year.

Among those surviving the cutoff was the youngest player in the tournament, 14-year-old Michael San Filippo, Miami, Fla., with a 72-76—148.

"IF THIS IS SECOND CHILDHOOD I'M FOR IT!"

Thanks to my teen-age son Steve, I am now in the dreamy world of fine automobiles. (No more Real Estate & Construction — too slow. I am now with DeLong Chevrolet.) Through the years "Kids" of all ages have built exotic street rods and race cars.

Now, the manufacturers, after stealing "kids" ideas, are incorporating all these "goodies" in their new models. What car to buy? Ask the true kids like Steve and the "second childhood kids like me." The answer is Chevrolet. Beautiful design, fast, comfortable, sleek, sporty performance and dependability. No wonder Chevrolet is No. 1. Want a genuine thrill? Come in and I'll give you a ride in the exciting, breathtaking Camaro.

Shop around, then come in and, as Clarence DeLong says: "We'll beat any deal."
